The Fable of MIDAS.

Written in the Year 1712.

MIDAS, we are in Story told,
 Turn'd ev'ry Thing he touch'd to Gold :
 He chip'd his Bread ; the Pieces round
 Glitter'd, like Spangles on the Ground :
 A Codling e'er it went his Lip in,
 Wou'd strait become a Golden Pippin :
 He call'd for Drink ; you saw him sup
Potable Gold in Golden Cup :
 His empty Paunch that he might fill,
 He suck'd his Vittels thro' a Quill :
 Untouch'd it pass'd between his Grinders,
 Or't had been happy for Gold-finders :

VOL. VIII,

B

He

He cock'd his Hat, you would have said
Mambrino's Helm adorn'd his Head :
 Whene'er he chanc'd his Hands to lay
 On Magazines of Corn or Hay,
Gold ready coin'd appear'd, instead
 Of poultry Provender and Bread ;
 Hence by wise Farmers we are told,
Old Hay is equal to old Gold ;
 And hence a Critick deep maintains,
 We learnt to weigh our Gold by Grains.

This Fool had got a lucky Hit ;
 And People fancy'd he had Wit :
 Two Gods their Skill in Musick try'd,
 And both chose Midas to decide ;
 He against Phœbus' Harp decreed,
 And gave it for Pan's Oaten Reed !
 The God of Wit, to shew his Grudge,
 Clapt Asses' Ears upon the Judge ;
 A goodly Pair erect and wide,
 Which he could neither gild nor hide.

And now the Virtue of his Hands,
 Was lost among Pætolus' Sands,
 Against whose Torrent while he swims,
 The Golden Scurf peels off his Limbs :
 Fame spreads the News, and People travel
 From far to gather golden Gravel,
Midas, expos'd to all their Jeers,
 Had lost his Art, and kept his Ears,

This Tale inclines the gentle Reader
 To think upon a certain Leader ;

To

To whom from Midas down, descends
 That Virue in the Fingers Ends.
 What else by Perquisites are meant,
 By Pensions, Bribes, and Three per Cent,
 By Places and Commissions sold ;
 And turning Dung itself to Gold ?
 By starving in the midst of Store,
 As t'other Midas did before ?

None e'er did modern Midas chuse
 Subject or Patron of his Muse,
 But found him thus their Merit scan,
 That Phæbus must give place to Pan :
 He values not the Poet's Praise,
 Nor will exchange his Plumbs for Bays :
 To Pan alone, rich Misers call,
 And there's the Jest, for Pan is ALL.
 Here English Wits will be to seek,
 Howe'er, 'tis all one in the Greek.

Besides, it plainly now appears,
 Our Midas too has Asses' Ears ;
 Where ev'ry Fool his Mouth applies,
 And whispers in a thousand Lies ;
 Such gross Delusions could not pass,
 Thro' any Ears but of an Ass.

But Gold defiles with frequent Touch ;
 There's nothing souls the Hands so much :
 And Scholars gave it for the Cause,
 Of British Midas' dirty Paws ;
 Which while the Senate strove to scour,
 They wash'd away the Chymick Power.

While he his utmost Strength apply'd,
 To swim against this pop'lar Tide,
 The golden Spoils flew off apace ;
 Here fell a Pension, there a Place :
 The Torrent, merciless, imbibes
Commissions, Perquisites, and Bribes ;
 By their own Weight sunk to the Bottom ;
Much Good may't do 'em, that have caught 'em.
 And Midas now neglected stands,
 With Asses' Ears, and dirty Hands.

The Reverend Dr. SH—N to
J. S. D. D. D. S. P. D.

Written in the Year 1712.

DEAR Dean, since in Cruxes and Puns
 you and I deal,
 Pray why is a Woman a Sieve and a Riddle ?
 'Tis a Thought that came into my Noddle this Morning,
 In Bed as I lay, Sir, a tossing and turning,
 You'll find, if you read but a few of your Histories,
 All Women, as Eve, all Women are Mysteries.
 To find out this Riddle, I know you'll be eager,
 And make every one of the Sex a Bel-phagor.
 But

But that will not do, for I mean to come-mend
'em

I swear, without Jest, I an Honour intend 'em.
In a Sieve, Sir, their antient Extraction I quite tell,

In a Riddle I give you their Power and their Title.

This I told you before, do you know what I mean, Sir ?

* Not I, by my Troth, Sir.---Then read it again,
Sir.

The Reason I send you these Lines of Rhimes double,

Is purely through Pity to save you the Trouble
Of thinking two Hours for a Rhime as you did last ;

When your Pegasus canter'd in triple, and rid fast.

As for my little Nag, which I keep at Par- nassus

With Phæbus's Leave to run with his Asses,
He goes slow and sure, and he never is jaded,
While your fiery Steed is whipp'd, spurr'd, bastinaded.

* The Dean's Answer.

D—n S——'s Answer to the Reverend Dr. SH——N.

S I R,

IN reading your Letter alone in my Hackney,
Your damnable Riddle, my poor Brains did rack nigh.

And when with much Labour the Matter I crackt,

I found you mistaken in Matter of Fact.

A Woman's no Sieve (for with that you begin)
Because she let's out more than e'er she takes in.

And that she's a Riddle, can never be right,

For a Riddle is dark, but a Woman is light.

But grant her a Sieve, I can say something archer,

Pray what is a Man? he's a fine Linen Searcher.

Now tell me a Thing that wants Interpretation,

What Name for a * Maid, was the first Man's Damnation?

If your Worship will please to explain me this Rebus,

I swear from henceforward you shall be my Phœbus.

From my Hackney-Coach, Sept. 15, 1712. past 12 at Noon.

The

The FAGGOT.

Written in the Year 1713, when the Queen's Ministers were quarrelling among themselves ||.

Observe the dying Father speak :
Try, Lads, can you this Bundle break ;
Then bids the youngest of the Six,
Take up a well-bound Heap of Sticks,
They thought it was an old Man's Maggot ;
And strove by Turns to break the Faggot :
In vain : The complicated Wands
Were much too strong for all their Hands,
See, said the Sire, how soon 'tis done :
Then took and broke them one by one. |
So strong you'll be in Friendship ty'd ;
So quickly broke, if you divide.
Keep close then Boys, and never quarrel,
Here ends the Fable and the Moral.

This Tale may be apply'd in few Words
To Treasurers, Comptrollers, Stewards,
And others, who in solemn Sort
Appear with slender Wands at Court :

|| See more of the Author's Endeavours to procure a Reconcilement among them, in Mr. Pope's Prose Works, Vol. II. Letter II, V. &c.

Not

8 Poems on several Occasions.

Not firmly join'd to keep their Ground,
But lashing one another round :
While wise Men think they ought to fight
With Quarter-slaves instead of White :
Or Constable with Staff of Peace,
Should come and make the Clatt'ring cease ;
Which now disturbs the Queen and Court,
And gives the Whigs and Rabble Sport.

In History we never found,
The Consuls Fasces were unbound ;
Those Romans were too wise to think on't,
Except to lash some grand Delinquent.
How would they blush to hear it said,
The Prætor broke the Consul's Head ;
Or, Consul in his Purple Gown,
Came up, and knock'd the Prætor down ?

Come, Courtiers : Every Man his Stick :
Lord-Treasurer, for once be quick ;
And, that they may the closer cling,
Take your blue Ribbon for a String.
Come, trimming Harcourt, bring your Mace ;
And squeeze it in, or quit your Place :
Dispatch ; or else that R--- Northey *
Will undertake to do it for thee :
And, be assur'd, the Court will find him
Prepar'd to leap o'er Sticks, or bind 'em.

To make the Bundle strong and safe,
Great Ormond lend thy Gen'ral's Staff :

* Sir Edw. N. Attor. Gen. brought in by Lord H. yet very desirous of the Great Seal.

And,

And, if the Crozier could be cramm'd in,
A Fig for Lechmere, King, and Hambden.
You'll then defy the strongest Whig,
With both his Hands to bend a Twig.
Though with united Strength they all pull,
From Somers down to Craiggs and W——

 Nay, 'tis affirm'd, he sometimes dealt in Rhime;
 Humour, and Mirth, had Place in all he writ;
 He reconcil'd Divinity and Wit:
 He mov'd and bow'd and talk'd with too much
 Grace;
 Nor shew'd the Parson in his Gait or Face:
 Despis'd luxurious Wines, and costly Meat:
 Yet still was at the Tables of the Great;

 Where Town and Country Vicars flock in Tribes,
 Secur'd by Numbers from the Lay-mens Gibes;
 And deal in Vices of the graver Sort,
 Tobacco, Censure, Coffee, Pride, and Port.

But, after sage Monitions from his Friends,
 His Talents to employ for nobler Ends;
 To better Judgments willing to submit,
 He turns to Politicks his dang'rous Wit.

And now the publick Int'rest to support,
 By Harley S---- invited, comes to Court.
 In Favour grows with Ministers of State;
 Admitted private, when Superiors wait:
 And, Harley, not ashamed his Choice to own,

 At Windsor S—— no sooner can appear,
 But * St. John comes and whispers in his Ear:

 Now thro' the Realm a Proclamation * spread,
 To fix a Price on his devoted Head.
 While innocent, he scorns ignoble Flight ;
 His watchful Friends preserve him by a Sleight.

By Harley's Favour once again he shines ;
 Is now careis'd by Candidate Divines ;

TIS true,---then why should I repine,
To see my Life so fast decline ?
But, why obscurely here alone,
Where I am neither lov'd nor known ?
My State of Health none care to learn ;
My Life is here no Soul's Concern ;
And those with whom I now converse,
Without a Tear will tend my Herse.

Some

Some formal Visits, Looks, and Words,
 What mere Humanity affords,
 I meet perhaps from three or four,
 From whom I once expected more;
 Which those who tend the Sick for Pay
 Can act as decently as they:
 But no obliging tender Friend
 To help at my approaching End.
 My Life is now a Burden grown
 To others, ere it be my own.

Ye formal Weepers for the Sick,
 In your last Offices be quick:
 And spare my absent Friends the Grief
 To hear, yet give me no Relief;
 Expir'd To-day, entomb'd To-morrow,
 When known, will save a double Sorrow.

To the Earl of OXFORD, late Lord Treasurer. Sent to him when he was in the Tower, before his Trial.

HOW blest is he, who for his Country dies, Since Death pursues the Coward as he flies.

The

The Youth, in vain, would fly from Fate's Attack,
With trembling Knees, and Terror at his Back;
Though Fear should lend him Pinions like the Wind,
Yet swifter Fate will seize him from behind.

Virtue repuls'd, yet knows not to repine;
But shall with unattainted Honour shine;
Nor stoops to take the Staff, nor lays it down,
Just as the Rabble please to smile or frown.

Virtue, to crown her Fav'rites, loves to try
Some new unbeaten Passage to the Sky;
Where Jove a Seat among the Gods will give
To those who die, for meriting to live.

Next, faithful Silence hath a sure Reward;
Within our Breast be every Secret barr'd:
He who betrays his Friend, shall never be Under one Roof, or in one Ship with me.
For, who with Traytors would his Safety trust,
Lest with the Wicked, Heaven involve the Just?
And though the Villain 'scape a while, he feels Slow Vengeance, like a Blood-hound, at his Heels.

Written in the Year 1720.

RI G H T Trusty, and so forth,---We let you to know
We are very ill us'd by you Mortals below.
For first, I have often by Chymists been told,
Tho' I know nothing on't, it is I that make Gold,

C 3

Which

Which when you have got, you so carefully hide it,

That, since I was born, I hardly have spy'd it.

Then it must be allow'd, that, whenever I shine,

I forward the Grass, and I ripen the Vine ;

To me the good Fellows apply for Relief,

Without whom they could get neither Claret, nor Beef :

Yet their Wine and their Viſtuals these Curmudgeon Lubbarbs

Lock up from my Sight, in Cellars and Cupboards.

That I have an ill Eye they wickedly think,

And taint all their Meat, and sour all their Drink.

But thirdly and lastly, it must be allow'd,

I alone can inspire the poetical Crowd :

This is gratefully own'd by each Boy in the College,

Whom if I inspire, it is not to my Knowledge.

This ev'ry Pretender to Rhime will admit,

Without troubling his Head about Judgment or Wit.

These Gentlemen use me with Kindness and Freedom,

And as for their Works, when I please I may read 'em :

They lie open on purpose on Counters and Stalls,

And the Titles I view, when I shine on the Walls.

But a Comrade of yours, that Traitor Delany,

Whom I for your Sake love better than any,
And

And of my mere Motion, and special good Grace,
Intended in Time to succeed in your Place,
On Tuesday, the Tenth, seditiously came,
With a certain false Traitors, one Stella by Name,

To the Deanery House, and on the North Glass,
Where for Fear of the Cold I never can pass ;
Then and there, Vi & Armis, with a certain Utenfil,

Of Value five Shillings, in English a Pencil,
Did maliciously, falsely, and trait'rously write,
Whilst Stella afore said stood by with a Light.
My Sister has lately depos'd upon Oath,
That she stopt in her Course to look at them both :

That Stella was helping, abetting and aiding ;
And still as he writ, stood smiling and reading :
That her Eyes were as bright as myself at Noonday,

But her graceful black Locks were mingled with grey ;

And by the Description I certainly know,
'Tis the Nymph that I courted some ten Years ago ;

Whom when I with the best of my Talents
endu'd

On her Promise of yielding, she acted the Prude :

That some Verses were writ with felonious Intent,

Direct to the North, where I never went :

That

That the Letters appear'd reverse thro' the Pane,

But in Stella's bright Eyes they were plac'd right again ;

Wherein she distinctly could read ev'ry Line,

And presently guess'd the Fancy was mine.

Now you see, why his Verses so seldom are shewn ;

The Reason is plain, they're none of his own ;

And observe while you live, that no Man is shy

To discover the Goods he came honestly by.

If I light on a Thought, he'll certainly steal it,

And when he has got it, find Ways to conceal
it :

Of all the fine Things he keeps in the Dark,

'There's scarce one in ten, but what has my Mark ;

And let them be seen by the World if he dare,
I'll make it appear they are all stolen Ware.

But as for the Poem he writ on your Sash,

I think I have now got him under my Lash ;

My Sister transcrib'd it last Night to his Sorrow,

And the Publick shall see't if I live till Tomorrow.

Thro' the Zodiac around, it shall quickly be spread

In all Parts of the Globe, where your Language is read.

He knows very well, I ne'er gave a Refusal,

When he ask'd for my Aid in the Forms that are usual :

But the Secret is this ; I did lately intend

To write a few Verses on you, as my Friend :

Since Delany has dar'd, like Prometheus his Sire,
To climb to our Region, and thence to steal
Fire ;

We order a Vulture, in Shape of the Spleen,
To prey on his Liver, but not to be seen.
And we order our Subjects of ev'ry Degree,
To believe all his Verses were written by me :
And, under the Pain of our highest Displeasure,
To call nothing his but the Rhime and the Measure.

And lastly, for Stella just out of her Prime,
I'm too much reveng'd already by Time.
In return to her Scorn, I sent her Diseases,
But will now be her Friend, whenever she pleases.

And the Gifts I bestow'd her will find her a Lover,
Tho' she lives to be grey as a Badger all over.

*An ELEGY on the much lamented
Death of Mr. Demar, the famous rich Usurer, who died the Sixth of July 1720.*

Written in the Year 1720. .

KNOW all Men by these Presents, Death the Tamer
By Mortgage hath secur'd the Corps of Demar ;
Nor

Nor can four Hundred Thousand Sterling Pound
 Redeem him from his Prison under Ground.
 His Heirs might well, of all his Wealth possess,
 Bestow to bury him one Iron Chest.
Plutus the God of Wealth, will joy to know
 His faithful Steward in the Shades below.
 He walk'd the Streets, and wore a thread-bare Cloak ;
 He din'd and supp'd at Charge of other Folk ;
 And by his Looks, had he held out his Palms,
 He might be thought an Object fit for Alms ;
 So, to the Poor if he refus'd his Pelf,
 He us'd them full as kindly as himself.

Where'er he went, he never saw his Betters ;
Lords, Knights and 'Squires, were all his humble Debtors ;
 And under Hand and Seal, the Irish Nation.
 Were forc'd to own to him their Obligation.

He that could once have half a Kingdom bought,
 In half a Minute is not worth a Groat.
 His Coffers from the Coffin could not save,
 Nor all his Int'rest keep him from the Grave.
 A golden Monument would not be right,
 Because we wish the Earth upon him light.

Oh London Tavern thou hast lost a Friend,
 Tho' in thy Walls he ne'er did Farthing spend :
 He touch'd the Pence when others touch'd the Pot ;
 The Hand that sign'd the Mortgage paid the Shot.

Old as he was, no vulgar known Disease ..
 On him could ever boast a Pow'r to seize ;
 But as his Gold he weigh'd, grim Death in spight,
 Cast in his Dart, which made three Moidores light ;
 And as he saw his darling Money fail,
 Blew his last Breath to sink the lighter Scale.

He, who so long was current, 'twould be strange
 If he shou'd now be cry'd down since his Change.

The Sexton shall green Sods on thee bestow ;
 Alas, the Sexton is thy Banker now.
 A dismal Banker must that Banker be,
 Who gives no Bills but of Mortality.

THE EPITAPH.

BENEATH this verdant Hillock lies
 Demar the Wealthy, and the Wife,
 His Heirs, that he might safely rest,
 Have put his Carcase in a Chest ;
 The very Chest in which they say,
 His other Self, his Money lay.
 And if his Heirs continue kind
 To that dear Self he left behind,
 I dare believe, that Four in Five
 Will think his better Self alive.

The Run upon the BANKERS.

Written in the Year 1720.

I.

THE bold Encroachers on the Deep,
Gain by Degrees huge Tracts of Land,
Till Neptune with one gen'ral Sweep
Turns all again to barren Strand.

II.

The Multitude's capricious Pranks
Are said to represent the Seas ;
Breaking the Bankers and the Banks,
Resume their own whene'er they please.

III.

Money, the Life-blood of the Nation,
Corrupts and stagnates in the Veins,
Unless a proper Circulation
Its Motion and its Heat maintains.

IV.

Because 'tis Lordly not to pay,
Quakers and Aldermen, in State,
Like Peers, have Levees ev'ry Day
Of Duns attending at their Gate.

V.

We want our Money on the Nail ;
The Banker's ruin'd if he pays :
They seem to act an ancient Tale ;
The Birds are met to strip the Jays.

VI.

Riches, the wisest Monarch sings,
 Make Pinions for themselves to fly :
They fly like Bats, on Parchment Wings,
 And Geese their Silver Plumes supply.

 Bills turn the Lenders into Debtors :
The Wish of Nero now is theirs,
 That they had never known their Letters.

VIII.

Conceive the Works of Midnight Hags,
 Tormenting Fools behind their Backs :
Thus Bankers o'er their Bills and Bags
 Sit squeezing Images of Wax.

IX.

Conceive the whole Enchantment broke :
 The Witches left in open Air,
With Power no more than other Folk,
 Expos'd with all their Magick Ware.

X.

So pow'rful are a Banker's Bills,
 Where Creditors demand their Due ;
They break up Counters, Doors and Tills,
 And leave the empty Chests in View.

XI. Thus

XI.

Thus when an Earthquake lets in Light
Upon the God of Gold and Hell,
Unable to endure the Sight,
He hides within his darkest Cell.

XII.

As when a Conjurer takes a Lease
From Satan for a Term of Years,
The Tenant's in a dismal Case
Whene'er the bloody Bond appears.

XIII.

A baited Banker thus desponds,
From his own Hand foresees his Fall;
They have his Soul who have his Bonds;
'Tis like the Writing on the Wall.

XIV.

How will the Caitiff Wretch be scar'd,
When first he finds himself awake
At the last Trumpet, unprepar'd,
And all his Grand Account to make?

XV.

For in that universal Call
Few Bankers will to Heav'n be Mounters;
They'll cry, Ye Shops, upon us fall,
Conceal and cover us, ye Counters;

XVI.

When other Hands the Scales shall hold,
 And they in Men and Angels Sight,
 Produc'd with all their Bills and Gold,
Weigh'd in the Ballance, and found light.

*The Description of an Irish Feast, translated almost literally out of

Translated in the Year 1720.

O R O U R K's noble Fare
 Will ne'er be forgot,
 By those who were there,
 Or those who were not.
 His Revels to keep,
 We sup and we dine
 On seven Score Sheep,
 Fat Bullocks and Swine.
Uisquebaugh to our Feast
 In Pails was brought up,
 An Hundred at least;
 And a * Madder our Cup.

* Wooden Vessel.

O there

O there is the Sport !
 We rise with the Light,
 In disorderly Sort,
 From snoring all Night.
 O how was I trick'd !
 My Pipe it was broke,
 My Pocket was pick'd,
 I lost my new Cloak.
 I'm rifled, quoth Nell,
 Of Mantle and † Kercher :
 Why then fare them well,
 The De'el take the Searcher.
 Come, Harper, strike up,
 But, first, by your Favour,
 Boy, give us a Cup :
 Ah ! this has some Savour.
 O Rourk's jolly Boys
 Ne'er dreamt of the Matter,
 Till rous'd by the Noise,
 And musical Clatter,
 They bounce from their Nest,
 No longer will tarry,
 They rise ready drest,
 Without one Ave Mary.
 They dance in a Round,
 Cutting Capers and Ramping ;
 A Mercy the Ground
 Did not burst with their stamping.
 The Floor is all wet
 With Leaps and with Jumps,
 While the Water and Sweat,
 Splish splash in their Pumps.

Bless you late and early,
Laughlin O Enagin,
 By my Hand, you dance rarely,
 * Margery Grinagin.
 Bring Straw for our Bed,
 Shake it down to the Feet,
 Then over us spread
 The winnowing Sheet.
 To show I don't flinch,
 Fill the Bowl up again,
 Then give us a Pinch
 Of your Sneezing, † a Yeau.
 Good Lord, what a Sight,
 After all their good Cheer,
 For People to fight
 In the midst of their Beer?
 They rise from their Feast,
 And hot are their Brains,
 A Cubit at least
 The Length of their || Skeans.
 What Stabs and what Cuts,
 What clatt'ring of Sticks;
 What Strokes on the Guts,
 What Basting and Kicks!
 With Cudgels of Oak,
 Well harden'd in Flame,
 An Hundred Heads broke,
 An Hundred struck lame.

A French

A French Gentleman dining with some Company on a Fast-day, called for some Bacon and Eggs. The rest were very angry, and reproved him for so heinous a Sin: Whereupon he wrote the following Lines, extempore, which are here translated.

PEUT on croire avec bon sens
 Qu'un lardon le mit en colere,
 Ou, que manger un barang,
 C'est un secret pour luy plaire ?
 En sa gloire enveloppé
 Songe t'il bien de nos soupé ?

In ENGLISH.

WH O can believe with common Sense,
 A Bacon-slice gives God Offence,
 Or, how a Herring hath a Charm
 Almighty Vengeance to disarm ?
 Wrapt up in Majesty divine,
 Does he regard on what we dine ?

The

The Author having wrote a Treatise, advising the People of Ireland to wear their own Manufactures; a Prosecution was set on Foot against Waters the Printer of it, which was carried on with so much Violence, that one Whitshed, then Chief Justice, thought proper, in a Manner the most extraordinary, to keep the Grand Jury above twelve Hours, and to send them eleven Times out of Court, until he had wearied them into a special Verdict.

An Excellent new SONG on a seditious Pamphlet.

To the Tune of Packington's Pound.

Written in the Year 1720.

B Rocado's and Damasks, and Tabbies, and Gawses,
Are by Robert Ballentine lately brought over,
With Forty Things more: now hear what the Law says,
Whoe'er will not wear them, is not the King's Lover.
Tho' a Printer and Dean
Seditiously mean
Our true Irish Hearts from old England to wean;

We'll

We'll buy English Silks for our Wives and our Daughters,
 In Spite of his Deanship and Journeyman
Waters.

II.

In England the Dead in Woollen are clad,
 The Dean and his Printer then let us cry
 Fye on:
 To be cloath'd like a Carcase would make a
 Teague mad,
 Since a living Dog better is than a dead
 Lyon.
 Our Wives they grow fullen
 At wearing of Woollen,
 And all we poor Shopkeepers must our Horns pull in,
 Then we'll buy English Silks, &c.

III.

Whoever our Trading with England would hinder.
 To inflame both the Nations do plainly conspire;
 Because Irish Linen will soon turn to Tin-der;
 And Wool it is greasy, and quickly takes Fire.

There-

Therefore I assure ye,
Our noble Grand Jury,
When they saw the Dean's Book they were in a great Fury:
They would buy English Silks for their Wives,
&c.

IV.

This wicked Rogue Waters, who always is fin-ning,
And before Corum nobis so oft has been call'd, Henceforward shall print neither Pamphlets nor Linen,
And, if Swearing can do't, shall be swing-
ingly mawl'd:
And as for the Dean,
You know whom I mean,
If the Printer will peach him, he'll scarce come off clean.
Then we'll buy English Silks for our Wives and our Daughters,
In Spite of his Deanship and Journeyman
Waters.

E C C E ingens fragmen scopuli, quod vertice summo

Desuper impendet, nullo fundamine nixum
Decidit in fluctus : maria undique & undique fata

Horifono stridore tonant, & ad æthera murmur
Erigitur ; trepidatque suis Neptunus in undis.
Nam, longâ venti rabie, atque aspergine crebrâ
Æquorei laticis, specus imâ rupe cavatur :
Jam fultura ruit, jam summa cacumina nutant ;
Jam cadit in præceps moles, & verberat undas.
Attonitus credas, hinc dejecisse Tonantem
Montibus impositos montes, & Pelion altum
In capita anguipedum coelo jaculâsse gëgantum.

Sæpe etiam spelunca immani aperitur hiatu
Exesa è scopulis, & utrinque foramina pandit,
Hinc atque hinc a ponto ad pontum pervia
Phœbo.

Cautibus enormè junctis laquearia tecti
Formantur ; moles olim ruitura superne,
Fornice sublimi nidos struxere palumbes,
Inque imo stagni posuere cubilia phocæ.

Sed,

Sed, cum sævit hiems, & venti, carcere
rupto,

Immensos volvunt fluctus ad eulmina montis,
Non obsessæ arcès, non fulmina vindice dextrâ
Missa Jovis, quoties inimicæ sævit in urbes,
Exæquant sonitum undarum, veniente procellâ :
Littora littoribus reboant ; vicinia latè,
Gens assueta mari, & pedibus percurrere rupes,
Terretur tamen, & longè fugit, arva relinquens.

Gramina dum carpunt pendentes rupe ca-pellæ

Vi salientis aquæ de summo præcipitantur,
Et dulces animas imo sub gurgite linqunt.

Piscator terrâ non audet vellere funem ;
Sed latet in portu tremebundus, & aera sudum
Haud sperans, Nereum precibus votisque fatigat.

We have added a Translation of the preceding Poem, for the Benefit of our English Readers, It is done by Mr. W. Dunkin, M. A. for whom our supposed Author hath expressed a great Regard, on Account of his ingenious Performances, although unacquainted with him.

Carbery Rocks in the County of Cork, Ireland.

LO! from the Top of yonder Cliff, that shrouds

Its airy Head amidst the azure Clouds,
Hangs a large Fragment ; destitute of Props !
Prone on the Waves the rocky Ruin drops !
With hoarse Rebuff the swelling Seas rebound,
From Shore to Shore the Rocks return the Sound :

The dreadful Murmur Heaven's high Convex cleaves,

And Neptune shrinks beneath his subject Waves ;
For, long the whirling Winds and beating Tides
Had scoop'd a Vault into its nether Sides.

Now yields the Base, the Summits nod, now urge

Their headlong Course, and lash the sounding Surge,

Not

Not louder Noise could shake the guilty World,
When Jove heap'd Mountains upon Mountains hurl'd ;

Retorting Pelion from his dread Abode,
To crush Earth's Rebel-Sons beneath the Load.

Oft too with hideous Yawn the Cavern wide
Presents an Orifice on either Side,
A dismal Orifice from Sea to Sea
Extended, pervious to the God of Day :
Uncouthly join'd, the Rocks stupendous form
An Arch, the Ruin of a future Storm :
High on the Cliff their Nests the Woodqueests make,
And sea-calves stable in the oozy Lake.

But when bleak Winter with his sullen Train
Awakes the Winds, to vex the watry Plain ;
When o'er the craggy Steep, without Controul,
Big with the Blast the raging Billows roul ;
Not Towns beleaguer'd, not the flaming Brand,
Darted from Heav'n by Jove's avenging Hand,
Oft as on impious Men his Wrath he pours,
Humbles their Pride, and blasts their gilded Tow'rs,

Equal the Tumult of this wild Uproar :
Waves rush o'er Waves, rebellows Shore to Shore.

The neighb'ring Race, tho' wont to brave the Shocks

Of angry Seas, and run along the Rocks,
Now pale with Terror, while the Ocean foams,
Fly far and wide, nor trust their native Homes.

The Goats, while pendent from the Mountain-top

The wither'd Herb improvident they crop,
Wash'd down the Precipice with sudden Sweep,
Leave their sweet Lives beneath th' unfathom'd Deep.

The frighted Fisher with desponding Eyes,
Tho' safe, yet trembling in the Harbour lies,
Nor hoping to behold the Skies serene,
Wearies with Vows the Monarch of the Main.

UPON

HORRID PLOT
DISCOVER'D BY HARLEQUIN

The Bishop of Rochester's French
Dog. †

In a Dialogue between a Whig and a Tory.

Written in the Year 1723.

I Ask'd a Whig the other Night,
How came this wicked Plot to Light?
He answer'd, that a Dog of late
Inform'd a M ——— of State.
Said I, From thence I nothing know;
For, are not all Informers so?
A Villain who his Friend betrays,
We style him by no other Phrase;

† See the Proceedings in Parliament against the Bishop of Rochester, State Trials, Vol. VI.

And so a perjur'd Dog denotes
Porter, and Prendergast, and Oates,
 And forty others I could name.

Whig. But you must know this Dog was lame.

Tory. A weighty Argument indeed ;
 Your Evidence was lame. Proceed :
 Come, help your lame Dog o'er the Style.

Whig. Sir, you mistake me all this while ;
 I mean a Dog, without a Joke,
 Can howl, and bark, but never spoke,

Tory. I'm still to seek which Dog you mean ;
 Whether Curr Plunkett, or Whelp Skean,
 An English or an Irish Hound ;
 Or t'other Puppy that was drown'd,
 Or Mason, that abandon'd Bitch :
 Then pray be free, and tell me which :
 For, every Stander-by was marking
 That all the Noise they made was barking.
 You pay them well ; the Dogs have got Their Dog-heads in a Porridge Pot :
 And 'twas but just ; for wise Men say,
 That, ev'ry Dog must have his Day.
Dog W--- laid a Quart of Nog on't,
 He'd either make a Hog or a Dog on't ;
 And lookt, since he has got his Wish,
 As if he had thrown down a Dish.
 Yet, this I dare foretel you from it,
 He'll soon return to his own Vomit.

Whig. Besides this horrid Plot was found
 By Neynoe after he was drown'd.

Tory. Why then the Proverb is not right,
 Since you can teach dead Dogs to bite.

Whig.

Whig. I prov'd my Proposition full :
But Jacobites are strangely dull.
Now, let me tell you plainly, Sir,
Our Witness is a real Curr,
A Dog of Spirit for his Years,
Has twice two Legs, two hanging Ears ;
His Name is Harlequin, I wot,
And that's a Name in every Plot ;
Resolv'd to save the British Nation,
Tho' French by Birth and Education ;
His Correspondence plainly dated
Was all decypher'd and translated,
His Answers were exceeding pretty
Before the secret wise Committee :
Confest as plain as he could bark :
Then with his Fore-foot set his Mark.

Tory. Then all this while have I been bubbled,

I thought it was a Dog in Doublet :
The Matter now no longer sticks ;
For Statesmen never want Dog-Tricks.
But, since it was a real Curr,
And not a Dog in Metaphor,
I give you Joy of the Report,
That he's to have a Place at C-----.

Whig. Yes, and a Place he will grow rich in ;
A Turn-spit in the R--- K---.
Sir, to be plain, I tell you what,
We had Occasion for a Plot :
And when we found the Dog begin it,
We guess'd the Bishop's Foot was in it.

Tory. I own it was a dang'rous Project ;
And you have prov'd it by Dog-Logick.

Sure

Sure such Intelligence between
 A Dog and B--- ne'er was seen,
 Till you began to change the Breed ;
 Your Bishops all are D--gs indeed.

STELLA at Wood Park.

A House of Charles Ford, Esq; eight Miles from Dublin.

——— *Cuicumque nocere volebat
Vestimenta dabat pretiosa.*

Written in the Year 1723.

DON Carlos in a merry Spite,
Did Stella to his House invite :
He entertain'd her half a Year
With gen'rous Wines and costly Chear,
Don Carlos made her chief Director,
That she might o'er the Servants hector.
In half a Week the Dame grew nice,
Got all Things at the highest Price.
Now at the Table-Head she sits,
Presented with the nicest Bits :
She look'd on Partridges with Scorn,
Except they tasted of the Corn :
A Haunch of Ven'son made her sweat,
Unless it had the right Fumette.
Don Carlos earnestly would beg,
Dear Madam, try this Pigeon's Leg ;
Was happy when he could prevail
To make her only touch a Quail.

Through

Through Candle-Light she view'd the Wine,
 To see that ev'ry Glas was fine.
 At last, grown prouder than the D ———l,
 With Feeding high and Treatment civil,
 Don Carlos now began to find
 His Malice work as he design'd :
 The Winter-Sky began to frown,
 Poor Stella must pack off to Town ;
 From purling Streams and Fountains bubbling,
 To * Liffy's stinking Tide at Dublin :
 From wholesome Exercise and Air,
 To tossing in an easy Chair :
 From Stomach sharp, and hearty feeding,
 To piddle like a Lady breeding :
 From ruling there the Household singly,
 To be directed here by † Dingly :
 From ev'ry Day a lordly Banquet,
 To half a Joint, and God be thanked :
 From ev'ry Meal, Pontack in Plenty,
 To half a Pint one Day in twenty.
 From Ford attending at her Call,
 To Visits of ————
 From Ford, who thinks of nothing mean,
 To the poor Doings of the D---n :
 From growing Riches, with good Chear,
 To running out, by starving here.

But now arrives the dismal Day ;
 She must return to || Ormond Key.

The

The Coachman stopt ; she look'd and swore
The Rascal had mistook the Door :
At coming in you saw her stoop ;
The Entry brush'd against her Hoop :
Each Moment rising in her Airs,
She curst the narrow winding Stairs :
Began a thousand Faults to spy ;
The Ceiling hardly six Foot high ;
The smutty Waincot full of Cracks,
And half the Chairs with broken Backs ;
Her Quarter's out at Lady-Day.
She vows she will no longer stay
In Lodgings, like a poor Grizette,
While there are Lodgings to be let.

Howe'er, to keep her Spirits up,
She sent for Company to sup :
When all the while you might remark,
She strove in vain to ape Wood-Park.
Two Bottles call'd for (half her Store,
The Cupboard could contain but four ;)
A Supper worthy of herself,
Five Nothings in five Plates of Delph.

Thus for a Week the Farce went on ;
When all her Country-Savings gone,
She fell into her former Scene,
Small Beer, a Herring, and the D----n.

Thus far in Jest : Though now, I fear,
You think my Jestings too severe ;
But Poets, when a Hint is new,
Regard not whether false or true :

Yet Raillery gives no Offence,
 Where Truth has not the least Pretence ;
 Nor can be more securely plac'd,
 Than on a Nymph of Stella's Taste.
 I must confess, your Wine and Vittle
 I was too hard upon, a little :
 Your Table neat, your Linen fine ;
 And, though in Miniature, you shine :
 Yet, when you sigh to leave Wood-Park,
 The Scene, the Welcome, and the Spark,
 To languish in this odious Town
 And pull your haughty Stomach down ;
 We think you quite mistake the Case,
 The Virtue lies not in the Place :
 For, though my Raillery were true,
 A Cottage is Wood-Park with you.

 Worshipful Judge Boat.

Written in the Year 1723.

Benches on Boats are plac'd, not Boats on

And yet our Boat, how shall I reconcile it?
 Was both a Boat, and in one Sense a Pilot.
 With ev'ry Wind he sail'd, and well could tack:
 Had many Pendants, but abhorr'd a || Jack.
 He's gone, although his Friends began to hope
 That he might yet be lifted by a Rope.

Behold the awful Bench on which he sat,
 He was as hard, and pond'rous Wood as that:
 Yet, when his Sand was out we find at last,
 That Death has overset him with a Blast.
 Our Boat is now sail'd to the Stygian Ferry,
 There to supply old Charon's leaky Wherry:
Charon in him will ferry Souls to Hell:

We may place Boat in his old Post again.
The Way is thus; and well deserves your Thanks:

Pray, Gentle-folks, forbear your Scoffing.
A Boat a Judge! yes, where's the Blunder?

A RECEIPT to restore Stella's Youth.

Written in the Year 1724-5.

THE Scottish Hinds, too poor to house
In frosty Nights their starving Cows,
While not a Blade of Grass or Hay
Appears from Michaelmas to May,
Must let their Cattle range in vain
For Food, along the barren Plain.
Meagre and lank with fasting grown,
And nothing left but Skin and Bone;
Expos'd to Want, and Wind, and Weather,
They just keep Life and Soul together,
Till Summer Show'rs and Evening's Dew,
Again the verdant Glebe renew:
And as the Vegetables rise,
The famish'd Cow her Wants supplies;
Without an Ounce of last Year's Flesh,
Whate'er she gains is young and fresh;
Grows plump and round, and full of Mettle,
As rising from Medea's Kettle;
With Youth and Beauty to enchant
Europa's counterfeit Gallant.

Why, Stella, should you knit your Brow,
If I compare you to the Cow?
'Tis just the Case; for you have fasted
So long, till all your Flesh is wasted, And

And must against the warmer Days
 Be sent to * Quilca down to graze ;
 Where Mirth, and Exercise, and Air,
 Will soon your Appetite repair :
 The Nutriment will from within Round all your Body plump your Skin ;
 Will agitate the Lazy Blood,
 And fill your Veins with sprightly Blood :
 Nor Flesh nor Blood will be the same,
 Nor ought of Stella but the Name ;
 For, what was ever understood
 By human Kind, but Flesh and Blood ?
 And if your Flesh and Blood be new,
 You'll be no more your former You ;
 But for a blooming Nymph will pass
 Just Fifteen, coming Summer's Grass :
 Your jetty Locks with Garlands crown'd ;
 While all the 'Squires from nine Miles round,
 Attended by a Brace of Curs,
 With Jocky Boots and Silver Spurs ;
 No less than Justices o' Quorum,
 Their Cow-Boys bearing Cloaks before 'um :
 Shall leave deciding broken Pates,
 To kiss your Steps at Quilca Gates.
 But, lest you should my Skill disgrace,
 Come back before you're out of Case :
 For if to Michaelmas you stay,
 The new-born Flesh will melt away ;
 The 'Squires in Scorn will fly the House
 For better Game, and look for Grouse :

* A Friend's House, seven or eight Miles from Dublin.

But here, before the Frost can marr it,
We'll make it firm with Beef and Claret.

† WHITSHED'S Motto on his Coach.

LIBERTAS ET NATALE SOLUM.

Liberty and my native Country.

Written in the Year 1724.

LIBERTAS & natale Solum;
Fine Words! I wonder where you stole um.

Could nothing but thy chief Reproach,
Serve for a Motto on thy Coach?

But let me now the Words translate:

Natale Solum: My Estate:

My dear Estate, how well I love it!

My Tenants, if you doubt, will prove it:

They swear I am so kind and good,
I hug them till I squeeze their Blood.

LIBERTAS bears a large Import:
First, how to swagger in a Court;
And, Secondly, to shew my Fury
Against an un-complying Jury;

And, Thirdly, 'tis a new Invention
 To favour Wool and keep my Pension ;
 And, Fourthly, 'tis to play an odd Trick,
 Get the Great Seal, and turn out Brod'rick.
 And, Fifthly, you know whom I mean,
 To humble that vexatious Dean ;
 And, Sixthly, for my Soul, to barter it
 For fifty Times its Worth, to C-----t.

Now, since your Motto thus you construe,
 I must confess you've spoken once true.
Libertas & natale Solum ;
 You had good Reason when you stole 'um.

Sent by Dr. Delany to Dr. S——, in order to be admitted to speak to him.

Written in the Year 1724.

DEAR Sir, I think 'tis doubly hard
 Your Ears and Doors should both be barr'd.

Can any thing be more unkind ?
 Must I not see, 'cause you are blind ?
 Methinks a Friend at Night should cheer you,
 A Friend that loves to see and hear you :
 Why am I robb'd of that Delight,
 When you can be no Loser by't ?
 Nay, when 'tis plain (for what is plainer ?)
 'That, if you heard, you'd be no Gainer.

For

For sure you are not yet to learn,
That hearing is not your Concern.
Then be your Doors no longer barr'd,
Your Business, Sir, is to be heard.

THE ANSWER.

THE Wise pretend to make it clear,
'Tis no great Loss to lose an Ear.
Why are we then so fond of two,
When by Experience one would do ?

'Tis true, say they, cut off the Head,
And there's an End ; the Man is dead ;
Because, among all human Race,
None e'er was known to have a Brace,
But confidently they maintain,
'That, where we find the Memberstwain,
The Loss of one is no such Trouble,
Since t'other will in Strength be double ;
The Limb surviving, you may swear,
Becomes his Brother's lawful Heir :
Thus for a Trial, let me beg of
Your Rev'rence, but to cut one Leg off,
And you shall find by this Device,
The other will be stronger twice ;
For, every Day you shall be gaining
New Vigour to the Leg remaining.
So, when an Eye hath lost its Brother,
You see the better with the other :

Cut

Cut off your Hand, and you may do
 With t'other Hand the Work of two:
 Because the Soul her Power contracts,
 And on the Brother Limb re-acts.

—But, yet the Point is not so clear in Another Case; the Sense of Hearing;
 For tho' the Place of either Ear,
 Be distant as one Head can bear;
 Yet Galen most acutely shews you,
 (Consult his Book de Partium usu)
 That from each Ear, as he observes,
 There creep two auditory Nerves,
 (Not to be seen without a Glass)
 Which near the Os Petrosum pass;
 Thence to the Neck; and moving thorow there
 One goes to this, and one to t'other Ear,
 Which made my Grand-Dame always stuffher-Ears,
 Both Right and Left, as Fellow-Sufferers.
 You see my Learning; but to shorten it,
 When my left Ear was deaf a Fortnight,
 To t'other Ear I felt it coming on,
 And thus I solve this hard Phænomenon.

'Tis true, a Glass will bring Supplies
 To weak, or old, or clouded Eyes.
 Your Arms, tho' both your Eyes were lost,
 Would guard your Nose against a Post.
 Without your Legs; two Legs of Wood
 Are stronger, and almost as good.
 And, as for Hands, there have been those Who, wanting both, have us'd their Toes,

But

But no Contrivance yet appears,
To furnish artificial Ears.

A quiet LIFE and a good NAME.

To a Friend who married a Shrew.

Written about the Year 1724.

NELL scolded in so loud a Din,
That Will durst hardly venture in
He mark't the conjugal Dispute;
Nell roar'd incessant, Dick late mute:
But, when he saw his Friend appear,
Cry'd bravely, Patience, good my Dear.
At Sight of Will she bawl'd no more,
But hurry'd out and clapt the Door.

Why Dick! the Devil's in thy Nell,
(Quoth Will) thy House is worse than Hell:
Why, what a Peal the Jade has rung!
Damn her, why don't you slit her Tongue?
For nothing else will make it cease.
Dear Will, I suffer this for Peace:
I never quarrel with my Wife;
I bear it for a quiet Life.
Scripture you know exhorts us to it;
Bids us to seek Peace, and ensue it.

Will went again to visit Dick;
And ent'ring in the very Nick,

He

The 'Prentices proctur'd a Riding,
To act his Patience, and her Chiding.

False Patience and mistaken Pride !
There are ten thousand Dicks beside ;
Slaves to their Quiet and good Name,
Are us'd like Dick, and bear the Blame.

Some

Till me that Tyrant Man espy'd,
And dragg'd me from my Mother's Side :
No Wonder now I look'd so thin ;
The Tyrant stript me to the Skin :
My Skin he flay'd, my Hair he cropt ;
At Head and Foot my Body lopt :
And then, with Heart more hard than Stone,
He peckt my Marrow from the Bone.
To vex me more, he took a Freak
To slit my Tongue and make me speak :
But that which wonderful appears,
I speak to Eyes, and not to Ears.
He oft employs me in Disguise,
And makes me tell a thousand Lies :
To me he chiefly gives in Trust
To please his Malice, or his Lust.
From me no Secret he can hide ;
I see his Vanity and Pride :
And my Delight is to expose
His Follies to his greatest Foes.

All Languages I can command,
Yet not a Word I understand.
Without my Aid the best Divine
In Learning would not know a Line :
The Lawyer must forget his Pleading,
The Scholar could not shew his Reading.

Nay ; Man, my Master, is my Slave :
I give Command to kill or save,
Can grant ten thousand Pounds a Year,
And make a Beggar's Brat a Peer.

But, while I thus my Life relate,
 I only hasten on my Fate.
 My Tongue is black, my Mouth is furr'd,
 I hardly now can force a Word.
 I die unpitied and forgot ;
 And on some Dunghill left to rot.

II.

A N O T H E R.

ALL-ruling Tyrant of the Earth,
 To vilest Slaves I owe my Birth.
 How is the greatest Monarch blest,
 When in my gaudy Liv'ry drest !
 No haughty Nymph has Pow'r to run
 From me, or my Embraces shun.
 Stabb'd to the Heart, condemn'd to Flame,
 My Constancy is still the same.
 The Fav'rite Messenger of Jove,
 And Lemnian God consulting strove
 To make me glorious to the Sight
 Of Mortals, and the Gods Delight.
 Soon would their Altars Flame expire,
 If I refus'd to lend them Fire.

ANOTHER.

BY Fate exalted high in Place;
Lo, here I stand with double Face;
Superior none on Earth I find;
But see below me all Mankind.
Yet, as it oft attends the Great,
I almost sink with my own Weight.
At every Motion undertook,
The Vulgar all consult my Look.
I sometimes give Advice in Writing,
But never of my own inditing.

I am a Courtier in my Way;
For those who rais'd me, I betray;
And some give out, that I entice
To Lust, and Luxury, and Dice:
Who Punishments on me inflict,
Because they find their Pockets pickt.

By riding Post I lose my Health;
And only to get others Wealth.

I'm too profuse, some Cens'ers cry,
 And all I get, I let it fly :
 While others give me many a Curse,
 Because too close I hold my Purse.
 But this I know, in either Case
 They dare not charge me to my Face.
 'Tis true indeed, sometimes I save,
 Sometimes run out of all I have ;
 But when the Year is at an End,
 Computing what I get and spend,
 My Goings out, and Comings in,
 I cannot find I lose or win ;
 And therefore all that know me, say
 I justly keep the middle Way.
 I'm always by my Betters led ;
 I last get up, and first a-bed ;
 Though, if I rise before my Time,
 The learn'd in Sciences sublime,
 Consult the Stars, and thence foretel
 Good Luck to those with whom I dwell.

V.

ANOTHER.

THE Joy of Man, the Pride of Brutes,
 Domestic Subject for Disputes,
 Of Plenty thou the Emblem fair,
 Adorn'd by Nymphs with all their Care ;
 I saw thee rais'd to high Renown,
 Supporting half the British Crown ;

And often have I seen thee grace
 The chaste Diana's infant Face ;
 And whensoever you please to shine,
 Less useful is her Light than thine ;
 Thy num'rous Fingers know their Way
 And oft in Celia's Tresses play.

To place thee in another View,
 I'll shew the World strange Things and true ;
 What Lords and Dames of high Degree,
 May justly claim their Birth from thee ;
 The Soul of Man with Spleen you vex ;
 Of Spleen you cure the Female Sex.
 Thee for a Gift the Courtier sends
 With Pleasure to his special Friends :
 He gives ; and with a gen'rous Pride,
 Contrives all Means the Gift to hide :
 Nor oft can the Receiver know,
 Whether he has the Gift or no.
 On airy Wings you take your Flight,
 And fly unseen both Day and Night ;
 Conceal your Form with various Tricks ;
 And few know how and where you fix.
 Yet, some who ne'er bestow'd thee, boast
 That they to others give thee most.
 Mean time, the Wise a Question start,
 If thou a real Being art ;
 Or, but a Creature of the Brain,
 That gives imaginary Pain ;
 But the sly Giver better knows thee ;
 Who feels true Joys when he bestows thee.

VI.

A N O T H E R.

THOUGH I, alas! a Pris'ner be,
 My Trade is, Pris'ners to set free.
 No Slave his Lord's Commands obeys,
 With such insinuating Ways.
 My Genius piercing, sharp and bright,
 Wherein the Men of Wit delight.
 The Clergy keep me for their Ease,
 And turn and wind me as they please.
 A new and wond'rous Art I show
 Of raising Spirits from below;
 In Scarlet some, and some in White:
 They rise, walk round, yet never fright,
 In at each Mouth the Spirits pass,
 Distinctly seen as through a Glass:
 O'er Head and Body make a Rout,
 And drive at last all Secrets out:
 And still, the more I show my Art,
 The more they open ev'ry Heart.

A greater Chemist none, than I,
 Who, from Materials hard and dry,
 Have taught Men to extract with Skill,
 More precious Juice than from a Still.

Although I'm often out of Case,
 I'm not ashamed to show my Face.

Though

Though at the Tables of the Great,
I near the Side-board take my Seat ;
Yet, the plain 'Squire, when Dinner's done,
Is never pleas'd till I make one :
He kindly bids me near him stand ;
And often takes me by the Hand.

I twice a Day a hunting go ;
Nor ever fail to seize my Foe ;
And, when I have him by the Pole,
I drag him upwards from his Hole,
Though some are of so stubborn Kind,
I'm forc'd to leave a Limb behind.

I hourly wait some fatal End,
For, I can break, but scorn to bend.

A N O T H E R.

The Gulph of all human Possessions.

Written in the Year 1724.

C O M E hither and behold the Fruits,
Vain Man, of all thy vain Pursuits,
Take wise Advice and look behind.
Bring all past Actions to thy Mind,

Here

Here you may see, as in a Glass,
How soon all human Pleasures pass.
How will it mortify thy Pride,
To turn the true impartial Side !
How will your Eyes contain their Tears,
When all the sad Reverse appears !

This Cave within its Womb confines
The last Result of all Designs :
Here lie deposited the Spoils
Of busy Mortals endless Toils :
Here, with an easy Search we find
The soul Corruptions of Mankind.
The wretched Purchase here behold
Of Traytors, who their Country sold.

This Gulph insatiable imbibes
The Lawyer's Fees, the Statesman's Bribes.
Here, in their proper Shape and Mien,
Fraud, Perjury, and Guilt are seen.

Necessity, the Tyrant's Law,
All human Race must hither draw :
All prompted by the same Desire,
The vig'rous Youth, and aged Sire :
Behold the Coward, and the Brave,
The haughty Prince, the humble Slave,
Physician, Lawyer, and Divine,
All make Oblations at this Shrine.
Some enter boldly, some by Stealth,
And leave behind their fruitless Wealth.
For while the bashful Sylvan Maid,
As half asham'd, and half afraid,
Approach-

Approaching finds it hard to part
 With that which dwelt so near her Heart ;
 The Courtly Dame, unmov'd by Fear,
 Profusely pours her Off'rings here.

A Treasure here of Learning lurks,
 Huge Heaps of never-dying Works ;
 Labours of many an ancient Sage,
 And Millions of the present Age.

In at this Gulph all Off'rings pass,
 And lie in undistinguished Mass.
Deucalion, to restore Mankind
 Was bid to throw the Stones behind ;
 So, those, who here their Gifts convey,
 Are forc'd to look another Way ;
 For few, a chosen few, must know
 The Mysteries that lie below.

Sad Charnel-house ! a dismal Dome,
 For which all Mortals leave their Home ;
 The Young, the Beautiful, and Brave,
 Here bury'd in one common Grave ;
 Where each Supply of Dead renews
 Unwholesome Damps, offensive Dew :
 And lo ! the Writing on the Walls
 Points out where each new Victim falls ;
 The Food of Worms, and Beasts obscene,
 Who round the Vault luxuriant reign.

See where those mangled Corpses lie,
 Condemn'd by Female Hands to die ;

A come-

A comely Dame, once clad in white,
Lies there consign'd to endless Night ;
By cruel Hands her Blood was spilt,
And yet her Wealth was all her Guilt.

And here, six Virgins in a Tomb,
All-beauteous Offspring of one Womb,
Oft in the Train of Venus seen,
As fair and lovely as their Queen :
In Royal Garments each was drest,
Each with a Gold and Purple Vest ;
I saw them of their Garments stript,
Their Throats were cut, their Bellies ript,
Twice were they bury'd, twice were born,
Twice from their Sepulchres were torn ;
But now dismember'd here are cast,
And find a resting Place at last.

Here, oft the curious Trav'ler finds
The Combat of opposing Winds :
And seeks to learn the secret Cause,
Which alien seems from Nature's Laws ;
Why at this Cave's tremendous Mouth,
He feels at once both North and South ;
Whether the Winds in Caverns pent,
Through Clefts oppugnant force a Vent ;
Or, whether, op'ning all his Stores,
Fierce Æolus in Tempest roars.

Yet from this, mingled Mass of Things,
In Time a new Creation springs.
These crude materials once shall rise,
To fill the Earth, and Air, and Skies :

In various Forms appear again
Of Vegetables, Brutes, and Men.
So Jove pronounc'd among the Gods,
Olympus trembling as he nods.

A N O T H E R.

Louisa to Strephon.

Written in the Year 1724.

AH, Strephon, how can you despise
Her, who, without thy Pity dies ?
To Strephon I have still been true,
And of as noble Blood as you ;
Fair Issue of the genial Bed,
A Virgin in thy Bosom bred ;
Embrac'd thee closer than a Wife ;
When thee I leave, I leave my Life.
Why should my Shepherd take amiss,
That oft I wake thee with a Kiss ?
Yet you of ev'ry Kiss complain ;
Ah, is not Love a pleasing Pain ?
A Pain which every happy Night
You cure with Ease and with Delight ;
With Pleasure, as the Poet sings,
Too great for Mortals less than Kings.

Chloe, when on thy Breast I lie,
Observes me with revengeful Eye :

If Chloe o'er my Heart prevails,
She'll tear me with her desp'rate Nails ;
And with relentless Hands destroy
The tender Pledges of our Joy.
Nor have I bred a spurious Race ;
They all were born from thy Embrace.

Consider, Strephon, what you do ;
For should I die for Love of you,
I'll haunt thy Dreams, a bloodless Ghost ;
And all my Kin, a num'rous Host,
Who down direct our Lineage bring
From Victors o'er the Memphian King ;
Renown'd in Sieges and Campaigns,
Who never fled the bloody Plains,
Who in tempestuous Seas can sport,
And scorn the Pleasures of a Court ;
From whom great Sylla found his Doom ;
Who scourg'd to Death that Scourge of Rome,
Shall on thee take a Vengeance dire ;
Thou, like Alcides, shalt expire,
When his envenom'd Shirt he wore,
And Skin and Flesh in Pieces tore.
Nor less that Shirt, my Rival's Gift,
Cut from the Piece that made her Shift,
Shall in thy dearest Blood be dy'd,
And make thee tear thy tainted Hide.

ANOTHER.

DEpriv'd of Root, and Branch, and Rind,
Yet Flow'rs I bear of every Kind ;
And such is my prolific Pow'r,
They bloom in less than half an Hour :
Yet Standers-by may plainly see
They get no Nourishment from me.
My Head with Giddiness goes round ;
And yet I firmly stand my Ground ;
All over naked I am seen,
And painted like an Indian Queen.
No Couple-Beggar in the Land
E'er join'd such Numbers Hand in Hand ;
I join them fairly with a Ring ;
Nor can our Parson blame the Thing :
And tho' no Marriage Words are spoke,
They part not till the Ring is broke.
Yet Hypocrite Fanatics cry,
I'm but an Idol rais'd on high :
And once a Weaver in our Town,
A damn'd Cromwellian knock'd me down.
I lay a Pris'n'r twenty Years,
And then the Jovial Cavaliers
To their old Posts restor'd all Three,
I mean the Church, the King, and Me.

VERSES on the upright Judge, who condemned the Drapier's Printer.

Written in the Year 1724.

THE Church I hate, and have good Reason;
For there my Grandfire cut his Weazon :
He cut his Weazon at the Altar ;
I keep my Gullet for the Halter.

On the Same.

IN Church your Grandfire cut his Throat ;
To do the Jobb too long he tarry'd,
He should have had my hearty Vote,
To cut his Throat before he marry'd.

On the Same.

(The Judge speaks.)

I'M not the Grandson of that Ass || Quin ;
Nor can you prove it, Mr. Pasquin.
My Grand-dame had Gallants by Twenties,
And bore my Mother by a Prentice.

This,

This, when my Grandfire knew, they tell us
 he,
 In Christ Church cut his Throat for Jealousy.
 And since the Alderman was mad you say,
 Then I must be so too, ex traduce.

A SIMILE on our Want of Silver, and the only Way to remedy it.

Written in the Year 1725.

AS when of old, some Sorc'ers threw
 O'er the Moon's Face a sable Hue,
 To drive unseen her magic Chair,
 At Midnight through the darken'd Air;
 Wise People, who believ'd with Reason
 That this Eclipse was out of Season,
 Affirm'd the Moon was sick, and fell
 To cure her by a Counter-spell:
 Ten thousand Cymbals now begin
 To rend the Skies with brazen Din;
 The Cymbals rattling Sounds dispel
 The Cloud, and drive the Hag to Hell:
 The Moon, deliver'd from her Pain,
 Displays her Silver Face again.
 (Note here, that in the Chemic Style,
 The Moon is Silver all this while)

So,

So, (if my Simile you minded,
 Which, I confess, is too long winded)
 When late a Feminine Magician,
 Join'd with a brazen Politician,
 Expos'd, to blind the Nation's Eyes,
 A * Parchment of prodigious Size ;
 Conceal'd behind that ample Screen,
 There was no Silver to be seen.
 But, to this Parchment let the Draper
 Oppose his Counter-Charm of Paper,
 And ring Wood's Copper in our Ears
 So loud, 'till all the Nation hears ;
 That Sound will make the Parchment shrivel,
 And drive the Conjurers to the Devil :
 And when the Sky is grown serene,
 Our Silver will appear again.

* *A Patent to William Wood, for coining

On WOOD the Iron-monger.

Written in the Year 1725.

S Almoneus, as the Grecian Tale is,
 Was a mad Copper-smith of Elis ;
 Up at his Forge by Morning peep,
 No Creature in the Lane could sleep.

H 3

Among

Among a Crew of royst'ring Fellows
 Would sit whole Ev'nings at the Alehouse :
 His Wife and Children wanted Bread,
 While he went always drunk to Bed.
 This vap'ring Scab must needs devise
 To ape the Thunder of the Skies:
 With Brass two fiery Steeds he shod,
 To make a Clatt'ring as they trod.
 Of polish'd Brass his flaming Car,
 Like Lightning dazzled from afar,
 And up he mounts into the Box,
 And He must thunder, with a Pox.
 Then, furious he begins his March,
 Drives ratt'ling o'er a brazen Arch :
 With Squibs and Crackers arm'd to throw
 Among the trembling Crowd below.
 All ran to Pray'rs, both Priest and Laity,
 To pacify this angry Deity ;
 When Jove, in pity to the Town,
 With real Thunder knock'd him down.
 Then what a huge Delight were all in,
 To see the wicked Varlet sprawling ?
 They search'd his Pockets on the Place,
 And found his Copper all was base ;
 They laugh'd at such an Irish Blunder,
 To take the Noise of Brass for Thunder.

The Moral of this Tale is proper,
 Apply'd to Wood's adult'rate Copper :
 Which, as he scatter'd, we like Dolts,
 Mistook at first for Thunder-bolts ;

Before the Drapier shot a Letter
(Nor Jove himself could do it better)
Which lighting on th' Impostor's Crown,
Like real Thunder knock'd him down.

WOOD an Insect.

Written in the Year 1725.

BY long Observation I have understood
That three little Vermin are kin to Will Wood.

The first is an Insect they call a Wood-Louse,
That folds up itself in itself, for a House :
As round as a Ball, without Head, without Tail,
Inclos'd Cap-a-pe in a strong Coat of Mail.
And thus William Wood to my Fancy appears
In Fillets of Brass roll'd up to his Ears :
And, over these Fillets he wisely has thrown,
To keep out of Danger, † a Doublet of Stone.

The Louse of the Wood for a Med'cine is us'd,
Or swallow'd alive, or skillfully bruis'd.
And, let but our Mother Hibernia contrive
To swallow Will Wood either bruis'd or alive,

† He was in Goal for Debt.

She

She need be no more with the Jaundice possess'd,
Or sick of Obstructions, and Pains in her Chest.

The next is an Insect we call a Wood-Worm,
That lies in old Wood like a Hare in her Form;
With Teeth or with Claws it will bite or will scratch,

And Chamber-maids christen this Worm a Death-Watch.

Because like a Watch it always cries Click :
'Then Woe be to those in the House who are sick :

For, as sure as a Gun, they will give up the Ghost,

If the Maggot cries Click when it scratches the Post,

But a Kettle of scalding hot Water injected,
Infallibly cures the Timber affected :

The Omen is broke, the Danger is over ;
'The Maggot will die, and the Sick will recover.

Such a Worm was Will Wood when he scratch'd at the Door

Of a governing Statesman or favourite Whore :
'The Death of our Nation he seem'd to foretel,
And the Sound of his Brass we took for our Knell ;

But now since the Drapier hath heartily maul'd
him,

I think the best Thing we can do is to scald him.

For

For which Operation there's nothing more proper
 Than the Liquor he deals in, his own melted
 Copper ;
 Unless, like the Dutch, you rather would boil
 The Coiner of Raps * in a Cauldron of Oil.
 Then chuse which you please, and let each bring a Faggot,
 For our Fear's at an End with the Death of the Maggot.

 Chimnies with Scorn rejecting Smoak ;
 Stools, Tables, Chairs, and Bed-steds broke.
 Here Elements have lost their Uses,
 Air ripens not, nor Earth produces :
 In vain we make poor Sheelah * toil,
 Fire will not roast, nor Water boil.
 Thro' all the Valleys, Hills and Plains,
 The Goddess Want in Triumph reigns ;
 And her chief Officers of State,
Sloth, Dirt, and Theft around her wait.

To the Earl of P—b—w.

Written in the Year 1726.

MORDANTO fills the Trump of Fame,
The Christian World his Deeds proclaim,
And Prints are crowded with his Name.

In Journeys he out-rides the Post,
Sits up till Midnight with his Host,
Talks Politicks, and gives the Toast.

Knows ev'ry Prince in Europe's Face,
Flies like a Squib from Place to Place,
And travels not, but runs a Race.

From Paris Gazette A-la-main,
This Day arriv'd without his Train,
Mordanto in a Week from Spain.

A Messenger comes all a-reek,
Mordanto at Madrid to seek :
He left the Town above a Week.

Next Day the Post-boy winds his Horn,
And rides thro' Dover in the Morn :
Mordanto's landed from Leghorn.

MORDANTO gallops on alone,
The Roads are with his Foll'wers strown,
This breaks a Girth, and that a Bone :

His

His Body active as his Mind,
Returning found in Limb and Wind,
Except some Leather lost behind.

A Skeleton in outward Figure,
His meagre Corps though full of Vigour,
Would halt behind him, were it bigger.

So wonderful his Expedition,
When you have not the least Suspicion,
He's with you like an Apparition.

Shines in all Climates like a Star;
In Senates bold, and fierce in War,
A Land-Commander, and a Tar.

Heroic Actions early bred in,
Ne'er to be match'd in modern Reading,
But by his Name-sake Charles of Sweden.

 Shall moving Delos now deep-rooted stand;
 Thou, fix'd of old, be now the moving Land?
 Altho' the Metaphor be worn and stale,
 Betwixt a State, and Vessel under Sail;
 Let me suppose thee for a Ship a-while,
 And thus address thee in the Sailor's Style.*

1. UNHAPPY Ship, thou art return'd in vain:
 New Waves shall drive thee to the Deep again.

2. *O navis, referent in mare te novi
 Fluctus.*

Look

- Look to thyself, and be no more the Sport
 2. Of giddy Winds, but make some friendly
 Port.
 3. Lost are thy Oars that us'd thy Course to guide,
 Like faithful Counsellors on either Side.
 4. Thy Mast, which like some aged Patriot stood
 The single Pillar for his Country's Good ;
 To lead thee, as a Staff directs the Blind,
 Behold it cracks by yon rough Eastern Wind.
 5. Your Cables burst, and you must quickly feel
 The Waves impetuous entering at your Keel.
 Thus, Commonwealths receive a foreign Yoke,
 When the strong Cords of Union once are broke.
 6. Torn by a sudden tempest is thy Sail,
 Expanded to invite a milder Gale.

As when some Writer in a publick Cause,
 His Pen, to save a sinking Nation draws,
 While all is calm, his Arguments prevail,
 The People's Voice expands his Paper Sail :

2. ——— Fortiter occupa
Portum :
 3. Nudum remigio latus.
 4. ——— Malus celeri saucius Africo.
 5. ——— Ac sine funibus
Vix durare carinæ
Possint imperiosius
Æquor ?
 6. Nō tibi sunt integra lintea.

Yet at a Ball, unthinking Fools delight
In the gay Trappings of a Birth-Day Night:
They on the gold Brocades and Sattins rav'd,
And quite forgot their Country was enslav'd.

10. Dear Vessel, still be to thy Steerage just,
Nor change thy Course with ev'ry sudden
Gust:

Like supple Patriots of the modern Sort,
Who turn with ev'ry Gale that blows from Court.

11. Weary and Sea-sick when in thee confin'd,

Now, for thy Safety, Cares distract my Mind,
As those who long have stood the Storms of State,

Retire, yet still bemoan their Country's Fate.

Beware, and when you hear the Surges roar,

Avoid the Rocks on Britain's angry Shore;

They lie, alas! too easy to be found,

For thee alone they lie the Island round.

10. Fidit; tu, nisi ventis

Debes ludibrium, cave.

11. Nuper sollicitum quæ mihi tædium,

Nunc desiderium, curaque non levis,

Interfusa nitentes

Vites æquora Cycladas.

The DOG and THIEF.

Written in the Year 1726.

QUOTH the Thief to the Dog, Let me into your Door,
And I'll give you these delicate Bits :
Quoth the Dog, I should then be more Villain than you're,
And besides, must be out of my Wits.

Your delicate Bits will not serve me a Meal,
But my Master each Day gives me Bread ; You'll fly when you get what you came here to steal,
And I must be hang'd in your Stead.

The Stock-jobber thus, from Change-Alley goes down,
And tips you the Freeman a Wink ;
Let me have but your Vote to serve for the Town,
And here is a Guinea to drink.

Said the Freeman, your Guinea to-night would be spent,
Your Offers of Bribery cease ;
I'll vote for my Landlord to whom I pay Rent,
Or else I may forfeit my Lease.

From

From London they come silly People to chouse,
Their Lands and their Faces unknown :
Who'd vote a Rogue into the Parliament-house,
That would turn a Man out of his own ?

ADVICE to the Grub-street Verse-Writers.

Written in the Year 1726.

YE Poets ragged and forlorn,
Down from your Garrets haste,
Ye Rhymers, dead as soon as born,
Not yet consign'd to Paste :

I know a Trick to make you thrive ;
O, 'tis a quaint Device :
Your still-born Poems shall revive,
And scorn to wrap up Spice.

Get all your Verses printed fair,
Then let them well be dry'd ;
And Curl must have a special Care
To leave the Margin wide.

Lend these to Paper-sparing Pope ;
And, when he sits to write,
No Letter with an Envelope
Could give him more Delight.

When Pope has fill'd the Margins round,
 Why, then recall your Loan;
 Sell them to Curl for fifty Pound,
 And swear they are your own.

THE Sage, who said he should be proud
 Of Windows in his Breast,
 Because he ne'er one Thought allow'd
 That might not be confess'd;
 His Window scrawl'd by every Rake,
 His Breast again would cover;
 And fairly bid the D---l take
 The Di'mond and the Lover.

BY Satan taught, all Conjurers know
 Your Mistress in a Glass to show,
 And, you can do as much:

In this the Dev'l and you agree :
None ere made Verses worse than he,
And thine I swear are such.

III.

A N O T H E R.

THAT Love is the Devil, I'll prove when requir'd ;
These Rhymers abundantly show it :
They swear that they all by Love are inspir'd,
And the Devil's a damnable Poet.

THE Church and Clergy here, no doubt,
Are very near a-kin ;
Both weather-beaten are without ;
And empty both within.

A

PASTORAL DIALOGUE

BETWEEN

Richmond-Lodge and Marble-Hill.

Written June 1727, just after the News of the late King's Death.

RICHMOND-LODGE is a House with a small Park, belonging to the Crown: It was usually granted by the Crown for a Lease of Years; the Duke of Ormond was the last who had it. After his Exile it was given to the Prince of Wales by the King. The Prince and Princess usually passed their Summer there. It is within a Mile of Richmond.

MARBLE-HILL is a House built by Mrs. Howard, then of the Bed-Chamber, now Countess of Suffolk, and Groom of the Stole to the Queen. It is on the Middlesex Side, near Twickenham, where Mr. Pope lived, and about two Miles from Richmond-Lodge. Mr. Pope was the Contriver of the Gardens, Lord Herbert the Architect, and the Dean of St. Patrick's chief Butler, and
Keeper

Keeper of the Ice-House. Upon King George's Death, these two Houses met, and had the following Dialogue.

* IN Spight of Pope, in spight of Gay,
And all that he or they can say ;
Sing on I must, and sing I will
Of Richmond-Lodge, and Marble-Hill.

Last Friday Night, as Neighbours use,
This Couple met to talk of News :
For by old Proverbs it appears,
That Walls have Tongues, and Hedges Ears ;

MARBLE-HILL.

Quoth Marble-Hill, right well I ween,
Your Mistress now is grown a Queen :
You'll find it soon by woeful Proof,
She'll come no more beneath your Roof.

RICHMOND-LODGE.

The Kingly Prophet well evinces,
That we should put no Trust in Princes :
My Royal Master promis'd me
To raise me to a high Degree ;
But now he's grown a King, God wot,
I fear I shall be soon forgot.

* N O T E, This Poem was carried to Court, and read to the King and the Queen.

You see, when Folks have got their ends,
 How quickly they forget their Friends :
 Yet I may say, 'twixt me and you,
 Pray God they now may find as true.

MARBLE-HILL.

My House was built but for a Show,
 My Lady's empty Pockets know ;
 And now she will not have a Shilling
 To raise the Stairs, or build the Cieling;
 For, all the courtly Madams round,
 Now pay four Shillings in the Pound,
 'Tis come to what I always thought ;
 My Dame is hardly worth a Groat.
 Had you and I been Courtiers born,
 We should not thus have lain forlorn:
 For, those we dex'trous Courtiers call,
 Can rise upon their Master's Fall.
 But we, unlucky and unwise,
 Must fall, because our Masters rise.

RICHMOND-LODGE.

My Master, scarce a Fortnight since,
 Was grown as wealthy as a Prince ;
 But now it will be no such Thing,
 For he'll be poor as any King :
 And by his Crown will nothing get,
 But, like a King, to run in Debt.

MARBLE-HILL.

No more the Dean, that grave Divine,
Shall keep the Key of my No---Wine ;
My Ice-House rob, as heretofore,
And steal my Artichoaks no more ;
Poor Patty Blunt no more be seen
Bedraggled in my Walks so green :
Plump Johnny Gay will now elope ;
And here no more will dangle Pope.

RICHMOND-LODGE.

Here wont the Dean, when he's to seek,
To sponge a Breakfast once a Week ;
To cry the Bread was stale, and mutter
Complaints against the Royal Butter.
But now I fear it will be said,
No Butter sticks upon his Bread :
We soon shall find him full of Spleen,
For want of tattling to the Queen ;
Stunning her Royal Ears with talking ;
His Rev'rence and her Highness walking ;
Whilst * Lady Charlotte, like a Stroller,
Sits mounted on the Garden Roller.
A goodly Sight to see her ride,
With ancient † Mirmont at her Side.
In Velvet Cap his Head lies warm ;
His Hat for Show, beneath his Arm.

* Lady Charlotte de Rossy, a French Lady.

MAR-

MARBLE-HILL.

Some South-Sea Broker, from the City,
 Will purchase me, the more's the Pity ;
 Lay all my fine Plantations waste,
 To fit them to his vulgar Taste ;
 Chang'd for the worse in ev'ry Part,
 My Master Pope will break his Heart.

RICHMOND-LODGE.

In my own Thames may I be drowned,
 If e'er I stoop beneath a crown'd Head :
 Except her Majesty prevails
 To place me with the Prince of Wales ;
 And then I shall be free from Fears,
 For he'll be Prince these fifty Years.
 I then will turn a Courtier too,
 And serve the Times, as others do.
 Plain Loyalty, not built on Hope,
 I leave to your Contriver Pope :
 None loves his King and Country better,
 Yet none was ever less the Debtor.

MARBLE-HILL.

Then, let him come and take a Nap,
 In Summer on my verdant Lap :
 Prefer our Villa's where the Thames is,
 To Kensington, or hot St. James's ;
 Nor shall I dull in Silence sit ;
 For, 'tis to me he owes his Wit,

My

My Groves, my Echoes, and my Birds,
Have taught him his poetick Words.
We Gardens, and you Wildernesses,
Assist all Poets in Distresses.
Him twice a Week I here expect,
To rattle || Moody for Neglect ;
An idle Rogue, who spends his Quartridge
In tipling at the Dog and Partridge ;
And I can hardly get him down
Three times a Week to brush my Gown.

RICHMOND-LODGE.

I pity you, dear Marble-Hill ;
But hope to see you flourish still.
All Happiness---and so adieu.

MARBLE-HILL.

Kind Richmond-Lodge, the same to you,

DESIRE and POSSESSION.

Written in the Year 1727.

'TIS strange, what different Thoughts inspire,
 In Man, Possession and Desire ;
 Think what they wish so great a Blessing,
 So disappointed when possessing.

A Moralist profoundly sage,
 I know not in what Book or Page,
 Or, whether o'er a Pot of Ale,
 Related thus the following Tale.

Possession and Desire, his Brother,
 But, still at Variance with each other,
 Were seen contending in a Race ;
 And kept at first an equal Pace :
 'Tis said, their Course continued long ;
 For, This was active, That was strong :
 Till Envy, Slander, Sloth, and Doubt,
 Misled them many a League about,
 Seduc'd by some deceiving Light,
 They take the wrong Way for the right :
 Through slipp'ry By-roads dark and deep,
 They often climb, and often creep.

Desire, the swifter of the two,
 Along the Plain like Lightning flew :

Till

Till entering on a broad Highway,
Where Power and Titles scatter'd lay,
He strove to pick up all he found,
And by Excursions lost his Ground :
No sooner got, than with Disdain
He threw them on the Ground again ;
And hasted forward to pursue
Fresh Objects fairer to his View ;
In hope to spring some nobler Game ;
But all he took was just the same :
Too scornful now to stop his Pace,
He spurn'd them in his Rival's Face.

Possession kept the beaten Road ;
And gather'd all his Brother strow'd ;
But over-charg'd, and out of Wind,
Though strong in Limbs, he lagg'd behind.

Desire had now the Goal in Sight :
It was a Tow'r of monstrous Height ;
Where, on the Summit Fortune stands :
A Crown and Scepter in her Hands,
Beneath, a Chasm as deep as Hell,
Where many a bold Advent'rer fell.
Desire, in Rapture gaz'd a while,
And saw the treach'rous Goddess smile ;
But, as he climb'd to grasp the Crown,
She knock'd him with the Scepter down.
He tumbled in the Gulph profound ;
There doom'd to whirl an endless Round.

Possession's Load was grown so great,
He sunk beneath the cumb'rous Weight :

And, as he now expiring lay,
Flocks ev'ry ominous Bird of Prey ;
The Raven, Vulture, Owl, and Kite,
At once upon his Carcase light ;
And strip his Hide, and pick his Bones,
Regardless of his dying Groans.

ON CENSURE.

Written in the Year 1727.

YE Wise instruct me to endure
An Evil, which admits no Cure :
Or how this Evil can be born,
Which breeds at once both Hate and Scorn.
Bare Innocence is no Support,
When you are try'd in Scandal's Court.
Stand high in Honour, Wealth or Wit ;
All others who inferior sit
Conceive themselves in Conscience bound
To join and drag you to the Ground.
Your Altitude offends the Eyes
Of those who want the Pow'r to rise.
The World, a willing Stander by,
Inclines to aid a specious Lye :
Alas, they would not do you wrong,
But all Appearances are strong.

Yet, whence proceeds this Weight we lay
On what detracting People say ;

For

For let Mankind discharge their Tongues
In Venom till they burst their Lungs,
Their utmost Malice cannot make
Your Head, or Tooth, or Finger ake :
Nor spoil your Shape, distort your Face,
Or put one Feature out of Place ;
Nor will you find your Fortune sink ;
By what they speak, or what they think ;
Nor can ten Hundred Thousand Lyes
Make you less virtuous, learn'd, or wise.

The most effectual Way to baulk
Their Malice, is ----- to let them talk.

The Furniture of a Woman's M I N D.

Written in the Year 1727.

A Set of Phrases learnt by Rote ;
A Passion for a Scarlet Coat ;
When at a Play to laugh, or cry,
Yet cannot tell the Reason why ;
Never to hold her Tongue a Minute,
While all she prates has nothing in it ;
Whole Hours can with a Coxcomb sit,
And take his Nonsense all for Wit ;
Her Learning mounts to read a Song,
But half the Words pronouncing wrong ;

Has ev'ry Repartee in Store,
 She spoke ten Thousand Times before ;
 Can ready Compliments supply
 On all Occasions, cut and dry ;
 Such Hatred to a Parson's Gown,
 The Sight will put her in a Swoon ;
 For Conversation well endu'd,
 She calls it witty to be rude ;
 And, placing Raillery in Railing,
 Will tell aloud your greatest Failing ;
 Nor makes a Scruple to expose
 Your handy Leg, or crooked Nose ;
 Can at her Morning Tea, run o'er
 The Scandal of the Day before ;
 Improving hourly in her Skill,
 To cheat and wrangle at Quadrille.

In chusing Lace a Critic nice,
 Knows to a Groat the lowest Price ;
 Can in her Female Clubs dispute
 What Linen best the Silk will suit,
 What Colours each Complexion match,
 And where with Art to place a Patch.

If chance a Mouse creeps in her Sight,
 Can finely counterfeit a Fright ;
 So sweetly screams, if it comes near her,
 She ravishes all Hearts to hear her.
 Can dextrously her Husband teize,
 By taking Fits whene'er she please ;
 By frequent Practice learns the Trick
 At proper Seasons to be sick ;

Think

Thinks nothing gives one Airs so pretty,
At once creating Love and Pity :
If Molly happens to be careless,
And but neglects to warm her Hair-Lace,
She gets a Cold as sure as Death,
And vows she scarce can fetch her Breath ;
Admires how modest Women can
Be so robustious, like a Man.

In Party, furious to her Pow'r ;
A bitter Whig, or Tory sow'r ;
Her Arguments directly tend Against the Side she would defend ;
Will prove herself a Tory plain,
From Principles the Whigs maintain ;
And, to defend the Whiggish Cause,
Her Topicks from the Tories draws.

O yes! If any Man can find,
More Virtues in a Woman's Mind,
Let them be sent to Mrs. * Harding ;
She'll pay the Charges to a Farthing :
Take Notice, she has my Commission
To add them in the next Edition ;
They may out-sell a better Thing :
So, Holla Boys ; God save the King.

Clever

Clever Tom Clinch going to be hang'd.

Written in the Year 1727.

AS clever Tom Clinch, while the Rabble was bawling,
 Rode stately through Holborn, to die in his Calling,
 He stopt at the George for a Bottle of Sack,
 And promis'd to pay for it when he came back.
 His Waistcoat and Stockings, and Breeches were white ;
 His Cap had a new Cherry Ribbon to ty't,
 The Maids to the Doors and the Balconies ran,
 And said, Lack-a-day ! he's a proper young Man.
 But, as from the Windows the Ladies he spy'd,
 Like a Beau in the Box, he bow'd low on each Side ;
 And when his last Speech the loud Hawkers did cry,
 He swore from his Cart, it was all a damn'd
 Lye.
 The Hangman for Pardon fell down on his Knee ;
Tom gave him a Kick in the Guts for his Fee :
 Then said, I must speak to the People a little,
 But I'll see you all damn'd before I will
 * whittle.

* A-Cant Word for confessing at the Gallows.

My

My honest Friend † Wild, may he long hold his Place;
He lengthen'd my Life with a whole Year of Grace.
Take Courage, dear Comrades, and be not afraid,
Nor slip this Occasion to follow your Trade;
My Conscience is clear, and my Spirits are calm,
And thus I go off without Pray'r-Book or Psalm.
Then follow the Practice of clever Tom Clinch,
Who hung like a Hero, and never would flinch.

On cutting down the old THORN at MARKET-HILL.

Written in the Year 1727.

AT Market Hill, as well appears
By Chronicle of ancient Date,
There stood for many a Hundred Years,
A spacious Thorn before the Gate.

Hither came ev'ry Village-Maid,
And on the Boughs her Garland hung,
And here, beneath the spreading Shade,
Secure from Satyrs fat and fung.

* Sir

* Sir Archibald that val'rous Knight,
Then Lord of all the fruitful Plain,
Would come to listen with Delight,
For he was fond of rural Strain.

(Sir Archibald, whose fav'rite Name
Shall stand for Ages on Record,
By Scottish Bards of highest Fame, † Wife Hawthornden and Sterling's Lord.)

But Time, with Iron Teeth, I ween,
Has canker'd all its Branches round ;
No Fruit or Blossom to be seen,
Its Head reclining tow'rs the Ground.

This aged, sickly, sapless Thorn,
Which must alas no longer stand,
Behold the cruel Dean in Scorn
Cuts down with sacrilegious Hand.

Dame Nature, when she saw the Blow,
Astonish'd gave a dreadful Shriek ;
And Mother Tellus trembled so
She scarce recover'd in a Week.

The Silvan Pow'rs, with Fear perplex'd,
In Prudence and Compassion sent
(For none could tell whose Turn was next)
Sad Omens of the dire Event.

* Sir Archibald Acheson, Secretary of State for Scotland.

† Drummond of Hawthornden, and Sir William Alexander E. of Sterling, both famous for their Poetry, who were Friends to Sir Archibald.

The

'The Magpye, lighting on the Stock,
Stood chatt'ring with incessant Din ;
And with her Beak gave many a Knock
To rouse and warn the Nymph within.

The Owl foresaw, in pensive Mood,
The Ruin of her antient Seat ;
And fled in Haste with all her Brood,
To seek a more secure Retreat.

Last trotted forth the gentle Swine,
To ease her Itch against the Stump,
And dismally was heard to whine,
All as she scrubb'd her meazly Rump.

The Nymph, who dwells in ev'ry Tree,
(If all be true that Poets chant)
Condemn'd by Fate's Supreme Decree,
Must die with her expiring Plant.

Thus, when the gentle Spina found
The Thorn, committed to her Care,
Receiv'd its last and deadly Wound,
She fled and vanish'd into Air.

But from the Root a dismal Groan
First issuing, struck the Murd'rer's Ears ;
And in a shrill revengeful Tone,
This Prophecy he trembling hears.

" Thou chief Contriver of my Fall,
" Relentless Dean, to Mischief born,
" My Kindred oft' thine Hide shall gall,
" Thy Gown and Cassock oft be torn.

" And

- “ And thy confed’rate Dame, who brags
 “ That she condemn’d me to the Fire,
 “ Shall rent her Petticoats to Rags,
 “ And wound her Legs with ev’ry Bri’r.

 “ Nor thou, Lord * Arthur, shalt escape :
 “ To thee I often call’d in vain,
 “ Against that Affassin in Crape ;
 “ Yet thou could’st tamely see me slain,

 “ Nor, when I felt the dreadful Blow,
 “ Or chid the Dean, or pinch’d thy Spouse ;
 “ Since you could see me treated so,
 “ (An old Retainer to your House,)

 “ May that fell Dean, by whose Command
 “ Was form’d this Machivillian Plot,
 “ Not leave a Thistle on thy Land ;
 “ Then who will own thee for a Scot ?

 “ Pigs and Fanaticks, Cows, and Teagues
 “ Through all thy Empire I foresee,
 “ To tear thy Hedges join in Leagues ;
 “ Sworn to revenge my Thorn and me.

 “ And thou the Wretch ordain’d by Fate,
 “ Neal Gaghagan, Hibernian Clown,
 “ With Hatchet, blunter than thy Pate,
 “ To hack my hallow’d Timber down,

* Sir Arthur Acheson.

“ When

“ When thou, suspended high in Air,
“ Dy’st on a more ignoble Tree,
“ (For thou shalt steal thy Landlord’s Mare)
“ Then, bloody Caitiff, think on me.

On the five Ladies at † Sot’s-Hole, with the Doctor at their Head.

N. B. The Ladies treated the Doctor.

Sent as from an Officer in the Army.

Written in the Year 1728.

F A I R Ladies, Number five,
Who in your merry Freaks
With little Tom contrive
To feast on Ale and Steaks,

While he sits by a grinning,
To see you safe in Sot’s-Hole,
Set up with greasy Linen,
And neither Mugs nor Pots whole;

Alas ! I never thought
A Priest would please your Palate.
Besides I’ll hold a Groat,
He’ll put you in a Ballad ;

Where I shall see your Faces
 On Paper daub'd so foul,
 They'll be no more like Graces,
 Than Venus like an Owl.

And we shall take you rather
 To be a Midnight Pack
 Of Witches met together
 With Belzebub in black.

It fills my Heart with Woe,
 To think such Ladies fine
 Should be reduc'd so low
 To treat a dull Divine,

Be by a Parson cheated !
 Had you been cunning Stagers,
 You might yourselves be treated
 By Captains and by Majors.

See how Corruption grows,
 While Mothers, Daughters, Aunts,
 Instead of powder'd Beaus,
 From Pulpits chuse Gallants.

If we who wear our Wigs
 With Fan-Tail and with Snake,
 Are bubbled thus by Prigs;
 Z-----ds, who would be a Rake ?

Had I a Heart to fight,
 I'd knock the Doctor down;
 Or could I read or write,
 I'gad I'd wear a Gown.

Then

Then leave him to his Birch,
And at the Rose on Sunday,
The Parson safe at Church,
I'll treat you with Burgurdy.

On burning a Dull P O E M.

Written in the Year 1729.

AN Afs's Hoof alone can hold
That pois'nous Juice which kills by Cold,
Methought, when I this Poem read,
No Vessel but an Afs's Head
Such frigid Fustian could contain ;
I mean the Head without the Brain.
The cold Conceits, the chilling Thoughts,
Went down like stupifying Draughts :
I found my Head began to swim,
A Numbness crept thro' ev'ry Limb.
In Haste with Imprecations dire,
I threw the Volume in the Fire :
When, (who could think ?) tho' cold as Ice,
It burnt to Ashes in a Trice.

How could I more enhance its Fame ?
Tho' born in Snow, it dy'd in Flame.

The Reverend Dr. DELANY,

JOHN Lord CARTERET.

To Dr. Delany, occasioned by his Epistle to his Excellency John Lord Carteret.

Written in the Year 1729.

DELUDED Mortals, whom the Great
 Chuse for Companions tete à tete ;
 Who at their Dinners, en famille,
 Get Leave to sit whene'er you will ;
 Then boasting tell us where you din'd,
 And how his Lordship was so kind ;
 How many pleasant Things he spoke,
 And how you laugh'd at ev'ry Joke :

Swear

Swears he's a most facetious Man ;
 That you and he are Cup and Cann :
 You travel with a heavy Load,
 And quite mistake Preferment's Road.

Suppose my Lord and you alone,
 Hint the least Int'rest of your own ;
 His Visage drops, he knits his Brow,
 He cannot talk of Bus'ness now :
 Or mention but a vacant Post,
 He'll turn it off with, Name your Toast ;
 Nor could the nicest Artist paint
 A Countenance with more Constraint.

For, as their Appetites to quench,
 Lords keep a Pimp to bring a Wench ;
 So, Men of Wit are but a kind
 Of Panders to a vicious Mind ;
 Who proper Objects must provide
 To gratify their Lust of Pride,
 When weary'd with Intrigues of State,
 They find an idle Hour to prate.
 Then, should you dare to ask a Place,
 You forfeit all your Patron's Grace,
 And disappoint the sole Design,
 For which he summon'd you to dine.

Thus Congreve spent in writing Plays,
 And one poor Office, half his Days :
 While Montague, who claim'd the Station
 To be *Mæcenæ*s of the Nation,
 For Poets open Table kept,
 But ne'er consider'd where they slept ;

Let all his Barren Lawrels fade,
Took up himself the Courtier's Trade,
And, grown a Minister of State,
Saw Poets at his Levee wait.

Hail, happy Pope! whose generous Mind
Detesting all the Statesman Kind,
Contemning Courts, at Courts unseen,
Refus'd the Visits of a -----.
A Soul with ev'ry Virtue fraught,
By Sages, Priests, or Poets taught ;
Whose filial Piety excels
Whatever Grecian Story tells ;
A Genius for all Stations fit,
Whose meanest Talent is his Wit ;
His Heart too great, tho' Fortune little,
To lick a Rascal Statesman's Spittle ;
Appealing to the Nation's Taste,
Above the Reach of Want is plac'd :
By Homer dead was taught to thrive,
Which Homer never could alive ;
And sits aloft on Pindus' Head,
Despising Slaves that cringe for Bread.

True Politicians only pay
For solid Work, but not for Play ;
Nor ever chuse to work with Tools
Forg'd up in Colleges and Schools.
Consider how much more is due
To all their Journey-men, than you :
At Table you can Horace quote ;
They at a Pinch can bribe a Vote :

You

Careſſing Knaves, and Dunces wooing,
 To make them work their own undoing.
 What has he elſe to bait his Traps,
 Or bring his Vermin in, but Scraps ?
 The Offals of a Church diſtreſt,
 A hungry Vicarage at beſt ;
 Or ſome remote inferior Poſt,
 With forty Pounds a Year at moſt.

- But, here again you interpoſe ;
 Your favourite Lord is none of thoſe
 Who owe their Virtues to their Stations,
 And Characters to Dedications :
 For, keep him in, or turn him out,
 His Learning none will call in doubt :
 His Learning, tho' a Poet ſaid it
 Before a Play, would loſe no Credit ;
 Nor POPE would dare deny him Wit,
 Altho' to praiſe it PH---PS writ.
 I own, he hates an Action baſe,
 His Virtues battling with his Place ;
 Nor wants a nice diſcerning Spirit,
 Betwixt a true and ſpurious Merit ;
 Can ſometimes drop a Voter's Claim,
 And give up Party to his Fame.
 I do the moſt that Friendſhip can ;
 I hate the Viceroy, love the Man.

But You who, till your Fortune's made,
 Muſt be a Sweet'ner by your Trade,
 Shou'd ſwear he never meant us ill ;
 We ſuffer ſore againſt his Will ;

That,

That, if we could but see his Heart,
 He would have chose a milder Part :
 We rather should lament his Case,
 Who must obey, or lose his Place.

Since this Reflection slip your Pen,
 Insert it when you write again :
 And, to illustrate it, produce
 This Simile for his Excuse ;

“ So, to destroy a guilty Land,
 “ An Angel sent by Heav’n’s Command,
 “ While he obeys Almighty Will,
 “ Perhaps, may feel Compassion still ;
 “ And wish the Task had been assign’d
 “ To Spirits of less gentle Kind.

But I, in Politicks grown old,
 Whose Thoughts are of a diff’rent Mould,
 Who, from my Soul, sincerely hate
 Both ---- and Ministers of State,
 Who look on Courts with stricter Eyes,
 To see the Seeds of Vice arise,
 Can lend you an Allusion fitter,
 Though flatt’ring Knaves may call it bitter ;
 Which, if you durst but give it place,
 Would shew you many a Statesman’s Face :
 Fresh from the Tripod of Apollo
 I had it in the Words that follow :
 (Take Notice, to avoid Offence,
 I here except His Excellence.)

“ So,

" So, to effect his Monarch's Ends,
 " From Hell a Viceroy Dev'l ascends;
 " His Budget with Corruptions cramm'd,
 " The Contributions of the Damn'd;
 " Which with unsparing Hand, he strows
 " Through Courts and Senates as he goes;
 " And then at Belzebub's Black Hall,
 " Complains his Budget was too small.

Your Simile may better shine
 In Verse; but there is Truth in mine.
 For, no imaginable Things
 Can differ more than GOD and -----
 And Statesmen, by ten Thousand Odds,
 Are ANGELS just as ----- are GODS.

Janus, on NEW-YEARS-DAY,

Written in the Year 1729.

TW O-faced Janus, God of Time!
 Be my Phœbus while I rhyme;
 To oblige your Crony S-----t,
 Bring our Dame a New-Year's-Gift:
 She has got but half a Face;
Janus, since thou hast a Brace,
 To my Lady once be kind;
 Give her half thy Face behind.

GOD

GOD of Time, if you be wise,
Look not with your future Eyes :
What imports thy forward Sight ?
Well, if you could lose it quite.
Can you take Delight in viewing
'This poor Isle's approaching Ruin ?
When thy Retrospection vast,
Sees the glorious Ages past.

Happy Nation were we blind,
Or had only Eyes behind.
Drown your Morals, Madam crys,
I'll have none but forward Eyes ;
Prudes decay'd about may tack,
Strain their Necks with looking back ;
Give me Time when coming on :
Who regards him when he's gone ?
By the D---n though gravely told,
New Years help to make me old ;
Yet I find a New Year's Lace
Burnishes an Old Years Face :
Give me Velvet and Quadrille,
I'll have Youth and Beauty still.

DRAPIER'S

DRAPIER'S HILL.

Written in the Year 1729.

WE give the World to understand,
Our thriving D---n. has purchas'd
Land;

A Purchase which will bring him clear
Above his Rent four Pounds a Year;
Provided, to improve the Ground,
He will but add Two Hundred Pound,
And from his endless hoarded Store,
To build a House, five hundred more.
Sir Arthur * too shall have his Will,
And call the Mansion Drapier's Hill:
That when a Nation, long enslav'd,
Forgets by whom it once was sav'd;
When none the DRAPIER's Praise shall sing;
His Signs aloft no longer swing;
His Medals and his Prints forgotten,
And all his † Handkerchiefs are rotten;
His famous LETTERS made waste Paper;
This Hill may keep the Name of DRAPIER;
In Spight of Envy flourish still,
And DRAPIER's vic with COOPER's Hill.

* The Gentleman of whom the Purchase was made.

† Medals were cast, many Signs hung up, and Handkerchiefs made with Devices, in Honour of the Author, under the Name of M. B. Drapier.

Hamilton's † Bawn should be turned into a Barrack or a Malt-House.

Written in the Year 1729.

THU S spoke to my Lady the Knight full of Care,
Let me have your Advice in a weighty Affair.
This * HAMILTON's Bawn, whilst it sticks on my Hand,
I lose by the House what I get by the Land ;
But how to dispose of it to the best Bidder,
For a ‖ Barrack or Malt-House, we now must consider.

First, let me suppose I make it a Malt-House,
Here I have computed the Profit will fall t'us ;

† A Bawn was a Place near the House, inclosed with Mud or Stone Walls, to keep the Cattle from being stolen in the Night. They are now little used.

* A large old House, two Miles from Sir A---A----'s Seat.

There's

There's nine Hundred Pounds for Labour and Grain,

I increase it to Twelve, so three Hundred remain ;

A handsome Addition for Wine and good Chear,

Three Dishes a Day, and three Hogheads a Year :

With a Dozen large Vessels my Vault shall be stor'd ;

No little scrub Joint shall come on my Board :

And you and the Dean no more shall combine

To stint me at Night to one Bottle of Wine ;

Nor shall I, for his Humour, permit you to purloin

A Stone and a Quarter of Beef from my Sirloin.

If I make it a Barrack, the Crown is my Tenant ;

My Dear, I have ponder'd again and again on't :

In Poundage and Drawbacks I lose half my Rent,

Whatever they give me I must be content,

Or join with the Court in ev'ry Debate ;

And rather than that, I would lose my Estate.

Thus ended the Knight: Thus began his meek Wife ;

It must, and it shall be a Barrack, my Life.

I'm grown a meer Mopus; no Company comes,
But a Rabble of Tenants, and rusty dull

* Rums;

With Parsons what Lady can keep herself clean?

I'm all over dawb'd when I sit by the Dean.

But if you will give us a Barrack, my Dear,

The Captain, I'm sure, will always come here;

I then shall not value his Deanship a Straw,

For the Captain, I warrant, will keep him in Awe;

Or should he pretend to be brisk and alert,

Will tell him that Chaplains should not be so pert;

That Men of his Coat should be minding their Pray'rs,

And not among Ladies to give themselves Airs.

Thus argu'd my Lady, but argu'd in vain;
The Knight his Opinion resolv'd to maintain.

But † Hannah, who listen'd to all that was past,

And could not endure so vulgar a Taste,

As soon as her Ladyship call'd to be dress'd,

Cry'd, Madam, why surely my Master's posses't;

Sir Arthur the Master! how fine it will sound!

I'd rather the Bawn were sunk under Ground.

* A cant Word in Ireland for a poor Country Clergyman.

But

But Madam, I guess'd there wou'd never come
Good,

When I saw him so often with * Darby and Wood.

And now my Dream's out ; for I was a-dream'd
That I saw a huge Rat ; O dear, how I scream'd !
And after, methought, I had lost my new Shoes ;

And Molly, she said, I should hear some ill
News.

Dear Madam, had you but the Spirit to tease,
You might have a Barrack whenever you
please :

And, Madam, I always believ'd you so stout,
That for twenty Denials you would not give out.

If I had a Husband like him, I purtest,
'Till he gave me my Will, I would give him
no Rest ;

And rather than come in the same Pair of Sheets

With such a cross Man, I would lie in the Streets :

But, Madam, I beg you contrive and invent,
And worry him out, 'till he gives his Consent.

Dear Madam, whene'er of a Barrack I think,
An I were to be hang'd, I can't sleep a wink :

* Two of Sir A---'s Managers.

M 3

For,

For, if a new Crotchet comes into my Brain,
 I can't get it out, tho' I'd never so fain.
 I fancy already a Barrack contriv'd
 At HAMILTON's Bawn, and the Troop is arriv'd ;
 Of this, to be sure, Sir Arthur has Warning,
 And waits on the Captain betimes the next Morning.

Now, see, when they meet, how their Honours behave ;
 Noble Captain, your Servant---Sir Arthur your Slave ;
 You honour me much---the Honour is mine---,
 'Twas a sad rainy Night---but the Morning is fine ---
 Pray how does my Lady?--- My Wife's at your Service.---
 I think I have seen her Picture by Jervis.--- Good-morrow, good Captain,---I'll wait on you down---
 You shan't stir a Foot---You'll think me a Clown---
 For all the World, Captain, not half an Inch farther----
 You must be obey'd---your Servant, Sir Arthur ;
 My humble Respects to my Lady unknown.---
 I hope you will use my House as your own.

“ Go, bring me my Smock, and leave off
 “ your Prate,
 “ Thou hast certainly gotten a Cup in thy

Pray,

Pray, Madam, be quiet ; what was it I said ?--
You had like to have put it quite out of my Head.

Next Day to be sure the Captain will come,
At the Head of his Troop, with Trumpet and Drum :

Now, Madam, observe, how he marches in
State :

The Man with the Kettle-Drum enters the Gate :

Dub, dub, adub, dub. The Trumpeters follow,
Tantara, tantara, while all the Boys hollow.

See, now comes the Captain all dawb'd with Gold Lace :

O law ! the sweet Gentleman ! look in his Face ;
And see how he rides like a Lord of the Land,
With the fine flaming Sword that he holds in his Hand ;

And his Horse, the dear Creter, it prances and rears,

With Ribbons in Knots, at its Tale and its Ears :

At last comes the Troop, by the Word of Command,

Drawn up in our Court ; when the Captain cries, STAND.

Your Ladyship lifts up the Sash to be seen,
(For sure, I had dizen'd you out like a Queen ;)
The Captain, to shew he is proud of the Favour,
Looks up to your Window, and cocks up his Beaver.

(His

(His Beaver is cock'd ; pray Madam, mark that, -

For a Captain of Horse never takes off his Hat ;
Because he has never a Hand that is idle ;
For, the Right holds the Sword, and the Left holds the Bridle,)

Then flourishes thrice his Sword in the Air,
As a Compliment due to a Lady so fair ;
(How I tremble to think of the Blood it hath spilt!)

Then he low'rs down the Point, and kisses the Hilt.

Your Ladyship smiles, and thus you begin ;
Pray, Captain, be pleas'd to light, and walk in :
The Captain salutes you with Congee profound,
And your Ladyship curtsies half way to the Ground.

KIT, run to your Master, and bid him
come to us,

I'm sure he'll be proud of the Honour you do us ;

And, Captain, you'll do us the Favour to stay,
And take a short Dinner here with us To-day :
Your're heartily welcome : But as for good
Chear,

You come in the very worst Time of the Year :
If I had expected so worthy a Guest :

Lord ! Madam ! your Ladyship sure is in Jest ;
You banter me, Madam, the Kingdom must grant---

You Officers, Captain, are so complaisant.

“ Hilt,

“ Hift, Huffy, I think I hear some Body coming----

No, Madam ; 'tis only Sir Arthur a humming.

To shorten my Tale (for I hate a long Story)
The Captain at Dinner appears in his Glory ;
The Dean and the * Doctor have humbled their Pride,

For the Captain's entreated to fit by your Side ;
And because he's their betters, you carve for him first ;

The Parsons, for Envy, are ready to burst :

The Servants amaz'd are scarce ever able

To keep off their Eyes, as they wait at the Table ;

And Molly and I have thrust in our Nose,

To peep at the Captain, in all his fine Clo'es :

Dear Madam, be sure he's a fine spoken Man,

Do but hear on the Clergy how glib his 'Tongue ran ;

“ And, Madam, says he, if such Dinners you give,

“ You'll never want Parsons as long as you live ;

“ I ne'er knew a Parson without a good Nose,

“ But the Devil's as welcome wherever he goes :

“ G---d---me, they bid us reform and repent,

“ But, Z---s, by their Looks, they never keep Lent :

* Doctor Jenny, a Clergyman in the Neighbourhood.

“ Mister

- “ Mister Curate, for all your grave Looks I’m afraid
 “ You cast a Sheep’s Eye on her Ladyship’s
 Maid,
 “ I with she would lend you her pretty white
 Hand,
 “ In mending your Cassock, and smoothing your Band :
 “ (For the Dean was so shabby, and look’d
 like a Ninny,
 “ That the Captain suppos’d he was Curate to Jenny.)
 “ Whenever you see a Cassock and Gown,
 “ A Hundred to One, but it covers a Clown ;
 “ Observe how a Parson comes into a Room,
 “ G--d--me, he hobbles as bad as my Groom ;
 “ A *Scholar*d, when just from his College broke loose,
 “ Can hardly tell how to cry Bo to a Goose ;
 “ Your † No-veds, and Blutarks, and Omurs
 and Stuff,
 “ By G--- they don’t signify this Pinch of Snuff.
 “ To give a young Gentleman right Education,
 “ The Army’s the only good School in the Nation ;
 “ My School-master call’d me a Dunc and a Fool,
 “ But at Cuffs I was always the Cock of the School ;

† Ovids, Plutarchs, Homers.

- " I never could take to my Book for the Blood
o'me,
" And the Puppy confess'd, he expected no
Good o'me.
" He caught me one Morning coquetting his Wife,
" But he mau'd me, I ne'er was so mau'd in my Life :
" So, I took to the Road, and, what's very odd,
" The first Man I robb'd was a Parson by G---.
" Now, Madam, you'll think it a strange Thing to say,
" But the Sight of a Book, makes me sick to this Day.

Never since I was born did I hear so much
Wit,
And, Madam, I laugh'd till I thought I shou'd
split.
So, then you look'd scornful, and snift at the Dean,
As who should say, Now, am I || Skinny and Lean ?
But, he durst not so much as once open his Lips,
And the Doctor was plaguily down in the Hips.

Thou merciless Hannab ran on in her Talk,
Till she heard the Dean call, Will your Ladyship Walk ?

Her Ladyship answers, I'm just coming down ;
Then, turning to Hannab, and forcing a Frown,
Altho' it was plain, in her Heart she was glad,
Cry'd, Hussy, why sure the Wench is gone mad :

How

How cou'd these Chimera's, get into your Brains ?---

Come hither, and take this old Gown for your Pains.

But the Dean, if this Secret shou'd come to his Ears,

Will never have done with his Gibes and his Jeers :

For your Life, not a Word of the Matter, I charge ye :

Give me but a Barrack, a Fig for the Clergy.

An Excellent new BALLAD ; or the true English Dean † to be hanged for a Rape.

Written in the Year 1730.

I.

O UR Brethren of England, who love us
so dear,

And in all they do for us so kindly do mean,
A Blessing upon them, have sent us this Year,
For the good of our Church, a true English
Dean.

A holier Priest ne'er was wrapt up in Crape,
The worst you can say, he committed a Rape.

In

† S--br--ge, Dean of Fernes,

II.

In his Journey to Dublin, he lighted at Chester,
 And there he grew fond of another Man's
 Wife ;
 Burst into her Chamber, and wou'd have ca-
 reff'd her ;
 But she valu'd her Honour much more than her Life.
 She buſtled and ſtruggled, and made her Escape
 To a Room full of Guests, for fear of a Rape.

III.

The Dean he purſu'd to recover his Game ;
 And now to attack her again he prepares :
 But the Company ſtood in Defence of the Dame,
 They cudgel'd, and cuſt him, and kick'd him down Stairs.
 His Deanship was now in a damnable Scrape,
 And this was no Time for committing a Rape.

IV.

To Dublin he comes, to the Bagnio he goes,
 And orders the Landlord to bring him a
 Whore ;
 No Scruple came on him his Gown to expoſe,
 'Twas what all his Life he had practis'd before.

He had made himself drunk with the Juice of the Grape,
And got a good Clap, but committed no Rape.

V.

The Dean and his Landlord, a jolly Comrade,
Resolv'd for a Fortnight to swim in Delight ;
For why, they had both been brought up to the Trade

Of drinking all Day, and of whoring all Night.

His Landlord was ready his Deanship to ape
In ev'ry Debauch, but committing a Rape.

VI.

'This Protestant Zealot, this English Divine,
In Church and in State was of Principles
sound ;

Was truer than Steel to the Hanover Line,
And griev'd that a Tory should live above Ground.

Shall a Subject so loyal be hang'd by the Nape,
For no other Crime but committing a Rape ?

VII.

By old Papish Canons, as wise Men have penn'd
em,

Each Priest had a Concubine, jure Ecclesiae ;
Who'd be Dean of Fernes without a Commendam ?
And Precedents we can produce, if it please ye :

Then why should the Dean, when Whores are so cheap,
Be put to the Peril, and Toil of a Rape?

VIII.

If Fortune should please but to take such a Crochet,
(To thee I apply, great Smedley's Successor)
To give thee Lawn Sleeves, a Mitre and *Ro-
chet*,
Whom wouldst thou resemble? I leave thee a
Gueffer;
But I only behold thee in * Atherton's Shape,
For Sodomy hang'd, as thou for a Rape.

IX.

Ah! dost thou not envy the brave Col'nel Chartres,
Condemn'd for thy Crime at Threescore and ten?
To hang him all England would lend him their Garters;
Yet he lives, and is ready to ravish again.
Then throttle thyself with an Ell of strong
Tape,
For thou hast not a Groat to atone for a Rape.

* A Bishop of Waterford, sent from England, a hundred Years ago.

X.

The Dean he was vex'd that his Whores were so willing :
 He long'd for a Girl that would struggle and squall ;
 He ravish'd her fairly, and sav'd a good Shilling ;
 But here was to pay the Devil and all.
 His Trouble and Sorrows now come in a Heap,
 And hang'd he must be for committing a Rape.

XI.

If Maidens are ravish'd, it is their own Choice ;
 Why are they so wilful to struggle with Men ?
 If they would but lie quiet, and stifle their Voice,
 No Devil nor Dean could ravish 'em then.
 Nor would there be need of a strong Hempent
 Cape,
 Ty'd round the Dean's Neck, for committing a Rape.

XII.

Our Church and our State dear England maintains,
 For which all true Protestant Hearts should be glad ;
 She sends us our B--s and J--s and D--s ;
 And better would give us, if better she had ;

But,

But, Lord, how the Rabble will stare and will gape,
When the good English Dean is hang'd up for a Rape.

The L A D Y's Dressing Room.

Written in the Year 1730.

Five Hours, (and who can do it less in ?)
By haughty Calia spent in dressing ;
The Goddess from her Chamber issues,
Array'd in Lace, Brocades, and Tissues.
Strepson, who found the Room was void,
And Betty otherwise employ'd,
Stole in, and took a strict Survey
Of all the Litter as it lay :
Whereof, to make the Matter clear,
An Inventory follows here,

And first, a dirty Smock appear'd,
Beneath the Arms-pits well besinear'd ;
Strepson, the Rogue, display'd it wide,
And turn'd it round on ev'ry Side :
In such a Case, few Words are best,
And Strepson bids us guess the rest ;
But swears how damnably the Men lie,
In calling Calia sweet and cleanly,

Now listen, while he next produces
 The various Combs for various Uses ;
 Fill'd up with Dirt so closely fixt,
 No Brush cou'd force a Way betwixt ;
 A Paste of Composition rare,
 Sweat, Dandriff, Powder, Lead, and Hair.
 A Forehead-Cloth with Oil upon't,
 To smoothe the Wrinkles on her Front :
 Here, Allum-Flower to stop the Steams,
 Exhal'd from four unsav'ry Streams ;
 There, Night-Gloves made of Tripsey's Hide,
 Bequeath'd by Tripsey when she died ;
 With Puppy-Water, Beauty's Help,
 Distill'd from Tripsey's darling Whelp.
 Here Gally-pots and Vials plac'd,
 Some fill'd with Washes, some with Paste ;
 Some with Pomatums, Paints, and Slops,
 And Ointments good for scabby Chops.
 Hard by, a filthy Bason stands,
 Foul'd with the scowring of her Hands ;
 The Bason takes whatever comes,
 The Scraping from her Teeth and Gums,
 A nasty Compound of all Hues,
 For here she spits, and here she spues.

But O ! it turn'd poor Strephon's Bowels,
 When he beheld and smelt the Towels,
 Begumm'd, bematter'd, and beslim'd,
 With Dirt, and Sweat, and Ear-wax grim'd.
 No Object Strephon's Eye escapes ;
 Here, Petticoats in frowzy Heaps ;
 Nor be the Handkerchiefs forgot,
 All varnish'd o'er with Snuff and Snot.

The

The Stockings why should I expose,
Stain'd with the Moisture of her Toes ;
Or greasy Coifs, or Pinner's reeking,
Which Celia slept at least a Week in.
A Pair of Tweezers next he found,
To pluck her Brows in Arches round ;
Or Hairs that sink the Forehead low,
Or on her Chin like Bristles grow.

The Virtues we must not let pass
Of Celia's magnifying Glass ;
When frighted Strephon cast his Eye on't,
It shew'd the Visage of a Giant :
A Glass that can to Sight disclose
The smallest Worm in Celia's Nose,
And faithfully direct her Nail
To squeeze it out from Head to Tail ;
For, catch it nicely by the Head,
It must come out, alive or dead.

Why, Strephon, will you tell the rest ;
And must you needs describe the Chest ?
That careless Wench ! No Creature warn her
To move it out from yonder Corner ?
But leave it standing full in Sight,
For you to exercise your Spite.
In vain the Workman shew'd his Wit,
With Rings and Hinges counterfeit,
To make it seem in this Disguise
A Cabinet to vulgar Eyes,
Which Strephon ventur'd to look in,
Resolv'd to go thro' thick and thin,

He

He lifts the Lid : There needs no more,
 He smelt it all the Time before.
 As, from within Pandora's Box,
 When Epimetheus op'd the Locks,
 A sudden universal Crew
 Of human Evils upward flew ;
 He still was comforted to find
 That Hope at last remain'd behind.

So, Strephon lifting up the Lid,
 To view what in the Chest was hid,
 'The Vapour flew from out the Vent
 But Strephon, cautious, never meant
 The Bottom of the Pan to grope,
 And foul his Hands in search of Hope.

O ! ne'er may such a vile Machine
 Be once in Cælia's Chamber seen ;
 O ! may she better learn to keep
 Those Secrets of the hoary Deep *

As Mutton-Cutlets, † prime of Meat,
 Which, though with Art you salt and beat,
 As Laws of Cookery require,
 And roast them at the clearest Fire ;
 If from || adown the hopeful Chops,
 The Fat upon a Cinder drops,

* Milton.

† Prima Virorum,

To stinking Smoke it turns the Flame,
Pois'ning the Flesh from whence it came,
And up exhales a greasy Stench,
For which you curse the careless Wench :
So, Things which must not be exprest,
When plumpt into the reeking Chest,
Send up an excremental Smell,
To taint the Parts from whence they fell ;
The Petticoats and Gown perfume,
And waft a Stink round ev'ry Room.

Thus finishing his grand Survey,
The Swain disgusted slunk away ;
Repeating in his am'rous Fits
Oh ! Celia, Celia, Celia, sh---.

But Vengeance, Goddess never sleeping,
Soon punish'd Strephon for his peeping :
His foul Imagination links
Each Dame he sees with all her Stinks ;
And, if unsav'ry Odours fly,
Conceives a Lady standing by.
All Women his Description fits,
And both Ideas jump like Wits ;
By vicious Fancy coupled fast,
And still appearing in Contrast.

I pity wretched Strephon, blind
To all the Charms of Woman Kind.
Should I the Queen of Love refuse,
Because she rose from stinking Ooze ?
To him that looks behind the Scene,
Statira's but some pocky Quean.

When

When Cælia all her Glory shows,
 If Strephon would but stop his Nose,
 Who now so impiously blasphemes
 Her Ointments, Daubs, and Paints and Creams,
 Her Washes, Slops, and ev'ry Clout,
 With which he makes so foul a Rout;
 He soon would learn to think like me,
 And bless his ravish'd Eyes to see
 Such Order from Confusion sprung.
 Such gaudy Tulips rais'd from Dung.

The Power of TIME *.

Written in the Year 1730.

IF neither Brass nor Marble can withstand
 The mortal Force of Time's destructive
 Hand;
 If Mountains sink to Vales, if Cities die,
 And less'ning Rivers mourn their Fountains dry:
 When my old Cassock (said a Welsh Divine)
 Is out at Elbows; why should I repine?

* Scarron hath written a larger Poem on the same Subject.

T H E

REVOLUTION at Market-Hill.

Written in the Year 1730.

From distant Regions Fortune sends
 An odd Triumvirate of Friends ;
 Where Phæbus pays a scanty Stipend,
 Where never yet a Codling ripen'd :
 Hither the frantick Goddess draws
 Three Sufferers in a ruin'd Cause :
 By Faction banish'd here unite,
 A D--n, a * Spaniard, and a Knight ;
 Unite, but on Conditions cruel ;
 The D--n and Spaniard find it too well :
 Condemn'd to live in Service hard ;
 On either Side his Honour's guard,
 The Dean to guard his Honour's Back,
 Must build a Castle at † Drumlack ;
 The Spaniard, fore against his Will,
 Must raise a Fort at Market-Hill.

* Col. Harry Leslie, who serv'd and liv'd long in Spain.

† The Irish Name of a Farm the D--n took, and was to build on, but changed his Mind : He called it Drapier's Hill. See that Poem.

And

From * Market-Hill's exalted Head,
 Full northward let your Troops be led;
 While I from Drapier's-Mount descend,
 And to the South my Squadrons bend.
New-River-Walk with friendly Shade,
 Shall keep my Host in Ambuscade;
 While you, from where the Baſon ſtands,
 Shall ſcale the Rampart with your Bands.
 Nor need we doubt the Fort to win;
 I hold Intelligence within.
 True, Lady Anne no Danger fears,
 Brave as the Upton Fan ſhe wears;
 Then left upon our firſt Attack
 Her valiant Arm ſhould force us back,
 And we of all our Hopes depriv'd;
 I have a Stratagem contriv'd.
 By theſe embroider'd high-heel'd Shoes;
 She ſhall be caught as in a Nooſe;
 So well contriv'd her Toes to pinch,
 She'll not have Pow'r to ſtir an Inch:
 Theſe gaudy Shoes muſt † Hannab place
 Direct before her Lady's Face;
 The Shoes put on, our faithful Portreſs
 Admits us in to ſtorm the Fortreſs;
 While tortur'd Madam bound remains,
 Like Montezume in golden Chains,
 Or like a Cat with Walnuts ſhod,
 Stumbling at ev'ry Step ſhe trod.

* A Village near Sir A — A — A's Seat.

To mortify the Creature more,
We'll take her Heels five Inches low'r.

For Hannah, when we have no need of her,
'Twill be our Int'rest to get rid of her :
And when we execute our Plot,
'Tis best to hang her on the Spot ;
As all your Politicians wise
Dispatch the Rogues by whom they rise.

TR A U L U S.

A Dialogue between Tom and Robin.

The First P A R T.

Written in the Year 1730.

Tom. SAY, Robin, what can Traulus mean
By bell'wing thus against the D--an ?
Why does he call him paltry Scribler,
Papist, and Jacobite, and Lib'ler ?
Yet cannot prove a single Fact ?

Robin. Forgive him, Tom, his Head is crackt.

Tom. What Mischief can the D--- have done
him,
That Traulus calls for Vengeance on him ?
Why must he sputter, spawl, and flaver it
In vain against the People's Favourite ?
Revile that Nation-saving Paper,
Which gave the D--- the Name of Draper ?

Robin. Why, Tom, I think the Case is plain,
Party and Spleen have turn'd his Brain.

Tom. Such Friendship never Man profess,
The D-- was never so carest ;
For Traulus long his Rancour nurs't,
Till God knows why, at last it burst.
That clumsy Outside of a Porter,
How could it thus conceal a Courtier ?

Robin. I own, Appearances are bad ;
Yet still insist the Man is mad.

Tom. Yet many a Wretch in Bedlam knows
How to distinguish Friends from Foes ;
And, tho' perhaps among the Rout,
He wildly flings his Filth about ;
He still has Gratitude and Sap'ence,
To spare the Folks that give him Ha'pence ;
Nor in their Eyes at Random pisses,
But turns aside, like mad Ulysses :
While Traulus all his Ordure scatters,
To foul the Man he chiefly flatters.
Whence come these inconsistent Fits ?

Robin. Why

Robin. Why Tom, the Man has lost his Wits.

Tom. Agreed: And yet when Towzer snaps
At People's Heels with frothy Chaps;
Hangs down his Head, and drops his Tail,
To say he's mad, will not avail:
The Neighbours all cry, *Shoot him dead,
Hang, drown, or knock him on the Head.*
So Traulus when he first harangu'd,
I wonder why he was not hang'd;
For of the two, without Dispute,
Towzer's the less offensive Brute.

Robin. Tom, you mistake the Matter quite;
Your barking Curs will seldom bite;
And tho' you hear him Stut-tut-tut-ter,
He barks as fast as he can utter.
He prates in spite of all Impediment,
While none believes that what he said he mean't;
Puts in his Finger and his Thumb,
To grope for Words, and out they come.
He calls you Rogue; there's nothing in it,
He fawns upon you in a Minute:
*Begs Leave to rail, but d---n his Blood,
He only meant it for your Good:
His Friendship was exactly tim'd,
He shot before your Foes were prim'd,
By this Contrivance, Mr. D---
By G--- I'll bring you off as clean ——— **

* This is the usual Excuse of Traulus when he abuses you to others without Provocation.

Then let him use you e'er so rough,
'Twas all for Love, and that's enough.
 But though he sputter thro' a Session,
 It never makes the least Impression :
 Whate'er he speaks for Madness goes,
 With no Effect on Friends or Foes.

Tom. The scrubbiest Cur in all the Pack,
 Can set the Mastiff on your Back.
 I own, his Madness is a Jest,
 If that were all. But he's possest,
 Incarnate with a thousand Imps,
 To work whose Ends his Madness pimps ;
 Who o'er each String and Wire preside,
 Fill ev'ry Pipe, each Motion guide ;
 Directing ev'ry Vice we find
 In Scripture to the Dev'l assign'd ;
 Sent from the dark infernal Region,
 In him they lodge, and make him Legion.
 Of Brethren he's a false Accuser ;
 A Sland'rer, Traitor, and Seducer ;
 A fawning, base, trepanning Liar ;
 The Marks peculiar of his Sire.
 Or, grant him but a Drone at best ;
 A Drone can raise a Hornet's Nest.
 The D--- hath felt his Stings before ;
 And must their Malice ne'er give o'er ?
 Still swarm and buzz about his Nose ?
 But Ireland's Friends ne'er wanted Foes.
 A Patriot is a dang'rous Post
 When wanted by his Country most ;
 Perversely comes in evil Times,
 Where Virtues are imputed Crimes.

His

His Guilt is clear, the Proofs are pregnant,
A Traitor to the Vices regnant.

What Spirit since the World began,
Could always bear to strive with Man?
Which God pronounc'd he never wou'd,
And soon convinc'd them by a Flood.
Yet still the D--- on Freedom raves,
His Spirit always strives with Slaves.
'Tis Time at last to spare his Ink,
And let them rot, or hang, or sink.

TRAULUS.

The Second PART.

Written in the Year 1730.

TRAULUS of amphibious Breed,
Motly Fruit of Mungril Seed;
By the Dam from Lordlings sprung,
By the Sire exhal'd from Dung:
Think on ev'ry Vice in both,
Look on him and see their Growth.

View him on the Mother's Side,
Fill'd with Falshood, Spleen, and Pride;

Positive

Positive and over-bearing,
 Changing still, and still adhering,
 Spightful, peevish, rude, untoward,
 Fierce in Tongue, in Heart a Coward;
 When his Friends he most is hard on,
 Cringing comes to beg their Pardon;
 Reputation ever tearing,
 Ever dearest Friendship swearing;
 Judgment weak, and Passion strong,
 Always various, always wrong:
 Provocation never waits,
 Where he loves, or where he hates;
 Talks whate'er comes in his Head;
 Wishes it were all unsaid.

Let me now the Vices trace,
 From the Father's scoundrel Race.
 Who could give the Looby such Airs?
 Were they Masens, were they Butchers?
 Herald lend the Muse an Answer;
 From his Atavus and Grandfire:
 This was dext'rous at his Trowel,
 That was bred to kill a Cow well:
 Hence the greasy clumsy Mien,
 In his Dress and Figure seen;
 Hence the mean and sordid Soul,
 Like his Body, rank and foul;
 Hence that wild suspicious Peep,
 Like a Rogue that steals a Sheep;
 Hence he learnt the Butcher's Guile,
 How to cut your Throat and finile;
 Like a Butcher doom'd for Life,
 In his Mouth to wear his Knife:

Hence

Hence he draws his daily Food,
From his Tenants vital Blood.

Lastly, let his Gifts be try'd,
Borrow'd from the Mason's-side :
Some perhaps may think him able
In the State to build a Babel ;
Cou'd we place him in a Station,
To destroy the old Foundation :
True, indeed, I should be gladder,
Cou'd he learn to mount a Ladder :
May he at his latter End
Mount alive, and dead descend.

In him, tell me which prevail,
Female Vices most, or Male,
What produc'd him, can you tell ?
Human Race, or Imps of Hell ?

To B E T T Y the Grizette.

Written in the Year 1730.

Q U E E N of Wit and Beauty, Betty !
Never may the Muse forget ye :
How thy Face charms ev'ry Shepherd,
Spotted over like a Leopard,

And,

And, thy freckled Neck displaid,
Envy breeds in ev'ry Maid.
Like a fly-blown Cake of Tallow,
Or on Parchment Ink turn'd yellow ;
Or a tawny speckled Pippin
Shrivel'd with a Winter's keeping.

And, thy Beauty thus dispatch'd,
Let me praise thy Wit unmatch'd.

Sets of Phrases, cut and dry,
Evermore thy Tongue supply.
And thy Memory is loaded
With old Scraps from Plays exploded :
Stockt with Repartees and Jokes,
Suited to all Christian Folks :
Shreds of Wit, and senseless Rhymes,
Blunder'd out a Thousand Times.
Nor wilt thou of Gifts be sparing,
Which can ne'er be worse for wearing.
Picking Wit among Collegians,
In the Play-House upper Regions ;
Where, in Eighteen-penny Gall'ry,
Irish Nymphs learn Irish Raillery ;
But, thy Merit is thy Failing,
And thy Raillery is Railing.

Thus with Talents well endu'd
To be scurrilous and rude ;
When you pertly raise your Snout,
Fleece, and gibe, and laugh, and flout :
This, among Hibernian Asses,
For sheer Wit, and Humour passes !

Thus

Thus indulgent Chloe bit,
Swears you have a World of Wit.

DEATH and DAPHNE.

To an agreeable young Lady, but extremely lean.

Written in the Year 1730.

DEATH went upon a solemn Day,
At Pluto's Hall, his Court to pay :
The Phantom, having humbly kist
His grisly Monarch's sooty Fift,
Presented him the weekly Bills
Of Doctors, Fevers, Plagues, and Pills.
Pluto observing since the Peace,
The burial Article decrease ;
And, vex'd to see Affairs miscarry,
Declar'd in Council, Death must marry :
Vow'd he no longer could support
Old Batchelors about his Court :
The Int'rest of his Realm had need
That Death should get a num'rous Breed ;
Young Deathblings, who, by Practice made Proficient in their Father's Trade,

With

With Colonies might stock around
His large Dominions under Ground.

A Consult of Coquets below
Was call'd, to rig him out a Beau :
From her own Head, Megara takes
A Periwig of twisted Snakes ;
Which in the nicest Fashion curl'd,
Like * Toupetts of this upper World,
(With Flow'r of Sulphur powder'd well,
That graceful on his Shoulders fell)
An Adder of the fable Kind,
In Line direct, hung down behind.
The Owl, the Raven, and the Bat,
Club'd for a Feather to his Hat ;
His Coat, an Us'rer's Velvet Pall,
Bequeath'd to Philo, Corps and all,
But lo!t his Person to expose
Bare, like a Carcase pickt by Crows,
A Lawyer o'er his Hands and Face,
Stuck artfully a Parchment Case.
No new-fluxt Rake shew'd fairer Skin :
Not Phyllis after lying in.
With Snuff was fill'd his Ebon Box,
Of Shin-Bones rotted by the Pox.
Nine Spirits of blaspheming Fops,
With Aconite anoint his Chops :
And give him Words of dreadful Sounds,
G--d d--n his Blood, and B--d and W--ds.

Thus furnish'd out, he sent his Train
To take a House in Warwick-Lane :

* The Periwigs now in Fashion are so called.
The

The Faculty, his humble Friends,
A complimentary Message sends :
Their President, in Scarlet Gown,
Harangu'd, and welcom'd him to Town.

But Death had Bus'ness to dispatch ;
His Mind was running on his Match.
And, hearing much of Daphne's Fame,
His Majesty of Terrors came,
Fine as a Col'nel of the Guards,
To visit where she sat at Cards :
She, as he came into the Room,
Thought him Adonis in his Bloom,
And now her Heart with Pleasure jumps,
She scarce remembers what is Trumps.
For, such a Shape of Skin and Bone
Was never seen except her own :
Charm'd with his Eyes and Chin and Snout,
Her Pocket-Glass drew slyly out ;
And grew enamour'd with her Phiz,
As just the Counterpart of his.
She darted many a private Glance,
And freely made the first Advance.
Was of her Beauty grown so vain,
She doubted not to win the Swain,
Nothing she thought cou'd sooner gain him,
Than with her Wit to entertain him.
She ask'd about her Friends below ;
This meagre Fop, that batter'd Beau :
Whether some late departed Toasts
Had got Gallants among the Ghosts ?
If Chloe were a Sharper still,
As great as ever, at Quadrille ?

(The Ladies there must needs be Rooks,
For, Cards we know, are Pluto's Books)
If Florimel had found her Love,
For whom she hang'd herself above?
How oft a Week was kept a Ball
By Proserpine, at Pluto's Hall?
She fancied, those Elysian Shades
The sweetest Place for Masquerades:
How pleasant on the Banks of Styx,
To troll it in a Coach and Six!

What Pride a Female Heart enflames!
How endless are Ambition's Aims!
Cease, haughty Nymph; the Fates decree
Death must not be a Spouse for thee:
For, when by Chance the meagre Shade
Upon thy Hand his Finger laid;
Thy Hand as dry and cold as Lead;
His matrimonial Spirit fled,
He felt about his Heart a Damp,
That quite extinguish'd Cupid's Lamp;
Away the frighted Spectre scuds,
And leaves my Lady in the Suds.

On Stephen Duck, the Thresher, and Favourite Poet.

A QUIBBLING EPIGRAM.

Written in the Year 1730.

THE Thresher Duck, cou'd o'er the Q--- prevail,
The Proverb says, No Fence against a Flail.
From threshing Corn, he turns to thresh his Brains;
For which her M----y allows him Grains.
Though 'tis confess'd that those who ever saw
His Poems, think them all not worth a Straw!
Thrice happy Duck, employ'd in threshing
Stubble!
Thy Toil is lessen'd, and thy Profits double.

P A N E G Y R I C K.
O N T H E

D---n, in the Person of a Lady in the North.

Written in the Year 1730.

RESOLV'D my Gratitude to show,
Thrice Rev'rend D--n, for all I owe.
Too long I have my Thanks delay'd;
Your Favours left too long unpay'd;
But now in all our Sexes Name,
My artless Muse shall sing your Fame.

Indulgent you to Female Kind,
To all their weaker Sides are blind;
Nine more such Champions as the D--n,
Would soon restore our ancient Reign.
How well to win the Ladies Hearts,
You celebrate their Wit and Parts!
How have I felt my Spirits rais'd,
By you so oft, so highly prais'd!
Transform'd, by your convincing Tongue,
To witty, beautiful, and young.

I hope

I hope to quit that awkward Shame
Affected by each vulgar Dame,
To Modesty a weak Pretence;
And soon grow pert on Men of Sense,
To shew my Face with scornful Air,
Let others match it if they dare.

Impatient to be out of Debt,
O, may I never once forget
The Bard, who humbly deigns to chuse
Me for the Subject of his Muse.
Behind my Back, before my Nose,
He sounds my Praise in Verse and Prose.

My Heart with Emulation burns
To make you suitable Returns :
My Gratitude the World shall know :
And, see, the Printer's Boy below ;
Ye Hawkers all, your Voices lift ;
A Panegyrick on D--n S---
And then, to mend the Matter still ;
By Lady Anne of * Market-Hill.

I thus begin : My grateful Muse
Salutes the D-- in different Views ;
D--n, Butler, Usher, Jester, Tutor ;
† Robert and Darby's Coadjutor :

* A Village near Sir A--A---'s House, where the Author passed two Summers.

And as you in Commission sit,
To rule the Diary next to || Kit.

In each Capacity I mean
To sing your Praise. And first as D--n :
Envy must own, you understand your
Precedence, and support your Grandeur :
Nor of your Rank will bate an Ace,
Except to give D--n D--l Place.
In you such Dignity appears ;
So suited to your State and Years !
With Ladies what a strict Decorum !
With what Devotion you adore 'um !
Treat me with so much Complaisance,
As fits a Princess in Romance.
By your Example and Assistance,
The Felloes learn to know their Distance.
Sir A--r, since you set the Pattern,
No longer calls me Snipe and Slattern ;
Nor dares he, tho' he were a Duke,
Offend me with the least Rebuke,

Proceed we to your ¶ Preaching next ;
How nice you split the hardest Text !
How your superior Learning shines
Above our neighb'ring dull Divines !
At Beggar's Opera not so full Pit
Is seen, as when you mount our Pulpit.

Consider now your Conversation,
Regardful of your Age and Station,

|| My Lady's Footman.

¶ The Author preached but once while he was there.

You

You ne'er was known, by Passion stir'd,
To give the least offensive Word :
But still, whene'er you Silence break,
Watch every Syllable you speak :
Your Style so clear, and so concise,
We never ask to hear you twice.
But then, a Parson so genteel,
So nicely clad from Head to Heel ;
So fine a Gown, a Band so clean,
As well becomes St. P---k's D---
Such reverential Awe express,
That Cow-boys know you by your Dress !
Then, if our neighb'ring Friends come here,
How proud are we when you appear !
With such Address, and graceful Port,
As clearly shews you bred at Court !

Now raise your Spirits, Mr. D--n,
I lead you to a nobler Scene ;
When to the Vault you walk in State,
In Quality of † Butler's Mate ;
You, next to Dennis bear the Sway :
To you we often trust the Key :
Nor can he judge with all his Art
So well, what Bottle holds a Quart :
What Pints may best for Bottles pass,
Just to give ev'ry Man his Glass :
When proper to produce the best ;
And what may serve a common Guest.

† He sometimes used to direct the Butler.

With

With * Dennis you did ne'er combine,
 Not you to steal your Master's Wine;
 Except a Bottle now and then,
 To welcome Brother Serving-men;
 But, that is with a good Design,
 To drink Sir A----r's Health and mine:
 Your Master's Honour to maintain;
 And get the like Returns again.

Your § Usher's Post must next be handled:
 How bless'd am I by such a Man led!
 Under whose wise and careful Guardship,
 I now despise Fatigue and Hardship:
 Familiar grown to Dirt and Wet,
 Though daggled round, I scorn to fret:
 From you my Chamber-Damels learn
 My broken Hose to patch and darn.

Now, as a Jester, I accost you;
 Which never yet one Friend has lost you.
 You judge so nicely to a Hair,
 How far to go, and when to spare.
 By long Experience grown so wise,
 Of ev'ry Taste to know the Size,
 There's none so ignorant or weak
 † To take Offence at what you speak.

* The Butler.

Where'er

Where'er you joke, 'tis all a Case
Whether with Dermot, or His Grace ;
With Teague O' Murphy, or an Earl,
A Duchess or a Kitchen Girl.
With such Dexterity you fit
Their sev'ral Talents to your Wit.
That Moll the Chamber-maid can smoke,
And Gaghagan take ev'ry Joke.

I now become your humble Suitor,
To let me praise you as my || Tutor.
Poor I, a Savage bred and born,
By you instructed every Morn,
Already have improv'd so well,
That I have almost learnt to spell :
The Neighbours who come here to dine,
Admire to hear me speak so fine.
How enviously the Ladies look,
When they surprise me at my Book !
And, sure as they're alive at Night,
As soon as gone, will show their Spight :
Good Lord ! what can my Lady mean,
Conversing with that rusty D--n !
She's grown so nice, and so * penurious,
With Socrates and Epicurius.
How could she sit the live-long Day,
Yet never ask us once to play ?

|| In bad Weather the Author used to direct my Lady in her Reading.

* Ignorant Ladies often mistake the Word penurious for nice and dainty.

But,

But, I admire your Patience most;
 That when I'm duller than a Post,
 Nor can the plainest Word pronounce,
 You neither fume, nor fret, nor slounce;
 Are so indulgent, and so mild,
 As if I were a darling Child.
 So gentle is your whole Proceeding,
 That I could spend my Life in reading.

You merit new Employments daily:
 Our Thatcher, Ditcher, Gardiner, Bailly.
 And, to a Genius so extensive,
 No Work is grievous or offensive.
 Whether, your fruitful Fancy lies
 To make for Pigs convenient Styes,
 Or, ponder long, with anxious Thought,
 To banish Rats that haunt our Vault.
 Nor have you grumbled, rev'rend D--n,
 To keep our Poultry sweet and clean;
 To sweep the Mansion-house they dwell in;
 And cure the rank unfav'ry Smelling.

Now, enter as the Dairy Hand-Maid:
 Such charming † Butter never Man made.
 Let others with Fanatick Face,
 Talk of their Milk for Babes of Grace;
 From Tubs their snuffling Nonsense utter:
 Thy Milk shall make us Tubs of Butter.

† A Way of making Butter for Breakfast, by filling a Bottle with Cream, and baking it till the Butter comes.

-The

The Bishop with his Foot may burn it,
But with his Hand, the Dean can churn it,
How are the Servants overjoy'd
To see thy D-nship thus employ'd !
Instead of poring on a Book,
Providing Butter for the Cook !
Three Morning-Hours you toss and shake
The Bottle, till your Fingers ake :
Hard is the Toil, nor small the Art,
The Butter from the Whey to part ;
Behold, a frothy Substance rise ;
Be cautious, or your Bottle flies.
The Butter comes, our Fears are ceas'd ;
And out you squeeze an Ounce at least.

Your Rev'rence thus, with like Success,
Nor is your Skill, or Labour less,
When bent upon some smart Lampoon,
You toss and turn your Brain till Noon :
Which, in its Jamblings round the Skull,
Dilates and makes the Vessel full :
While nothing comes but Froth at first,
You think your giddy Head will burst :
But, squeezing out four Lines in Rhyme,
Are largely paid for all your Time.

But, you have rais'd your gen'rous Mind
To Works of more exalted Kind.
Palladio was not half so skill'd in
The Grandeur or the Art of Building.
Two Temples of magnifick Size,
Attract the curious Trav'ler's Eyes,

That

That might be envy'd by the Greeks ;
 Rais'd up by you in twenty Weeks :
 Here, gentle Goddess Cloacine
 Receives all Offerings at her Shrine.
 In sep'rate Cells the He's and She's Here pay their Vows with bended Knees :
 (For, 'tis profane when Sexes mingle,
 And ev'ry Nymph must enter single,
 And when she feels an inward Motion,
 Come fill'd with Rev'rence and Devotion.)
 The bashful Maid, to hide her Blush,
 Shall creep no more behind a Bush ;
 Here unobserv'd, she boldly goes,
 As who should say to pluck a Rose.

Ye who frequent this hallow'd Scene,
 Be not ungrateful to the D--n ;
 But dully ere you leave your Station,
 Offer to him a pure Libation ;
 Or of his own, or * Smedley's Lay,
 Or Billet-doux, or Lock of Hay :
 And, O ! may all who hither come,
 Return with unpolluted Thumb.

Yet when your lofty Domes I praise,
 I sigh to think of ancient Days.
 Permit me then to raise my Style,
 And sweetly moralize a while.

* See the Character hereafter.

Thet,

Thee, bounteous Goddess, Cloacine,
To Temples why do we confine ?
Forbid in open Air to breath ;
Why are thine Altars fix'd beneath ?

When Saturn rul'd the Skies alone,
That golden Age, to Gold unknown ;
This earthly Globe to thee assign'd,
Receiv'd the Gifts of all Mankind.
Ten thousand Altars smoking round,
Were built to thee, with Offerings crown'd :
And here thy daily Vot'ries plac'd
Their Sacrifice with Zeal and Haste :
The Margin of a purling Stream,
Sent up to thee a grateful Steam.
(Tho' sometimes thou wert pleas'd to wink,
If Naiads swept them from the Brink)
Or, where appointing Lovers rove,
The Shelter of a shady Grove ;
Or, offer'd in some flow'ry Vale,
Were wafted by a gentle Gale.
There, many a Flow'r absterfivè grew,
Thy fav'rite Flow'rs of yellow Hue ;
The Crocus and the Daffodil,
The Cowslip soft, and sweet Jonquil.

But, when at last usurping Jove,
Old Saturn from his Empire drove ;
Then Gluttony with greasy Paws,
Her Napkin pinn'd up to her Jaws,
With watry Chaps, and wagging Chin,
Brac'd like a Drum her oily Skin ;

Wedg'd in a spacious Elbow-Chair,
 And on her Plate a treble Share,
 As if she ne'er could have enough,
 Taught harmless Man to cram and stuff.
 She sent her Priest in Wooden Shoes,
 From haughty Gauls to make Ragoos.
 Instead of wholesome Bread and Cheese,
 To dress their Soupes and Fricassees;
 And, for our home-bred British Cheer,
 Botargo, Catsup, and Caveer.

This bloated Harpy sprung from Hell,
 Confin'd Thee, Goddess, to a Cell:
 Sprung from her Womb that impious Line,
 Contemners of thy Rites divine.
 First, lolling, Sloth in Woollen Cap,
 Taking her after-dinner Nap:
 Pale Dropsy with a fallow Face,
 Her Belly burst, and slow her Pace:
 And lordly Gout wrapt up in Furr:
 And wheezing Asthma, loth to stir:
 Voluptuous Ease, the Child of Wealth,
 Infecting thus our Hearts by Stealth;
 None seek thee now in open Air
 To thee no verdant Altars rear;
 But, in their Cells and Vaults obscene
 Present a Sacrifice unclean;
 From whence unsav'ry Vapours rose,
 Offensive to thy nicer Nose.
 Ah! who in our degenerate Days,
 As Nature prompts, his Offering pays?
 Here, Nature never Difference made
 Between the Sceptre and the Spade.

Ye Great Ones, why will ye disdain
 To pay your Tribute on the Plain?
 Why will you place in lazy Pride
 Your Altars near your Couches Side?
 * When from the homeliest Earthen Ware
 Are sent up Offerings more sincere,
 Than where the haughty Dukes locks
 Her Silver Vase in Cedar-Box.

Yet some Devotion still remains
 Among our harmless Northern Swains;
 Whose Offerings plac'd in golden Ranks,
 Adorn our crystal River's Banks:
 Nor seldom grace the flow'ry Downs,
 With spiral Tops, and Copples Crowns:
 Or gilding in a sunny Morn
 The humble Branches of a Thorn.
 (So Poets sing, with † golden Bough
 The Trojan Hero paid his Vow.)

Hither by luckless Error led,
 The crude Consistence oft I tread,
 Here, when my Shoes are out of case,
 Unweeting gild the tarnish'd Lace:
 Here, by the sacred Bramble ting'd,
 My Petticoat is doubly fring'd.

* Vide Virgil and Lucretius.

Be Witness for me, Nymph Divine,
 I never robb'd thee with Design :
 Nor, will the zealous Hannah pout
 To wash thy injur'd Off'rings out.

But, stop, ambitious Muse, in time,
 Nor dwell on Subjects too sublime.
 In vain on lofty Heels I tread,
 Aspiring to exalt my Head ;
 With Hoop expanded wide and light,
 In vain I tempt too high a Flight.

Me * Phæbus in a † Midnight Dream
 Accosting, said || Go shake your Cream.
 Be humbly minded, know your Post ;
 Sweeten your Tea, and watch your Toast.
 Thee best befits a lowly Style :
 Teach Dennis how to stir the Guile :
 With § Peggy Dixon thoughtful fit,
 Contriving for the Pot and Spit.
 Take down thy proudly swelling Sails,
 And rub thy Teeth, and pare thy Nails :
 At nicely carving shew thy Wit ;
 But ne'er presume to eat a Bit :
 Turn ev'ry Way thy watchful Eye ;
 And ev'ry Guest be sure to ply :

* Cynthia aurem vellit. Hor.

† Cum somnia vera. Idem.

§ Mrs. Dixon the House-keeper.

Let never at your Board be known
An empty Plate except your own.
* Be these thy Arts ; nor higher aim
Than what befits a rural Dame.

But, Clociana, Goddess bright,
Sleek——— claims her as his Right :

Shall sing the D[—]n in Smedley's Lines.

The Place of the DAMN'D.

Written in the Year 1731.

ALL Folks, who pretend to Religion and
Grace,
Allow there's a HELL, but dispute of the Place :
But if HELL may by Logical Rules be defin'd.
The Place of the Damn'd--- I'll tell you my Mind.

Wherever the Damn'd do chiefly abound,
Most certainly there is HELL to be found :

* Hæ tibi erunt artes. Virg.

† A very stupid, insolent, factious, deformed, conceited Parson, a vile Pretender to Poetry, preferred by the D. of Grafton for his Wit.

Damn'd Poets, damn'd Criticks, damn'd Block-heads, damn'd Knaves,

Damn'd Senators brib'd, damn'd prostitute
Slaves ;

Damn'd Lawyers and Judges, damn'd Lords
and damn'd Squires,

Damn'd Spies and Informers, damn'd Friends and damn'd Lyars ;

Damn'd Villains, corrupted in every Station ;

Damn'd Time-serving Priests all over the Nation.

And into the Bargain I'll readily give you

Damn'd ignorant Prelates, and Counsellors Privy.

Then let us no longer by Parsons be flamm'd,

For we know by these Marks the Place of the Damn'd :

And HELL to be sure is at Paris or Rome,

How happy for Us that it is not at Home !

A beautiful young Nymph going to Bed.

Written for the Honour of the Fair Sex,
in 1731.

CORRINA, Pride of Drury-Lane,
For whom no Shepherd sighs in vain :
Never did Covent-Garden boast
So bright a batter'd strolling Toast :

N

No Drunken Rake to pick her up,
No Cellar where on Tick to sup ;
Returning at the Midnight Hour,
Four Stories climbing to her Bow'r ;
Then seated on a three-legg'd Chair,
Takes off her artificial Hair.
Now, picking out a crystal Eye,
She wipes it clean, and lays it by.
Her Eye-brows from a Mouse's Hide,
Stuck on with Art on either Side,
Pulls off with Care, and first displays 'em,
Then in a Play-book smoothly lays 'em.
Now dex'trouslly her Plumpers draws,
That serve to fill her hollow Jaws.
Untwists a Wire, and from her Gums
A set of Teeth compleatly comes.
Pulls out the Rags contriv'd to prop
Her flabby Dugs, and down they drop.
Proceeding on, the lovely Goddess
Unlaces next her Steel-rib'd Bodice ;
Which by the Operator's Skill,
Press down the Lumps, the Hollows fill ;
Up goes her Hand, and off she slips
The Bolsters that supply her Hips.
With gentlest Touch, she next explores
Her Chancres, Issues, running Sores ;
Effects of many a sad Disaster,
And then to each applies a Plaster,
But must, before she goes to Bed,
Rub off the Daubs of White and Red,
And smooth the Furrows in her Front,
With greasy Paper stuck upon't.

She

She takes a Bolus ere she sleeps ;
 And then between two Blankets creeps.
 With Pains of Love tormented lies ;
 Or if she chance to close her Eyes,
 Of Bridewell and the Compter dreams,
 And feels the Lash and faintly screams ;
 Or, by a faithless Bully drawn,
 At some Hedge-Tavern lies in Pawn ;
 Or, to Jamaica seems transported,
 * Alone, and by no Planter courted ;
 Or, near Fleet-Ditch's oozy Brinks,
 Surrounded with a hundred Stinks,
 Be-lated, seems on watch to lie,
 And snap some Cully passing by ;
 Or, struck with Fear, her Fancy runs
 On Watchmen, Constables, and Duns,
 From whom she meets with frequent Rubs ;
 But, never from religious Clubs ;
 Whose Favour she is sure to find,
 Because she pays them all in Kind.

Corinna wakes. A dreadful Sight !
 Behold the Ruins of the Night !
 A wicked Rat her Plaster stole,
 Half eat, and dragg'd it to his Hole.
 The crystal Eye, alas ! was mist ;
 And Pufs had on her Plumpers p--st.
 A Pigeon pickt her Issue Peas :
 And Shock her Tresses fill'd with Fleas.

* ——— *Et longam incommitata videtur
 Ire viam* ——— Virg.

The

The Nymph, tho' in this mangled Plight,
 Must ev'ry Morn her Limbs unite.
 But how shall I describe her Arts
 To recollect the scatter'd Parts ?
 Or shew the Anguish, Toil, and Pain,
 Of gath'ring up herself again ?
 The bashful Muse will never bear
 In such a Scene to interfere.
Corinna in the Morning dizen'd,
 Who sees will spew ; who smells be poison'd.

STREPHON and CHLOE.

Written in the Year 1731.

OF Chloe all the Town has rung,
 By ev'ry Size of Poets sung :
 So beautiful a Nymph appears
 But once in twenty thousand Years :
 By Nature form'd with nicest Care,
 And, faultless to a single Hair.
 Her graceful Mien, her Shape, and Face,
 Confest her of no mortal Race :
 And then, so nice, and so genteel ;
 Such Cleanliness from Head to Heel :
 No Humours gross, or frowzy Steams,
 No noisome Whiffs, or sweaty Streams,
Before,

Before, behind, above, below,
 Could from her taintless Body flow.
 Would so discreetly things dispose,
 None ever saw her pluck a Rose.
 Her dearest Comrades never caught her
 Squat on her Hams, to make Maid's Water.
 You'd swear, that so divine a Creature
 Felt no Necessities of Nature.
 In Summer, had she walk'd the Town,
 Her Arm-pits would nor stain her Gown :
 At Country-Dances, not a Nose
 Could in the Dog-Days smell her Toes.
 Her Milk-white Hand, both Palms and Backs,
 Like Iv'ry dry, and soft as Wax.
 Her Hands, the softest ever felt,
 || Tho' cold would burn, tho' dry would melt.

Dear Venus, hide this wond'rous Maid,
 Nor let her loose to spoil your Trade.
 While she engrosses ev'ry Swain,
 You but o'er half the World can reign.
 Think what a Case all Men are now in,
 What ogling, sighing, toasting, vowing !
 What powder'd Wigs ! What Flames and Darts !
 What Hampers full of bleeding Hearts !
 What Sword-knots ! What poetick Strains !
 What Billet-doux, and clouded Canes !

But Strephon sigh'd so loud and strong,
 He blew a Settlement along :

|| Tho' deep, yet clear, &c. Denham.

And

And bravely drove his Rivals down
With Coach and Six; and House in Town.
The bashful Nymph no more withstands,
Because her dear Papa commands:
The charming Couple now unites :
Proceed we to the Marriage-Rites.

Imprimis, at the Temple-Porch
Stood Hymen with a flaming Torch :
The smiling Cyprian Goddess brings
Her infant Loves with purple Wings ;
And Pigeons billing, Sparrows treading,
Fair Emblems of a fruitful Wedding.
The Muses next in Order follow,
Conducted by their Squire, Apollo :
Then Mercury, with Silver Tongue,
And Hebe, Goddess ever young.
Behold the Bridegroom and his Bride
Walk Hand in Hand, and Side by Side ;
She by the tender Graces drest,
But, he by Mars, in Scarlet Vest.
The Nymph was cover'd with her * Flam-
meum,
And Phœbus sangth' † Epithalamium.
And, last, to make the Matter sure,
Dame Juno brought a Priest demure.
‖ Luna was absent, on Pretence
Her Time was not till Nine Months hence.

* A Veil which the Roman Brides cover'd themselves with, when they were going to be married.

The Rites perform'd, the Parson paid,
In State return'd the grand Parade ;
With loud Huzza's from all the Boys,
That, now the Pair must crown their Joys,

But still the hardest Part remains.
Strephon had long perplex'd his Brains,
How with so high a Nymph he might
Demean himself the Wedding-Night:
For, as he view'd his Person round,
Mere mortal Flesh was all he found :
His Hand; his Neck, his Mouth, and Feet
Were duly wash'd to keep them sweet ;
(With other Parts that shall be nameless,
The Ladies else might think me shameless.)
The Weather and his Love were hot ;
And should he struggle, I know what---
Why let it go, if I must tell it---
He'll sweat, and then the Nymph may smell it.
While she, a Goddess dy'd in Grain,
Was unsusceptible of Stain :
And, Venus-like, her fragrant Skin
Exhal'd Ambrosia from within.
Can such a Deity endure
A mortal human Touch impure ?
How did the humbled Swain detest
His prickled Beard, and hairy Breast !
His Night-cap border'd round with Lace
Could give no Softness to his Face.

Yet, if the Goddess could be kind,
What endless Raptures must he find !

And,

And, Goddesses have now and then
Come down to visit mortal Men :
To visit and to court them too :
A certain Goddess, God knows who,
(As in a Book he heard it read)
Took Col'nel Peleus to her Bed.
But, what if he should lose his Life
By vent'ring on his heav'nly Wife ?
For Strepson could remember well,
That once he heard a School-boy tell,
How Semele of mortal Race
By Thunder died in Jove's Embrace :
And what if daring Strepson dies
By Lightning shot from Chloe's Eyes ?

While these Reflections fill'd his Head,
The Bride was put in Form to Bed :
He follow'd, stript, and in he crept,
But, awfully his Distance kept.

Now, Ponder well ye Parents dear ;
Forbid your Daughters guzzling Beer ;
And, make them ev'ry Afternoon
Forbear their Tea, or drink it soon :
That, ere to Bed they venture up,
They may discharge it ev'ry Sup :
If not, they must in evil Plight
Be often forc'd to rise at Night.
Keep them to wholesome Food confin'd,
Nor let them taste what causes Wind ;
(Tis this || the Sage of Samos means,
Forbidding his Disciples Beans.)

|| A well known Precept of Pythagoras, not to eat Beans.

O ! think what Evils must ensue ;
 Miss Moll the Jade will burn it blue :
 And when she once has got the Art,
 She cannot help it for her Heart ;
 But, out it flies, ev'n when she meets
 Her Bridegroom in the Wedding-Sheets.

* Carminative and † Diuretick,
 Will damp all Passion Sympathetick :
 And, Love such Nicety requires,
 One Blast will put out all his Fires.
 Since Husbands get behind the Scene,
 The Wife should study to be clean ;
 Nor give the smallest Room to guess
 The Time when Wants of Nature press ;
 But, after Marriage, practise more
 Decorum than she did before ;
 To keep her Spouse deluded still,
 And make him fancy what she will.

In Bed we left the married Pair :
 'Tis Time to shew how Things went there.
Strephon, who had been often told
 That Fortune still assists the Bold,
 Resolv'd to make the first Attack ;
 But Chloe drove him fiercely back.
 How could a Nymph so chaste as Chloe,
 With Constitution cold and snowy,

* Medicines to break Wind.

Permit a brutish Man to touch her ?
Ev'n Lambs by Instinct fly the Butcher.
Resistance on the Wedding-Night
Is what our Maidens claim by Right :
And Chloe, 'tis by all agreed,
Was Maid in Thought, and Word, and Deed.
Yet, some assign a diff'rent Reason ;
That Strephon chose no proper Season.

Say, Fair ones, must I make a Pause ?
Or freely tell the secret Cause.

Twelve Cups of Tea, (with Grief I speak)
Had now constrain'd the Nymph to leak.
This Point must needs be settled first :
The Bride must either void or burst.
Then, see the dire Effect of Pease,
Think what can give the Cholick Ease.
The Nymph oppress'd before, behind,
As Ships are to's'd by Waves and Wind,
Steals out her Hand, by Nature led,
And brings a Vessel into Bed :
Fair Utensil, as smooth and white
As Chole's Skin, almost as bright.

Strephon who heard the fuming Rill
As from a mossy Cliff distill,
Cried out, Ye Gods ! what Sound is this ?
Can Chloe, heav'nly Chloe, ---- ?
But when he smelt a noisome Steam ;
Which oft attends that lukewarm Stream ;

(Salerno * both together joins
 As sov'reign Med'cines for the Loins)
 And, though contriv'd, we may suppose,
 To slip his Ears, yet struck his Nose:
 He found her, while the Scent increas'd,
 As mortal as himself at least.
 But, soon with like Occasions prest,
 He boldly sent his Hand in quest
 (Inspir'd with Courage from his Bride)
 To reach the Pot on t'other Side:
 And as he fill'd the reeking Vase,
 Let fly a Rouzer in her Face.

The little Cupids hov'ring round,
 (As Pictures prove) with Garlands crown'd,
 Abash'd at what they saw and heard,
 Flew off, and never more appear'd.

Adieu to ravishing Delights,
 High Raptures, and romantick Flights;
 To Goddesses so heav'nly sweet,
 Expiring Shepherds at their Feet;
 To Silver Meads, and shady Bow'rs,
 Drest up with Amaranthin Flow'rs.

How great a Change! how quickly made!
 They learn to call a Spade a Spade.
 They soon from all Constraint are freed;
 Can see each other do their Need.

* Vide Schol. Salern. Rules of Health, written by the School of Salernum.

Mingere cum bumbis res est saluberrima lumbis.

On

On Box of Cedar sits the Wife,
And makes it warm for Dearest Life.
And by the beastly way of thinking,
Find great Society in stinking.
Now, Strephon daily entertains
His Chloe in the homli'st Strains ;
And Chloe more experienc'd grown,
With Int'rest pays him back his own.
No Maid at Court is less a sham'd,
Howe'er for selling Bargains fam'd,
Than she, to name her Parts behind,
Or, when a-bed to let out Wind.

Fair Decency, celestial Maid,
Descend from Heav'n to Beauty's Aid ;
Though Beauty may beget Desire,
'Tis thou must fan the Lover's Fire :
For Beauty, like supreme Dominion,
Is best supported by Opinion :
If Decency brings no Supplies,
Opinion fails, and Beauty dies.

To see some radiant Nymph appear
In all her glitt'ring Birth-day Gear,
You think some Goddess from the Sky
Descended, ready cut and dry :
But, ere you sell yourself to Laughter,
Consider well what may come after ;
For fine Ideas vanish fast,
While all the gross and filthy last.

O Strephon, ere that fatal Day
When Chloe stole your Heart away,

Had you but through a cranny spied
On House of Ease your future Bride,
In all the Postures of her Face,
Which Nature gives in such a Case ;
Distortions, Groanings, Strainings, Heavings :
'Twere better you had lickt her Leavings,
Than from Experience find too late
Your Goddess grown a filthy Mate.
Your Fancy then had always dwelt
On what you saw, and what you smelt ;
Would still the same Ideas give ye,
As when you spy'd her on the Privy.
And, 'spight of Chloe's Charms divine,
Your Heart had been as whole as mine.

Authorities, both old and recent,
Direct that Women must be decent ;
And, from the Spouse each Blemish hide
More than from all the World beside.

Unjustly all our Nymphs complain,
Their Empire holds so short a Reign ;
Is after Marriage lost so soon,
It hardly holds the Honey-moon :
For, if they keep not what they caught,
It is entirely their own Fault,
They take Possession of the Crown,
And then throw all their Weapons down :
Though by the Politicians Scheme,
Whoe'er arrives at Pow'r supreme,
Those Arts by which at first they gain it
They still must practise to maintain it.

What

What various Ways our Females take
To pass for Wits before a Rake !
And in the fruitless Search pursue
All other Methods but the true.

Some try to learn polite Behaviour,
By reading Books against their Saviour :
Some call it witty to reflect
On ev'ry natural Defect :
Some shew they never want explaining,
To comprehend a double Meaning.
But, sure a Tell-tale out of School
Is of all Wits the greatest Fool :
Whose rank Imagination fills
Her Heart, and from her Lips distils ;
You'd think she utter'd from behind,
Or at her Mouth was breaking Wind.

Why is a handsome Wife ador'd
By every Coxcomb but her Lord ?
From yonder Puppet-Man inquire,
Who wisely hides his Wood and Wire ;
Shews Sheba's Queen completely drest,
And Solomon in Royal Vest ;
But, view them litter'd on the Floor,
Or strung on Pegs behind the Door ;
Punch is exactly of a Piece
With Lorrain's Duke, and Prince of Greece,

A prudent Builder should forecast
How long the Stuff is like to last ;
And carefully observe the Ground,
To build on some Foundation sound :

What

What House, when its Materials crumble,
Must not inevitably tumble ?
What Edifice can long endure,
Rais'd on a Basis unsecure ?
Rash Mortals, ere you take a Wife,
Contrive your Pile to last for Life :
Since Beauty scarce endures a Day,
And Youth so swiftly glides away ;
Why will you make yourself a Bubble
To build on Sand, with Hay and Stubble ?

On Sense and Wit your Passion found,
By Decency cemented round ;
Let Prudence with good Nature strive,
To keep Esteem and Love alive.
Then come old Age whene'er it will,
Your Friendship shall continue still :
And thus a mutual gentle Fire,
Shall never but with Life expire.

A P O L L O :

O R

A P R O B L E M solved.

Written in the Year 1731.

A P O L L O, God of Light and Wit,
Could Verse inspire, but seldom writ ;
Refin'd all Metals with his Looks,
As well as Chemists by their Books :
As handsome as my Lady's Page ;
Sweet Five and Twenty was his Age.
His Wig was made of sunny Rays,
He crown'd his youthful Head with Bays :
Not all the Court of Heav'n could shew
So nice and so complete a Beau.
No Hair upon his first Appearance,
With Twenty Thousand Pounds a Year Rents.
E'er drove before he sold his Land,
So fine a Coach along the Strand ;
The Spokes, we are by Ovid told,
Were Silver, and the Axle Gold,
(I own, 'twas but a Coach and Four,
For Jupiter allows no more.)

Yet, with his Beauty, Wealth and Parts,
Enough to win Ten Thousand Hearts ;

No

No vulgar Deity above
Was so unfortunate in Love.

Three weighty Causes were assign'd,
That mov'd the Nymphs to be unkind.
Nine Muses always waiting round him,
He left them Virgins as he found 'em.
His Singing was another Fault ;
For he could reach to B in alt :
And, by the Sentiments of Pliny,
Such Singers are like Nicolini.
At last, the Point was fully clear'd ;
In short ; Apollo had no Beard.

CASSINUS and PETER.

A Tragical ELEGY.

Written in the Year 1731 .

TWO College Sophs of Cambridge Growth,
Both special Wits, and Lovers both,
Conferring, as they us'd to meet,
On Love, and Books, in Rapture sweet ;
(MUSE, find me Names to fit my Metre, Cassius this, and t'other Peter)
Friend Peter to Cassius goes,
To chat a while and warm his Nose :

But,

But, such a Sight was never seen,
The Lad lay swallow'd up in Spleen.
He seem'd as just crept out of Bed ;
One greasy Stocking round his Head,
The other he sat down to darn
With Threads of different colour'd Yarn.
His Breeches torn, exposing wide
A ragged Shirt, and tawny Hile,
Scorch'd were his Shins, his Legs were bare,
But, well embrown'd with Dirt and Hair.
A Rug was o'er his Shoulders thrown ;
A Rug ; for Night-gown he had none.
His Jordan stood in Manner fitting
Between his Legs, to spew or spit in.
His ancient Pipe in Sable dy'd,
And half unsmoak'd lay by his Side.

Him thus accoutred Peter found,
With Eyes in Smoak and Weeping drown'd :
The Leavings of his last Night's Pot
On Embers plac'd, to drink it hot.

Why, Cassy, thou wilt doze thy Pate :
What makes thee lie a-bed so late ?
The Finch, the Linnet, and the Thrush,
Their Mattins chant in ev'ry Bush :
And I have heard thee oft salute
Aurora with thy early Flute.
Heav'n send thou hast not got the Hyps,
How? Not a Word come from thy Lips !

Then gave him some familiar Thumps,
A College Joke, to cure the Dumps.

The

The Swain at last, with Grief oppress'd,
Cry'd, Celia ! thrice, and sigh'd the rest.

Dear Cassy, though to ask I dread,
Yet ask I must, Is Celia dead ?

How happy I, were that the worst ?
But I was fated to be curst.

Come, tell us, has she plaid the Whore ?

Oh Peter, would it were no more !

Why, plague confound her sandy Locks :
Say, has the small or greater Pox
Sunk down her Nose, or seam'd her Face ?
Be easy, 'tis a common Case.

O Peter ! Beauty's but a Varnish,
Which Time and Accidents will tarnish :
But Celia has contriv'd to-blast
Those Beauties that might ever last.
Nor can Imagination guess,
Nor Eloquence Divine express,
How that ungrateful charming Maid
My purest Passion has betray'd.
Conceive the most invenom'd Dart,
To pierce an injur'd Lover's Heart.

Why, hang her ; though she seem'd so coy,
I know she loves the Barber's Boy.

Friend

Friend Peter, this I could excuse ;
 For, ev'ry Nymph has leave to chuse ;
 Nor have I reason to complain,
 She loves a more deserving Swain.
 But, oh ! how ill hast thou divin'd
 A Crime that shocks all human Kind ;
 A Deed unknown to Female Race,
 At which the Sun should hide his Face ;
 Advice in vain you would apply ———
 Then leave me to despair and die.
 Ye kind Arcadians, on my Urn
 These Elegies and Sonnets burn ;
 And on the Marble grave these Rhymes
 A Monument to After-times :
 “ Here Cassy lies, by Cælia slain,
 “ And dying, never told his Pain.

Vain empty World, farewell, But, hark,
 The loud Cerberian triple Bark.
 And there ——— behold Alecto stand,
 A Whip of Scorpions in her Hand.
 Lo, Charon from his leaky Wherry,
 Beck'ning to waft me o'er the Ferry.
 I come, I come, ---- Medusa ! see,
 Her Serpents his direct at me.
 Begone ; unhand me, hellish Fry :
 † Avaunt. ---- ye cannot say 'tis I.

Dear Cassy, thou must purge and bleed ;
 I fear thou wilt be mad indeed.
 But now, by Friendship's sacred Laws,
 I here conjure thee, tell the Cause ;

And Cælia's horrid Fact relate :
Thy Friend would gladly share thy Fate.

To force it out, my Heart must rend :
Yet, when conjur'd by such a Friend---
Think, Peter, how my Soul is rack'd,
These Eyes, these Eyes beheld the Fact.
Now bend thine Ear, since out it must ;
But, when thou seest me laid in Dust,
The Secret thou shalt ne'er impart,
Not to the Nymph that keeps thy Heart
(How would her Virgin Soul bemoan,
A Crime to all her Sex unknown !)
Nor whisper to the tattling Reeds,
The blackest of all Female Deeds ;
Nor blab it on the lonely Rocks,
Where Ecbo sits, and list'ning, mocks ;
Nor let the Zephyrs' treach'rous Gale
Through Cambridge waft the direful Tale :
Nor to the chatt'ring feather'd Race
Discover Cælia's foul Disgrace.
But, if you fail, my Spectre dread
Attending nightly round your Bed :
And yet, I dare confide in you ;
So take my Secret, and adieu.

Nor wonder how I lost my Wits :
Oh ! Cælia, Cælia, Cælia, sh---

JUDAS.

J U D A S.

Written in the Year 1731.

BY the just Vengeance of incens'd Skies;
Poor Bishop Judas, late repenting dies.
The Jews engag'd him in a paltry Bribe,
Amounting hardly to a Crown a Tribe;
Which, tho' his Conscience forc'd him to restore,
(And, Parsons tell us, no Man can do more).
Yet, through Despair, of God and Man accurst,
He lost his Bishoprick, and hang'd or burst.
Those former Ages differ'd much from this;
Judas betray'd his Master with a Kiss:
But, some have kiss'd the Gospel fifty times,
Whose Perjury's the least of all their Crimes:
Some who can perjure tho' a two Inch Board,
Yet keep their Bishopricks, and 'scape the Cord.
Like Hemp, which by a skilful Spinster drawn
To slender Threads, may sometimes pass for Lawn.

As ancient Judas by Transgression fell,
And burst asunder ere he went to Hell;
So, could we see a Set of new Ischariots,
Come headlong tumbling from their mitred
Chariots,

Each modern Judas perish like the first;
 Drop from the Tree with all his Bowels burst;
 Who could forbear, that view'd each guilty
 Face,
 To cry; Lo, Judas, gone to his own Place:
His Habitation let all Men forsake,
And let his Bishoprick another take?

On Mr. P——y's being put out of the Council.

Written in the Year 1730.

SIR R---- weary'd by Will P-----y's Teaz-ings,
 Who interrupted him in all his Leafings,
 Resolv'd that Will and he should meet no more;
 Full in his Face Bob shuts the Council Door:
 Nor lets him sit as Justice on the Bench,
 To punish Thieves, or lash a Suburb Wench.
 Yet still St. Stephen's Chapel open lies,
 For Will to enter---What shall I advise?
 E'en quit the HOUSE, for thou too long hast
 sat in't,
 Produce at last thy dormant Ducal Patent;
 There, near thy Master's Throne in Shelter
 plac'd,
 Let Will unheard by thee his Thunder waste,
 Yet

Yet still I fear your Work is done but Half :
For while he keeps his Pen, you are not safe.

Hear an old Fable, and a dull one too :
Yet bears a Moral when apply'd to you.

A Hare had long escap'd pursuing Hounds,
By often shifting into distant Grounds ;
Till finding all his Artifices vain,
To save his Life, he leap'd into the Main.
But there, alas ! he could no Safety find,
A Pack of Dog-fish had him in the Wind.
He scours away ; and to avoid the Foe,
Descends for Shelter to the Shades below,
There Cerberus lay watching in his Den,
(He had not seen a Hare the Lord knows
when)

Out bounc'd the Mastiff of the triple Head ;
Away the Hare with double Swiftneſs fled.
Hunted from Earth, and Sea, and Hell, he flies (Fear lent him Wings) for Safety to the Skies.
How was the fearful Animal diſtreſt !
Behold a Foe more fierce than all the reſt :
Syrius, the ſwifteſt of the heav'nly Pack,
Fail'd but an Inch to ſeize him by the Back.
He fled to Earth, but firſt it coſt him dear,
He left his Scut behind, and Half an Ear.

Thus was the Hare purſu'd, tho' free from Guilt ;

Thus B---- ſhalt thou be mawl'd, fly where thou wilt :

198. Poems on several Occasions.

Then honest R----n, of thy Corps beware :
Thou art not half so nimble as a Hare :
Too pond'rous is thy Bulk to mount the Sky ;
Nor can you go to Hell before you die.
So keen thy Hunters, and thy Scent so strong,
Thy Turns and Doublings cannot save thee long.

The Author having been told by an intimate Friend, that the Duke of Queensberry had employed Mr. Gay to inspect the Accounts and Management of his Grace's Receivers and Stewards, (which, however, proved afterwards to be a Mistake) writ to Mr. Gay the following Poem,

In the Year 1731.

HOW could you, Gay, disgrace the Muses
Train,
To serve a tasteless C---t twelve Years in vain !
Fain would I think our Female Friend * sincere,
Till B---, the Poet's Foe, possess her Ear.
Did Female Virtue e'er so high ascend,
To lose an Inch of Favour for a Friend ?

Say, had the Court no better Place to chuse
For thee, than make a Dry-nurse of thy Muse ?

* Mrs. Howard, since Countess of Suffolk.

How cheaply had thy Liberty been sold,
To † 'quire a Royal Girl of two Years old !
In Leading-Strings her infant Steps to guide,
Or, with her Go-Cart amble Side by Side.

But Princely Douglas ‖, and his glorious Dame

Advanc'd thy Fortune, and preserv'd thy Fame.
Nor, will your noble Gifts be misapply'd,
When o'er your Patron's Treasure you preside ;
The World shall own his Choice was wise and just,
For, Sons of Phæbus never break their Trust.

Not Love of Beauty less the Heart inflames
Of Guardian Eunuchs to the Sultan's Dames ;
Their Passions not more impotent and cold,
Than those of Poets to the Lust of Gold.

With Pæon's purest Fire his Fav'rites glow,
The Dregs will serve to ripen Ore below ;
His meanest Work : For, had he thought it fit,
That Wealth should be the Appenage of Wit,
The God of Light could ne'er have been so blind,

To deal it to the worst of Human-kind.

But let me now, for I can do it well,
Your Conduct in this new Employ foretel.

† See Mr. Gay's Letter on this Subject, in
Mr. Pope's Works, Vol. II. Let. 26.

‖ The Duke of Queensberry.

And

And first: To make my Observation right,
 I place a ST———N full before my Sight,
 A bloated M——R in all his Geer,
 With shameless Visage and perfidious Leer;
 Two Rows of Teeth arm each devouring Jaw;
 And, Ostrich-like, his all-digesting Maw.
 My Fancy drags this Monster to my View,
 To shew the World his chief Reverse in you.
 Of loud unmeaning Sounds a rapid Flood Rolls from his Mouth in plenteous Streams of Mud;
 With these, the Ct and Ste-hse he plies,
 Made up of Noise, and Impudence, and Lies.

Now, let me shew how B--- and you agree,
 You serve a † Potent Prince, as well as He.
 The Ducal Coffers, trusted to your Charge,
 Your honest Care may fill; perhaps enlarge.
 His Vassals easy, and the Owner blest,
 They pay a Trifle, and enjoy the rest.
 Not so a Nation's Revenues are paid:
 The Servant's Faults are on the Master laid.
 The People with a Sigh their Taxes bring;
 And cursing B--- forget to bless the———

Next, hearken GAY, to what thy Charge requires,
 With Servants, Tenants, and the neighb'ring
 'Squires.

Let

Let all! Domesticks feel your gentle Sway,
 Nor bribe, insult, nor flatter, nor betray.
 Let due Reward to Merit be allow'd ;
 Nor, with your KINDRED half the Palace crowd.

Nor, think yourself secure in doing wrong,
 By telling Noses with a Party strong.

Be rich ; but of your Wealth make no Parade ;

At least, before your Master's Debts are paid.
 Nor, in a Palace, built with Charge immense,
Presume to treat him at his own Expence.

Each Farmer in the Neighbourhood can count
 To what your lawful Perquisites amount.

The Tenants poor, the Hardness of the Times,
 Are ill Excuses for a Servant's Crimes.

With Int'rest, and a Premium paid beside,

The Master's pressing Wants must be supply'd ;

With hasty Zeal, behold the Steward come,

By his own Credit to advance the Sum ;

Who, while th' unrighteous Mammon is his Friend,

May well conclude his Pow'r will never end.

A faithful Treas'rer ! What could he do more ?

He lends my Lord, what was my Lord's before.

The Law so strictly guards the Monarch's
 Health,

That no Physician dares prescribe by Stealth :

The Council sit ; approve the Doctors Skill ;

And give Advice before he gives the Pill.

But,

But, the State Emp'ric acts a safer Part ;
And while he poysens, wins the Royal Heart.

But how can I describe the rav'nous Breed ?
Then let me now by Negatives proceed.

Suppose your Lord a trusty Servant send,
On weighty Bus'ness, to some neighb'ring
Friend :
Presume not, Gay, unless you serve a Drone,
To countermand his Orders by your own.

Should some imperious Neighbour sink the Boats,
And drain the Fish-ponds, while your Master
doats ;
Shall he upon the Ducal Rights intrench,
Because he brib'd you with a Brace of Tench ?

Nor, from your Lord his bad Condition hide,
To feed his Luxury, or sooth his Pride,
Nor, at an under Rate his Timber sell,
And, with an Oath, assure him ; all is well.
Nor, swear it rotten || ; and with humble Airs,
Request it of him to compleat your Stairs.
Nor, when a Mortgage lies on half his Lands,
Come with a Purse of Guineas in your Hands.

§ These Lines are thought to allude to some Story concerning a great Quantity of Mahogany declared rotten, and then applied by some body to Wainscots, Stairs, Door-Cases, &c.

Have

Have Peter Waters always in your Mind ;
That Rogue of genuine ministerial Kind,
Can half the Peerage by his Arts bewitch ;
Starve twenty Lords to make one Scoundrel rich :

And when he gravely has undone a Score,
Is humbly pray'd to ruin twenty more *.

A dext'rous Steward, when his Tricks are found,
Hush-money sends to all the Neighbours round ;
His Master, unsuspecting of his Pranks,
Pays all the Cost, and gives the Villain Thanks.
And should a Friend attempt to set him right,
His Lordship would impute it all to Spight :
Would love his Fav'rite better than before,
And trust his Honesty just so much more.
Thus Families like Realms, with equal Fate,
Are sunk by premier Ministers of State.

Some, when an Heir succeeds, go boldly on,
And, as they robb'd the Father, rob the Son.
A Knave, who deep embroils his Lord's Affairs,
Will soon grow necessary to his Heirs.
His Policy consists in setting Traps,
In finding Ways and Means, and stopping Gaps :

* He had practised this Trade for many Years with Success.

He

He knows a Thousand Tricks, whene'er he
 please,
 Though not to cure, yet palliate each Disease.
 In either Case, an equal Chance is run;
 For, keep, or turn him out, my Lord's undone.
 You want a Hand to clear a filthy Sink;
 No cleanly Workman can endure the Stink.
 A strong Dilemma in a desperate Case!
 To act with Infamy, or quit the Place.

A Bungler thus, who scarce the Nail can hit,
 With driving wrong will make the Pannel
 split:
 Nor dares an abler Workman undertake
 To drive a second, lest the whole should break.

In ev'ry Court the Parallel will hold;
 And Kings, like private Folks, are bought and sold.
 The ruling Rogue who dreads to be cashier'd,
 Contrives, as he is bated, to be fear'd:
Confounds Accounts, perplexes all Affairs;
 For, Vengeance more embroils, than Skill repairs.
 So, Robbers (and their Ends are just the same)
 To 'scape Enquiries, leave the House in Flame.

I knew a brazen Minister of State,
 Who bore for twice ten Years the publick Hate.

In ev'ry Mouth the Question most in Vogue
Was, When will THEY turn out this odious Rogue?

A Juncture happen'd in his highest Pride :
While HE went robbing on, old Master died.
We thought, there now remain'd no Room to doubt ;

His Work is done, the Minister must out.

The Court invited more than One, or Two ;
Will you, Sir S---r ? or, will you, or you ?
But, not a Soul his Office durst accept ;
The subtle Knave had all the Plunder swept.

And such was then the Temper of the Times,
He ow'd his Preservation to his Crimes.
The Candidates observ'd his dirty Paws,
Nor found it difficult to guess the Cause :
But when they smelt such foul Corruptions round him ;
Away they fled, and left him as they found
him.

Thus, when a greedy Sloven once has thrown
His Snot into the Mess ; 'tis all his own.

The following Poem was first printed in Fog's Journal of the 17th of Sept. 1733. The Subject of it is now over; but our Author's known Zeal against that Project made it be generally supposed to be his. It was occasioned by the B--s of Ireland endeavouring to get an Act to divide the Church Livings; which Bill was rejected by the Irish House of Commons.

Written in the Year 1731.

OLD Latimer preaching did fairly describe
A B----- who rul'd all the rest of his Tribe;
And who is this B----? and where does he dwell?
Why truly 'tis Satan, Arch-b--- of Hell!
And HE was a Primate, and HE wore a Mitre
Surrounded with Jewels of Sulphur and Nitre.
How nearly this B--- our B---s resembles!
But he has the Odds, who believes and who trembles.
Cou'd you see his grim Grace, for a Pound to a Penny,
You'd swear it must be the Baboon of K--y:
Poor Satan will think the Comparison odious:
I wish I could find him out one more commodious.

But

But this I am sure, the Most rev'rend old Dragon,

Has got on the Bench many B---s suffragan;
And all Men believe he presides there incog.
To give them by Turns an invisible Jog.

Our B---s, puffed up with Wealth and with Pride,
To Hell on the Backs of the Clergy would ride.

They mounted, and labour'd with Whip and with Spur,

In vain---for the Devil a Parson wou'd stir.

So the Commons unhors'd them, and this was their Doom,

On their Crossiers to ride, like a Witch on a Broom.

Tho' they gallop'd so fast, on the Road you may find 'em,

And have left us but three out of twenty behind
'em.

Lord B---'s good Grace, Lord ———, and Lord H ---,

In spite of the Devil would still be untoward.
They came of good Kindred, and could not endure,

Their former Companions should beg at their Door.

When CHRIST was betray'd to Pilate the Prætor,

Of a Dozen Apostles but one prov'd a Traytor:

T a

One

One Traytor alone, and faithful Eleven ;
But we can afford you Six Traytors in Seven.

What a Clutter with Clippings, Dividings, and Cleavings !

And the Clergy, forsooth, must take up with their Leavings.

If making Divisions was all their Intent,
They've done it, we thank 'em, but not as they meant ;

And so may such B---s for ever divide,
That no honest Heathen would be on their Side.

How should we rejoice, if, like Judas the first,
Those Splitters of Parsons in sunder should burst ?

Now hear an Allusion :---- A Mitre, you know,

Is divided above, but united below.

If this you consider, our Emblem is right ;

The B---s divide, but the Clergy unite.

Should the Bottom be split, our B---s would dread

That the Mitre wou'd never stick fast on their Head,

And yet they have learnt the chief Art of a Sov'reign,

As Machiavel taught 'em ; divide and ye govern.

But, Courage, my L--ds ; tho' it cannot be said

That one Cloven Tongue ever sat on your Head ;
I'll

I'll hold you a Groat, and I wish I cou'd see't,
If your Stockings were off, you cou'd shew cloven Feet.

But hold, cry the B---s; and give us fair
Play;

Before you condemn us, hear what we can say.
What truer Affections cou'd ever be shown
Than saving your Souls, by damning our own?
And have we not practis'd all Methods to gain
you;

With the Tythe of the Tythe of the Tythe to maintain you;

Provided a Fund for building your Spittles:
You are only to live four Years without Vittles.
Content, my good L--ds; but let us change
Hands;

First take you our Tythes, and give us your Lands.

So GOD bless the Church, and three of our Mitres;

And GOD bless the Commons for Biting the Biters.

To the Reverend

Dr. SWIFT, D. S. P. D.

With a Present of a Paper-Book, finely bound, on his Birth-Day, November 30, 1732.

By the Right Hon. JOHN Earl of ORRERY.

TO thee, dear SWIFT, these spotless Leaves
I send;
Small is the Present, but sincere the Friend.
Think not so poor a Book below thy Care;
Who knows the Price that thou canst make it bear?
Tho' tawdry now, and, like Tyrilla's Face,
The specious Front shines out with borrow'd
Grace;
Tho' Paste-boards glitt'ring like a tinsel'd
Coat,
A Rosa Tabula within denote:
Yet if a venal and corrupted Age,
And modern Vices should provoke thy Rage;
If warn'd once more by their impending Fate,
A sinking Country and an injur'd State,
Thy great Assistance should again demand,
And call forth Reason to defend the Land;
Then

Then shall we view these Sheets with glad Surprize,
Inspir'd with Thought, and speaking to our Eyes :

Each vacant Space shall then, enrich'd, dispense
True Force of Eloquence, and nervous Sense ;
Inform the Judgment, animate the Heart,
And sacred Rules of Policy impart.

The spangled Cov'ring, bright with splendid Ore,
Shall cheat the Sight with empty Show no more :

But lead us inward to those golden Mines,
Where all thy Soul in native Lustre shines.
So when the Eye surveys some lovely Fair,
With Bloom of Beauty grac'd, with Shape and Air,

How is the Rapture heighten'd, when we find
Her Form excell'd by her celestial Mind.

Verses left with a Silver Standish, on the Dean of St. Patrick's Desk on his Birth-Day.

HITHER from Mexico I came,
To serve a proud Iernian Dame :
Was long submitted to her Will,
At length she lost me at Quadrille.

Thro'

Thro' various Shapes I often pass'd,
Still hoping to have Rest at last :
And still ambitious to obtain
Admittance to the Patriot Dean ;
And sometimes got within his Door,
* But soon turn'd out to serve the Poor ;
Not strolling Idleness to aid,
But honest Industry decay'd.
At length an Artist purchas'd me,
And wrought me to the Shape you see.

This done, to Hermes I apply'd :
“ O Hermes, gratify my Pride ;
“ Be it my Fate to serve a Sage,
“ The greatest Genius of his Age ;
“ That matchless Pen let me supply,
“ Whose living Lines will never die.

I grant your Suit, the God reply'd,
And here he left me to reside.

* Alluding to 500 l. a Year lent by the Dean, without Interest, to poor Tradesmen.

Verses written by Dr. SWIFT, occasioned by the foregoing Presents.

A Paper Book is sent by Boyle,
Too neatly gilt for me to soil.
Delany sends a Silver Standish,
When I no more a Pen can brandish.
Let both around my Tomb be plac'd,
As Trophies of a Muse deceas'd:
And let the friendly Lines they writ,
In Praise of long departed Wit,
Be grav'd on either Side in Columns,
More to my Praise than all my Volumes;
To burst with Envy, Spite, and Rage,
The Vandals of the present Age.

T H E

Hardship put upon the LADIES.

Written in the Year 1733.

POOR Ladies! tho' their Bus'ness be to play,
 'Tis hard they must be busy Night and Day :
 Why should they want the Privilege of Men,
 Nor take some small Diversions now and then ?
 Had Women been the Makers of our Laws ;
 (And why they were not, I can see no Cause ;)
 The Men should slave at Cards from Morn to Night ;
 And Female Pleasures be to read and write.

A LOVE SONG

In the MODERN Taste.

Written in the Year 1733.

I.

Fluttering spread thy purple Pinions,
 Gentle Cupid, o'er my Heart ;
 I a Slave in thy Dominions ;
 Nature must give Way to Art.

II. Mild

II.

Mild Arcadians, ever blooming,
Nightly nodding o'er your Flocks,
See my weary Days consuming,
All beneath yon flow'ry Rocks.

III.

Thus the Cyprian Goddess weeping,
Mourn'd Adonis, darling Youth :
Him the Boar in Silence creeping,
Gor'd with unrelenting Tooth.

IV.

Cynthia, tune harmonious Numbers ;
Fair Discretion, string the Lyre ;
Sooth my ever-waking Slumbers :
Bright Apollo, lend thy Choir.

V.

Gloomy Pluto, King of Terrors,
Arm'd in adamantine Chains,
Lead me to the Crystal Mirrors,
Wat'ring soft Elysian Plains.

VI.

Mournful Cypress, verdant Willow,
Gilding my Aurelia's Brows,
Morpheus hov'ring o'er my Pillow,
Hear me pay my dying Vows.

VII.

Melancholy smooth Meander,
Swiftly purling in a Round,
On thy Margin Lovers wander,
With thy flow'ry Chaplets crown'd.

VIII.

Thus when Philomela drooping,
Softly seeks her silent Mate,
See the Bird of Juno stooping ;
Melody resigns to Fate.

On the Words Brother-Protestants, and Fellow-Christians, so familiarly used by the Advocates for the Repeal of the Test Act in Ireland.

Written in the Year 1733.

AN Inundation, says the Fable,
O'erflow'd a Farmer's Barn and Stable;
Whole Ricks of Hay and Stacks of Corn
Were down the sudden Current born;
While Things of heterogeneous Kind
Together float with Tide and Wind;
The gen'rous Wheat forgot its Pride,
And sail'd with Litter Side by Side;
Uniting all, to shew their Amity,
As in a general Calamity.
A Ball of new-dropt Horse's Dung,
Mingling with Apples in the Throng,
Said to the Pippin, plump, and prim,
See, Brother, how we Apples swim.

Thus Lamb, renown'd for cutting Corns,
An offer'd Fee from Radcliff scorns:
*Not for the World--we Doctors, Brother,
Must take no Fees of one another.*
Thus to a Dean some Curate Sloven Subscribes, Dear Sir, your Brother loving.
Thus all the Footmen, Shoe-boys, Porters,
About St. James's, cry, We Courtiers.

Thus H---ce in the House will prate,
Sir, we the Ministers of State.

Thus at the Bar that * * * * *

Tho' Half a Crown o'erpays his Sweat's
 Worth;

Who knows in Law, nor Text, nor Mar-
 gent,

Calls Singleton his Brother Serjeant.

And thus Fanatic Saints, tho' neither in Doctrine nor Discipline our Brethren,

Are Brother Protestants and Christians,

As much as Hebrews and Philistines:

But in no other Sense, than Nature

Has made a Rat our Fellow-Creature.

Lice from your Body suck their Food;

But is a Louse your Flesh and Blood?

Tho' born of human Filth and Sweat, it

May as well be said Man did beget it,

But Maggots in your Nose and Chin

As well may claim you for their Kin.

Yet Criticks may object, Why not?

Since Lice are Brethren to a S---t;

Which made our Swarm of Sects determine

Employments for their Brother Vermin.

But be they English, Irish, Scottish,

What Protestant can be so sottish,

While o'er the Church these Clouds are gath'ring,

To call a Swarm of Lice his Brethren?

As Moses, by Divine Advice,

In Egypt turn'd the Dust to Lice;

And

And as our Sects, by all Descriptions,
Have Hearts more harden'd than Egyptians ;
As from the trodden Dust they spring,
And, turn'd to Lice, infest the King :
For Pity's Sake it would be just,
A Rod should turn them back to Dust.

Let Folks in high or holy Stations,
Be proud of owning such Relations ;
Let Courtiers hug them in their Bosom,
As if they were afraid to lose 'em :
While I, with humble Job, had rather,
Say to Corruption---- Thou'rt my Father.
For he that has so little Wit,
To nourish Vermin, may be bit.

CHARACTER,
PANEGYRICK,
AND DESCRIPTION
OF THE LEGION CLUB.

AS I strol'd the City, oft I
See a Building large and lofty,
Not a Bow-shot from the College,
Half the Globe in Sense and Knowledge;
By the prudent Architect,
Plac'd against the Church direct,
Making good my Grand-dame's Jest;
Near the Church---you know the rest.
Tell us what the Pile contains?
Many a Head that holds no Brains.

These

These Demoniacks let me dub
 With the Name of Legion Club ;
 Such Assemblies, you might swear,
 Meet, when Butchers bait a Bear ;
 Such a Noise, and such haranguing,
 When a Brother Thief is hanging :
 Such a Rout and such a Rabble-
 Run to hear Jack-Pudden gabble ;
 Such a Crowd their Ordure throws
 On a far less Villain's Nose.

Could I from the Building's Top
 Hear the rattling Thunder drop,
 While the D---l upon the Roof
 (If the D---l be Thunder-proof)
 Should with Poker fiery red
 Crack the Stones, and melt the Lead ;
 Drive them down on ev'ry Scull,
 While the Den of Thieves is full ;
 Quite destroy that Harpies Nest,
 How might then our Isle be blest !
 For Divines allow that God
 Sometimes makes the D---l his Rod,
 And the Gospel will inform us
 He can punish Sins enormous.

Yet should Su--t endow the Schools
 For his Lunaticks and Fools
 With a Rood or two of Land,
 I allow the Pile may stand :
 You, perhaps, will ask me, Why so ?
 But it is with this Proviso,
 Since the House is like to last,
 Let the Royal Grant be pass'd,

That the Club have Right to dwell
 Each within his proper Cell,
 With a Passage left to creep in,
 And a Hole above for peeping.

Let them, when they once get in,
 Sell the Nation for a Pin;
 While they sit a picking Straws,
 Let them rave at making Laws;
 While they never hold their Tongue,
 Let them dabble in their Dung;
 Let them form a Grand Committee,
 How to plague and starve the City;
 Let them stare, and storm, and frown,
 When they see a Clergy Gown;
 Let them, ere they crack a Louse,
 Call for th' Orders of the House;
 Let them with their Gosling Quills,
 Scribble senseless Heads of Bills;
 We may, while they strain their Throats,
 Wipe our A--s with their Votes.

Let * Sir T--m, that rampant Ass,
 Stuff his Guts with Flax and Grass;
 But before the Priest he fleeces,
 Tear the Bible all to Pieces:
 At the Parsons, Tom, holloo, Boy,
 Worthy Offspring of a Shoe-Boy,

* Sir Thomas P----- st, a P----- C----- of Ireland, and Son to the Informer of that Name.

Footman,

Footman, Traytor, vile Seducer,
 Perjur'd Rebel, brib'd Accuser;
 Lay thy paltry Privilege aside,
 Sprung from Papists, and a Regicide;
 Fall a working like a Mole,
 Raise the Dirt about your Hole.

Come, assist me, Muse obedient,
 Let us try some new Expedient;
 Shift the Scene for half an Hour,
 Time and Place are in thy Pow'r;
 Thither, gentle Muse, conduct me,
 I shall ask, and you instruct me.

See, the Muse unbars the Gate;
 Hark, the Monkeys, how they prate!
 † All ye Gods who rule the Soul,
 Styx, thro' Hell whose Waters roll!
 Let me be allow'd to tell
 What I heard in yonder Hell.

|| Near the Door an Entrance gapes,
 Crouded round with antick Shapes,
 Poverty, and Grief, and Care,
 Causeless Joy, and true Despair,
 Discord periwig'd with Snakes,
 See the dreadful Stride she takes.

By this odious Crew beset,
 I began to rage and fret,
 * And resolv'd to break their Pates,
 Ere we enter'd at the Gates;

Sit mihi fas audita loqui. Virg. Lib. VI.

|| Vestibulum ante ipsum, &c.

Ibid.

* Et ni docta comes, &c.

Ibid.

Ibid.

Had not Clio, in the Nick,
 Whisper'd me, Lay down your Stick.
 What, said I, is this the Mad-House?
 These, she answer'd, are but Shadows,
 Phantoms bodiless and vain,
 Empty Visions of the Brain.

† In the Porch Briareus stands,
 Shews a Bribe in all his Hands;
Briareus the Secretary,
 But we Mortals call him C---y.
 When the Rogues their Country fleece,
 They may hope for Pence a-piece.

Clio, who had been so wise
 To put on a Fool's Disguise,
 To bespeak some Approbation,
 And be thought a near Relation,
 When she saw three hundred Brutes
 All invol'd in wild Disputes,
 Roaring till their Lungs were spent
 PRIVILEGE OF PARLIAMENT,
 Now a new Misfortune feels,
 Dreading to be laid by th' Heels.
 Never durst a Muse before
 Enter that infernal Door;
Clio, kiffed with the Smell,
 Into Spleen and Vapours fell,
 By the Stygian Steams that flew
 From the dire infectious Crew.
 Not the Stench of Lake Avernus
 Could have more offended her Nose;

† Et centumgeminus Briareus, &c. Virg. Lib. VI.

Had

Had she flown but o'er the Top,
 She had felt her Pinions drop,
 And by Exhalations dire,
 Tho' a Goddess, must expire ;
 In a Fright she crept away,
 Bravely I resolv'd to stay.

When I saw the Keeper frown,
 Tipping him with half a Crown,
 Now, said I, we are alone,
 Name your Heroes one by one.

Who is that Hell-featur'd Brawler,
 Is it Satan ? No 'tis W---r.
 In what Figure can a Bard dress
Jack the Grandson of Sir H---s.
 Honest Keeper, drive him further,
 In his Looks are Hell and Murther ;
 See the scowling Visage drop,
 Just as when he murder'd T---p.

Keeper, shew me where to fix
 On the Puppy Pair of Dicks ;
 By their Lanthron Jaws and Leathern,
 You might swear they both are Brethren ;
Dick-Fitz Baker, Dick the Player,
 Old Acquaintance, are you there ?
 Dear Companions, hug and kiss,
 Toast old Glorious in your Piss.
 Tie 'em, Keeper, in a Tether,
 Let 'em starve and stink together ;
 Both are apt to be unruly,
 Lash 'em daily, lash 'em duly ;
 Tho' 'tis hopeless to reclaim them,
 Scorpion Rods perhaps may tame them.

Keeper,

Keeper, yon old dotard smoke,
 Sweetly snoring in his Cloak,
 Who is he? 'Tis humdrum W---ne
 Half encompass'd by his Kin:
 'There observe the Tribe of B--b--m,
 For he never fails to bring 'em;
 While he sleeps the whole Debate,
 They submissive round him wait;
 Yet would gladly see the Hunks
 In his Grave, and search his Trunks;
 See, they gently twitch his Coat,
 Just to yawn and give his Vote,
 Always firm in his Vocation,
 For the C---, against the N---.

Those are A---s, Jack and Bob,
 First in every wicked Job,
 Son and Brother to a queer
 Brainsick Brute, they call a Peer.
 We must give them better Quarter,
 For their Ancestor trod Mortar,
 And, at H--th, to boast his Fame,
 On a Chimney cut his Name---

There sit C--nts, D--ks, and H--n,
 How they swagger from their Garrison;
 Such a Triplet could you tell
 Where to find on this Side Hell?
H---n, and D--ks, and C--nts,
 Keeper, see they have their Payments.
 Every Mischief's in their Hearts,
 If they fail, 'tis want of Parts.

Bless us, M--n! art thou there, Man?
 Bless mine Eyes! art thou the Chairman!

Chairman

Chairman to your damn'd Committee !
Yet I look on thee with Pity.
Dreadful Sight ! what, learn'd M--n !
Metamorphos'd to a Gorgon !
For thy horrid Looks, I own,
Half convert me to a Stone ;
Hast thou been so long at School
Now to turn a factious Tool ?
Alma Mater was thy Mother,
Ev'ry young Divine thy Brother ;
Thou a disobedient Varlet,
Treat thy Mother like a Harlot !
Thou, ungrateful to thy Teachers,
Who are all grown Rev'rend Preachers !
M---, would it not surprize one ?
Turn thy Nourishment to Poison !
When you walk among your Books,
They reproach you with their Looks,
Bind them fast, or from their Shelves
They will come, and right themselves :
Homer, Plutarch, Virgil, Flarcus,
All in Arms prepare to back us ;
Soon repent, or put to slaughter.
Every Greek and Roman Author.
Will you, in your Faction's Phrase,
Send the Clergy all to graze ;
And to make your Project pass,
Leave them not a Blade of Grass ?

How I want thee, hum'rous Hogarth !
Thou, I hear, a pleasant Rogue art ;
Were but you and I acquainted,
Ev'ry Monster should be painted :

You

You should try your graving Tools
 On this odious Group of Fools,
 Draw the Beasts as I describe them,
 From their Features, while I gibe them ;
 Draw them like, for I assure ye,
 You will need no Car'atura ;
 Draw them so that we may trace
 All the Soul in ev'ry Face.

Keeper, I must now retire,
 You have done what I desire :
 But I feel my Spirits spent
 With the Noise, the Sight, the Scent.
*Pray be patient, you shall find
 Half the best are still behind :
 You have hardly seen a Score,
 I can shew two hundred more.*
 Keeper, I have seen enough ;
 Taking then a Pinch of Snuff,
 I concluded, looking round 'em,
May their God, the D--l, confound 'em.

AN APOLOGY, &c.

A Lady, Wise as well as Fair,
 Whose Conscience always was her Care,
 Thoughtful upon a Point of Moment,
 Wou'd have the Text as well as Comment :
 So hearing of a grave Divine,
 She sent to bid him come and dine.
 But you must know he was not quite
 So grave, as to be unpolite ;

Thought

Thought human Learning wou'd not lessen
The Dignity of his Profession ;
And if you'd hear the Man discourse,
Or preach, you'd like him scarce the worse.
He long had bid the Court farewell,
Retreating silent to his Cell ;
Suspected for the Love he bore
To one who sway'd sometime before ;
Which made it more surprizing how
He should be sent for thither now.

The Message told, he gapes, and stares,
And scarce believes his Eyes, or Ears.
Could not conceive what it should mean,
And fain would hear it told again :
But then the 'Squire so trim and nice,
'Twere rude to make him tell it twice ;
So bow'd, was thankful for the Honour :
And wou'd not fail to wait upon her.
His Beaver brush'd, his Shoes, and Gown,
Away he trudges into Town ;
Passes the Lower Castle Yard,
And now advancing to the Guard,
He trembles at the Thoughts of State ;
For, conscious of his sheepish Gait,
His Spirits of a sudden fail'd him,
He stop'd, and could not tell what ail'd him.

What was the Message, I receiv'd ?

Why certainly the Captain rav'd !

To dine with her ! and come at Three !

Impossible ! it can't be me.

Or may be I mistook the Word ;

My Lady——It must be my Lord.

My Lord's abroad ; my Lady too :

What must th' unhappy Doctor do ?

*Is * Captain Crach' rode here, pray? --- No.*
Nay, then 'tis Time for me to go.
Am I awake, or do I dream?
I'm sure he call'd me by my Name;
Nam'd me as plain as he could speak,
And yet there must be some Mistake.
Why, what a Jest shou'd I have been,
Had now my Lady been within?
What could I've said? I'm mighty glad
She went abroad--She'd thought me mad.
The Hour of dining now is past;
Well then, I'll e'en go home and fast;
And since I 'scap'd being made a Scoff,
I think I'm very fairly off.
My Lady now returning home
*Calls, *Crach' rode, is the Doctor come?
He had not heard of him--Pray see,
'Tis now a Quarter after Three.
The Captain walks about and searches
Thro' all the Rooms, and Courts, and Arches:
Examines all the Servants round,
In vain---no Doctor's to be found.
My Lady could not chuse but wonder:
Captain, I fear you've made some Blunder:
But pray, To-morrow go at Ten,
I'll try his Manners once again;
If Rudeness be th' Effect of Knowledge,
My Son shall never see a College.
The Captain was a Man of Reading,
And much good Sense as well as Breeding,
Who, loth to blame, or to incense,
Said little in his own Defence:

 The Gentleman who brought the Message.*

Next

Next Day another Message brought ;
 The Doctor, frighten'd at his Fault,
 Is dress'd, and stealing thro' the Crowd,
 Now pale as Death, then blush'd and bow'd,
 Panting---and faultring-- Humm'd and Ha'd.
Her Ladyship was gone abroad ;
The Captain too---he did not know
Whether he ought to stay or go.
 Begg'd she'd forgive him. In Conclusion,
 My Lady, pitying his Confusion,
 Call'd her Good-nature to relieve him ;
 Told him she thought she might believe him ;
 And wou'd not only grant his Suit,
 But visit him and eat some Fruit ;
 Provided, at a proper Time,
 He told the real Truth in Rhyme.
 'Twas to no purpose to oppose,
 She'd hear of no Excuse in Prose.
 The Doctor stood not to debate,
 Glad to compound at any Rate ;
 So, bowing, seemingly comply'd ;
 Tho' if he durst he had deny'd.
 But first resolv'd, to shew his Taste
 Was too refin'd to give a Feast,
 He'd treat with nothing that was rare,
 But winding Walks and purer Air :
 Wou'd entertain without Expence,
 Or Pride, or vain Magnificence ;
 For well he knew, to such a Guest,
 The plainest Meals must be the best.
 To Stomachs clog'd with costly Fare,
 Simplicity alone is rare ;
 Whilst high, and nice, and curious Meats,
 Are really but vulgar Treats :

Instead of Spoils of Persian Looms,
 The costly Boasts of Regal Rooms,
 Thought it more courtly and discreet,
 To scatter Roses at her Feet :
 Roses of richer Dye, that shone
 With native Lustre, like her own :
 Beauty that needs no Aid of Art,
 Thro' every Sense to reach the Heart.
 The gracious Dame, tho' well she knew
 All this was much beneath her Due,
 Lik'd every Thing---at least thought fit
 To praise it, par maniere d'acquit.
 Yet she, tho' seeming pleas'd, can't bear
 The scorching Sun, or chilling Air ;
 Disturb'd alike at both Extremes,
 Whether he shews or hides his Beams :
 Tho' seeming pleas'd at all she sees,
 Starts at the Ruffling of the Trees ;
 And scarce can speak for want of Breath,
 In half a Walk fatigu'd to Death.
 The Doctor takes his Hint from hence,
 T'apologise his late Offence :
 ' Madam, the mighty Pow'r of Use
 ' Now strangely pleads in my Excuse.
 ' If you unus'd, have scarcely Strength
 ' To gain this Walk's untoward Length,
 ' If frighten'd at a Scene so rude,
 ' Thro' long Disuse of Solitude ;
 ' If long confin'd to Fires and Screens,
 ' You dread the waving of these Greens ;
 ' I you, who long have breath'd the Fumes
 ' Of City Fogs and crowded Rooms,
 ' Do now solicitously shun
 ' The cooler Air, and dazzling Sun ;

- ‘ If his Majestick Eye you see,
‘ Learn hence t’excuse and pity me.
‘ Consider what it is to bear
‘ The powder’d Courtier’s witty Sneer ;
‘ To see th’ important Man of Dress
‘ Scoffing my College Aukwardness,
‘ To be the strutting Cornet’s Sport ;
‘ To run the Gauntlet of the Court,
‘ Winning my Way by slow Approaches,
‘ Through Crowds of Coxcombs and of ‘ Coaches,
‘ From the first fierce cockaded Centry,
‘ Quite thro’ the Tribe of waiting Gentry ;
‘ To pass so many crowded Stages,
‘ And stand the Staring of your Pages ;
‘ And after all, to crown my Spleen
‘ Be told, -- You are not to be seen.
‘ Or, if you are, be forc’d to bear
‘ The Awe of your Majestick Air.
‘ And can I then be faulty found,
‘ In dreading this vexatious Round ?
‘ Can it be strange, if I eschew
‘ A Scene so glorious and so new ;
‘ Or is he criminal that flies
‘ The living Lustre of your Eyes ?

Clouds weep as they do, without Pain,
And what are Tears but Womens Rain?

The Clouds about the Welkin roam,
And Ladies never stay at home.

The Clouds build Castles in the Air,
A thing peculiar to the Fair;
For all the Schemes of their Fore-casting,
Are not more solid, nor more lasting.

A Cloud is light by Turns, and dark,
Such is a Lady with her Spark;

Now,
with unexampled Patience he bore her pestilential Tongue. I shall beg the Ladies Pardon, if I insert a few Passages concerning her, and at the same Time I assure them, it is not to lessen those of the present Age, who are possess'd of the like laudable Talents: For, I will confess, that I know three in the City of Dublin, no Way inferior to Xantippe, but that they have not as great Men to work upon.

When a Friend asked Socrates, how he could bear the Scolding of his Wife Xantippe, he retorted, and asked him, how he could bear the Gaggling of his Geese. 'Ay, but my Geese lay Eggs for me, reply'd his Friend. So doth my Wife bear Children, said Socrates. Diog. Laert.

Being asked another Time by a Friend, how he could bear her Tongue, he said, she was of this Use to him, that she taught him to bear the Impertinences of others with more Ease, when he went abroad. Plut. De capiend. ex host. utilit.

Socrates invited his Friend Euthydemus to Supper, Xantippe, in great Rage, went in to them, and overset the Table. Euthydemus rising

How do these differ from our Graces,
 In Garden-Silks, Brocades, and Laces?
 Are they not such another Sight,
 When met upon a Birth-Day Night?
 The Clouds delight to change their Fashion;
 Dear Ladies be not in a Passion,
 Nor let this Whim to you seem strange,
 Who ev'ry Hour delight in Change.

In them and you alike are seen
 The sullen Symptoms of the Spleen,
 The Moment that your Vapours rise,
 We see them dropping from your Eyes.

In Ev'ning fair you may behold
 The Clouds are fring'd with borrow'd Gold,
 And this is many a Lady's Case,
 Who flaunts about in † borrow'd Lace.

Grave Matrons are like Clouds of Snow,
 Their Words fall thick, and soft, and slow;
 While brisk Coquets, like rattling Hail,
 Our Ears on ev'ry Side assail.

Clouds, when they intercept our Sight,
 Deprive us of Celestial Light:
 So when my Chloe I pursue,
 No Heav'n besides I have in View.

Thus, on Comparison you see,
 In ev'ry Instance they agree,
 So like, so very much the same,
 That one may go by t'other's Name.

Let

† Not Flanders Lace, but Gold and Silver
 Lace. By borrowed, is meant such as run in honest Tradesmen's Debts for what they were not able to pay, as many of them did for French Silver Lace, against the last Birth-Day. Vid. the Shopkeepers Books.

Let me proclaim it then aloud,
That ev'ry Woman is a Cloud.

The ANSWER.

PResumptuous Bard! How could you dare
A Woman with a Cloud compare?
Strange Pride and Insolence you show,
Inferior Mortals there below.

And is our Thunder in your Ears
So frequent or so loud as theirs?
Alas! our Thunder soon goes out;
And only makes you more devout.
Then is not Female Clatter worse,
That drives you not to pray, but curse?

We hardly thunder thrice a Year;
'The Bolt discharg'd, the Sky grows clear:
But ev'ry sublunary Dowdy,
The more she scolds, the more she's Cloudy.

Some Critic may object, perhaps,
That Clouds are blam'd for giving Claps;
But what, alas! are Claps Ætherial,
Compar'd, for Mischief, to Venereal?
Can Clouds give Bubo's, Ulcers, Blotches,
Or from your Noses dig out Notches?
We leave the Body sweet and sound;
We kill, 'tis true, but never wound.

You know a Cloudy Sky bespeaks
Fair Weather when the Morning breaks;
But Women in a Cloudy Plight,
Foretel a Storm to last till Night.

A Cloud in proper Seasons pours,
His Blessings down in fruitful Show'rs;

But

But Woman was by Fate design'd
 To pour down Curſes on Mankind,
 When * Syrius o'er the Welkin rages,
 Our kindly Help his Fire aſſwages;
 But Woman is a curſt Inflamer,
 No Pariſh Ducking-Stool can tame her:
 To kindle Strife Dame Nature taught her;
 Like Fire-works ſhe can burn in Water.

For Fickleneſs how durſt you blame us?
 Who for our Conſtancy are famous.
 You'll ſee a Cloud, in gentle Weather,
 Keep the ſame Face an Hour together;
 While Women, if it could be reckon'd,
 Change ev'ry Feature ev'ry Second.

Obſerve our Figure in a Morning,
 Of Foul or Fair we give you Warning;
 But can you gueſs, from Woman's Air,
 One Minute whether foul or fair?

Go read in ancient Books enroll'd,
 What Honours we poſſeſs'd of old.

To diſappoint Ixion's Rape.
JOVE dreſt a Cloud in Juno's Shape;
 Which, when he had enjoy'd, he ſwore,
 No Goddeſs could have pleas'd him more;
 No Diſſerence could he find between
 His Cloud and JOVE's Imperial Queen:
 His Cloud produc'd a Race of Centaurſ,
 Fam'd for a thouſand bold Adventures;
 From us deſcended ab origine,
 By learned Authors call'd Nubigenæ.
 But ſay, what Earthly Nymph do you know,
 So beautiful to paſs for Juno?

* The Dog-Star.

Before

Before Aeneas durst aspire
 To court her Majesty of Tyre,
 His Mother begg'd of us to dress him,
 That Dido might the more caress him :
 A Coat we gave him dy'd in Grain
 A Flaxen Wig and Clouded Cane.
 (The Wig was powder'd round with Sleet,
 Which fell in Clouds beneath his Feet)
 With which he made a taring Show ;
 And Dido quickly smoak'd the Beau.

Among your Females make Inquiries,
 What Nymph on Earth so fair as Iris?
 With heav'nly Beauty so endow'd?
 And yet her Father is a Cloud.
 We dress'd her in a Gold Brocade,
 Befitting Juno's fav'rite Maid.

'Tis known, that Socrates the wise
 Ador'd us Clouds as Deities ;
 To us he made his daily Pray'rs,
 As Aristophanes declares.
 From Jupiter took all Dominion ;
 And dy'd defending his Opinion.
 By his Authority, 'tis plain,
 You worship other Gods in vain.
 And from your own Experience know,
 We govern all Things there below.
 You follow where we please to guide,
 O'er all your Passions we preside :
 Can raise them up, or sink them down,
 As we think fit to smile or frown :
 And, just as we dispose your Brain,
 Are witty, dull, rejoice, complain.

Compare us then to Female Race !
 We, to whom all the Gods give Place :

Who

Who better challenge your Allegiance,
 Because we dwell in higher Regions :
 You find the Gods in Homer dwell
 In Seas and Streams, or low as Hell :
 Ev'n Jove, and Mercury, his Pimp,
 No higher climb than Mount Olymp,
 (Who makes you think the Clouds he pierces :
 He pierce the Clouds ! He kifs their A---es)
 While we, o'er Teneriffa plac'd,
 Are loftier by a Mile at least :
 And when Apollo struts on Pindus,
 We see him from our Kitchen Windows ;
 Or to Parnassus looking down,
 Can p---fs upon his Laurel Crown.

Fate never form'd the Gods to fly ;
 In Vehicles they mount the Sky :
 When JOVE would some fair Nymph inveigle,
 He comes full Gallop on his Eagle.
 Though Venus be as light as Air,
 She must have Doves to draw her Chair.
Apollo stirs not out of Door
 Without his lacker'd Coach and Four :
 And jealous Juno, ever snarling,
 Is drawn by Peacocks in her Berlin :
 But we can fly where'er we please,
 O'er Cities, Rivers, Hills, and Seas :
 From East to West the World we roam,
 And in all Climates are at Home ;
 With Care provide you as we go,
 With Sun-shine, Rain, and Hail, or Snow.
 You, when it rains, like Fools believe,
JOVE pisses on you through a Sieve :

An idle Tale, 'tis no such Matter ;
 We only dip a Sponge in Water ;
 Then squeeze it close between our Thumbs,
 And shake it well, and down it comes :
 As you shall to your Sorrow know ;
 We'll watch your Steps where'er you go :
 And, and since we find you walk a-foot,
 We'll soun'ly souce your Frize Surtout.

'Tis but by our peculiar Grace,
 That Phæbus ever shews his Face :
 For, when we please, we open wide
 Our Curtains blue from Side to Side :
 And then how faucily she shews
 His brazen Face, and fiery Nose ;
 And gives himself a haughty Air,
 As if he made the Weather fair ?

'Tis sung, wherever Cælia treads,
 The V'lets ope their purple Heads ;
 The Roses blow, the Cowslip springs ;
 'Tis sung, but we know better Things.
 'Tis true, a Woman on her Mettle,
 Will often piss upon a Nettle ;
 But, though we own she makes it wetter,
 The Nettle never thrives the better ;
 While we, by soft prolifick Show'rs,
 Can ev'ry Spring produce you Flow'rs.

Your Poets, Chloe's Beauty height'ning,
 Compare her radiant Eyes to Lightning :
 And yet, I hope, 'twill be allow'd,
 That Lightning comes but from a Cloud.

But Gods, like us, have too much Sense
 At Poets Flights to take Offence:

Nor can Hyperboles demean us ;
 Each Drab has been compar'd to Venus.
 We own your Verses are melodious ;
 But such Comparisons are odious.

TIM and the FABLES.

From the Tenth Intelligencer.

M*Y* Meaning will be best unravell'd,
 When I premise that Tim has travell'd.
 In Lucas's by Chance there lay
 The Fables writ by Mr. Gay.
Tim set the Volume on a Table,
 Read over here and there a Fable ;
 And found, as he the Pages twirl'd,
 The Monkey who had seen the World ;
 (For Tonson had, to help the Sale,
 Prefixt a Cut to ev'ry Table.)
 The Monkey was completely drest,
 The Beau in all his Airs exprest.
Tim, with Surprise and Pleasure staring,
 Ran to the Glass, and then comparing
 His own sweet Figure with the Print,
 Distinguish'd ev'ry Feature in't,
 The Twist, the Squeeze, the Rump, the Fidge and all,
 Just as they lookt in the Original.
 By ——— says Tim, (and let a F---t)
 This Graver understood his Art.

'Tis a True Copy, I'll say that for't,
 I well remember when I sat for't.
 My very Face, as first I knew it,
 Just in this Dress the Painter drew it.
 Tim, with his Likeness deeply smitten,
 Wou'd read what underneath was written,
 The merry Tale with Moral grave.
 He now began to storm and rave;
 " The curst Villain! Now I see
 " This was a Libel meant at me;
 " Those Scriblers grow so bold of late
 " Against us Ministers of State!
 " Such Jacobites as he deserve ----
 " Damme, I say they ought to starve.

*Dear Tim, no more such angry Speeches,
 Unbutton, and let down your Breeches,
 Tear out the Tale and wipe your A——
 I know you love to act a Farce*.*

* *Of the Xth. [Intellig.] I writ only the Verses, and of those, not the four last stowenty
 Lines. Letters to and from Dr. Swift, LXI.*

On reading Dr. YOUNG's Satires called the Universal Passion, by which he means Pride.

Written in the Year 1726.

IF there be Truth in what you sing,
Such God-like Virtues in the King ;
A Minister † so fill'd with Zeal
And Wisdom for the Common-Weal :
If he § who in the Chair presides,
So steadily the Senate guides :
If others, whom you make your Theme,
Are Seconds in the glorious Scheme :
If ev'ry Peer whom you commend,
To Worth and Learning be a Friend :
If this be Truth as you attest,
What Land was ever half so blest !
No Falsehood now among the Great,
And Tradesmen now no longer cheat ;
Now on the Bench fair Justice shines ;
Her Scale to neither Side inclines :
Now Pride and Cruelty are flown,
And Mercy here exalts her Throne :
For such is good Example's Power,
It does its Office ev'ry Hour ;

Where

† Sir R. Walpole, late Earl of Orford.

§ Compton, the Speaker at that Time.

Where Governors are good and wise,
 Or else the truest Maxim lyes :
 For so we find, all ancient Sages
 Decree, that, ad exemplum Regis,
 Through all the Realm his Virtues run,
 Rip'ning and kindling like the Sun :
 If this be true, then how much more,
 When you have nam'd at least a Score
 Of Courtiers, each in their Degree,
 If possible, as good as He.

Or take it in a diff'rent View,
 I ask, if what you say be true ;
 If you affirm the present Age
 Deserves your Satire's keenest Rage :
 If that same Universal Passion
 With ev'ry Vice hath fill'd the Nation :
 If Virtue dares not venture down
 A single Step beneath the Crown :
 If Clergymen, to shew their Wit,
 Praise Clossics, more than Holy Writ :
 If Bankrupts, when they are undone,
 Into the S--- H--- can run ;
 And sell their Votes at such a Rate,
 As will retrieve a lost Estate :
 If Law be such a partial Whore,
 To spare the Rich, and plague the Poor :
 If these be of all Crimes the worst,
 What Land was ever half so curst !

ON POETRY:
A
RHAPSODY.

ALL human Race would fain be Wits,
And Millions miss, for one that hits.
Young's universal Passion, Pride,
Was never known to spread so wide.
Say, Britain, could you ever boast
Three Poets in an Age at most?
Our chilling Climate hardly bears
A Sprig of Bays in fifty Years:
While ev'ry Fool his Claim alledges,
As if it grew in common Hedges.
What Reason can there be assign'd
For this Perverseness in the Mind?
Brutes find out where their Talents lie:
A Bear will not attempt to fly;

A

A founder'd Horse will oft debate
Before he tries a five-barr'd Gate :
A Dog by Instinct turns aside,
Who sees the Ditch too deep and wide.
But Man we find the only Creature
Who, led by Folly, combats Nature,
Who, when she loudly cries, Forbear,
With Obstinacy fixes there ;
And where his Genius least inclines,
Absurdly bends his whole Designs.

Not Empire to the Rising Sun,
By Valour, Conduct, Fortune won ;
Not highest Wisdom in Debates,
For framing Laws to govern States ;
Not Skill in Sciences profound,
So large to grasp the Circle round ;
Such heav'nly Influence require,
As how to strike the Muse's Lyre.

Not Beggar's Brat, on Bulk beget ;
Not Bastard of a Pedlar Scot ;
Not Boy brought up to cleaning Shoes,
The Spawn of Bridewell, or the Stews ;
Not Infants dropt, the spurious Pledges
Of Gipsies litt'ring under Hedges,
Are so disqualify'd by Fate
To rise in Church, or Law, or State,
As he, whom Phœbus in his Ire
Hath blasted with poetick Fire.

What

What Hope of Custom in the Fair,
 While not a Soul demands your Ware?
 Where you have nothing to produce
 For private Life, or publick Use?
Court, City, Country want you not;
 You cannot bribe, betray, or plot.
 For Poets Law makes no Provision;
 The Wealthy have you in Derision;
 Of State Affairs you cannot smatter;
 Are aukward when you try to flatter:
 Your Portion, taking Britain round,
 * Was just one annual Hundred Pound;
 Now not so much as in Remainder
 Since Cibber brought in an Attainder;
 For ever fixt, by Right Divine,
 (A Monarch's Right) on Grubstreet Line.

Poor starv'ling Bard, how small thy Gains!
 How unproportion'd to thy Pains!
 And here a Simile comes pat in:
 Tho' Chickens take a Month to fatten,
 The Guest in less than half an Hour
 Will more than half a Score devour.
 So after toiling twenty Days,
 To earn a Stock of Pence and Praise,
 Thy Labours, grown the Critick's Prey,
 Are swallow'd o'er a Dish of Tea;
 Gone, to be never heard of more,
 Gone, where the Chickens went before.

* Paid to the Poet Laureat, which Place was given to one Cibber, a Player.

How

How shall a new Attempter learn
 Of diff'rent Spirits to discern,
 And how distinguish, which is which,
 The Poet's Vein, or scribbling Itch ?
 Then hear an old experienc'd Sinner,
 Instructing thus a young Beginner.

Consult yourself, and if you find
 A pow'rful Impulse urge your Mind,
 Impartial judge within your Breast
 What Subject you can manage best ;
 Whether your Genius most inclines
 To Satire, Praise, or hum'rous Lines;
 To Elegies in mournful Tone,
 Or Prologue sent from Hand unknown :
 Then rising with Aurora's Light,
 The Muse invok'd, sit down to write ;
 Blot out, correct, insert, refine,
 Enlarge, diminish, interline ;
 Be mindful, when Invention fails,
 To scratch your Head, and bite your Nails.

Your Poem finish'd, next your Care
 Is needful to transcribe it fair.
 In modern Wit all printed Trash is Set off with num'rous Breaks---and Dashes----

To Statesmen would you give a Wipe,
 You print it in Italick Type.
 When Letters are in vulgar Shapes,
 'Tis ten to one the Wit escapes ;

But

But when in Capitals exprest,
The dullest Reader sinoaks the Jest:
Or else perhaps he may invent
A better than the Poet meant;
As learned Commentators view
In Homer more than Homer knew.

Your Poem in its modish Dress,
Correctly fitted for the Press,
Convey by Penny-post to Lintot,
But let no Friend alive look into't.
If Lintot thinks 'twill quit the Cost,
You need not fear your Labour lost;
And how agreeably surpriz'd
Are you to see it advertis'd!
The Hawker shews you one in Print,
As fresh as Farthings from the Mint:
The Product of your Toil and Sweating;
A Bastard of your own begetting.

Be sure at Will's the following Day,
Lie snug, and hear what Criticks say.
And if you find the gen'ral Vogue
Pronounces you a stupid Rogue,
Damns all your Thoughts as low and little,
Sit still and swallow down your Spittle.
Be silent as a Politician,
For talking may beget Suspicion:
Or praise the Jugment of the Town,
And help yourself to run it down.
Give up your fond paternal Pride,
Nor argue on the weaker Side;

For

For Poems read without a Name
 We justly praise, or justly blame ;
 And Criticks have no partial Views,
 Except they know whom they abuse :
 And since you ne'er provoke their Spight,
 Depend upon't their Judgment's right.
 But if you blab, you are undone ;
 Consider what a Risk you run :
 You lose your Credit all at once ;
 The Town will mark you for a Dunce :
 The vilest Doggrel Grubstreet sends
 Will pass for yours with Foes and Friends.
 And you must bear the whole Disgrace,
 'Till some fresh Blockheads take your Place.

Your Secret kept, your Poem sunk,
 And sent in Quires to line a Trunk ;
 If still you be dispos'd to rhyme,
 Go try your Hand a second Time.
 Again you fail, yet Safe's the Word,
 Take Courage, and attempt a Third.
 But first with Care employ your Thoughts,
 Where Criticks mark'd your former Faults ;
 The trivial Turns, the borrow'd Wit,
 The Similies that nothing fit ;
 The Cant which ev'ry Fool repeats,
 Town-Jests, and Coffee-house Conceits ;
 Descriptions tedious, flat and dry,
 And introduc'd the Lord knows why ;
 Or where we find your Fury set
 Against the harmless Alphabet ;

On A's and B's your Malice vent,
While Readers wonder whom you meant;
A publick or a private Robber,
A Statesman, or a South-Sea Jobber,
A Prelate who no God believes,
A -----, a Den of Thieves,
A Pick-purse at the Bar, or Bench,
A Duchess, or a Suburb Wench.
Or oft when Epithets you link,
In gaping Lines to fill a Chink;
Like Stepping-Stones to save a Stride,
In Streets where Kennels are too wide;
Or like a Heel-piece, to support
A Cripple with one Foot too short;
Or like a Bridge that joins a Marish
To Moorlands of a different Parish.
So have I seen ill-coupled Hounds
Drag different Ways, in miry Grounds,
So Geographers in Afric Maps
With Savage Pictures fill their Gaps,
And o'er unhabitable Downs
Place Elephants, for want of Towns.

But tho' you miss your third Essay,
You need not throw your Pen away.
Lay now aside all Thoughts of Fame,
To spring more profitable Game.
From Party Merit seek Support;
'The vilest Verse thrives best at Court.
A Pamphlet in Sir Bob's Defence
Will never fail to bring in Pence;

Nor be concern'd about the Sale,
He pays his Workmen on the Nail.

A Prince the Moment he is crown'd,
Inherits ev'ry Virtue round,
As Emblems of the sov'reign Pow'r;
Like other Bawbles of the Tow'r:
Is gen'rous, valiant, just and wise,
And so continues till he dies:
His humble Senate this professes,
In all their Speeches, Votes, Addresses:
But once you fix him in a Tomb,
His Virtues fade, his Vices bloom;
And each Perfection, wrong imputed,
Is fully at his Death confuted.
The Loads of Poems in his Praise
Ascending make one Funeral-Blaze:
As soon as you can hear his Kneel,
This God on Earth turns D---l in Hell:
And, lo! his Ministers of State,
Transform'd to Imps, his Levee wait;
Where, in this Scene of endless Woe,
They ply their former Arts below;
And as they sail in Charon's Boat,
Contrive to bribe the Judge's Vote;
To Cerberus they give a Sop,
His tripple-barking Mouth to stop,
Or in the Iv'ry Gate † of Dreams
Project E---e and S---f--- Schemes,

Alterâ candenti perfecta nitens elephanta.

Or

Or hire their Party-Pamphleteers
To fet Elysium by the Ears.

Then, Poet, if you mean to thrive,
Employ your Muse on Kings alive ;
With Prudence gathering up a Cluster
Of all the Virtues you can muster ;
Which, form'd into a Garland sweet,
Lay humbly at your Monarch's Feet :
Who, as the Odours reach his Throne,
Will smile, and think 'em all his own :
For Law and Gospel both determine
All Virtues lodge in royal Ermine.
(I mean the Oracles of both,
Who shall depose it upon Oath)
Your Garland in the following Reign,
Change but the Names, will do again.

But if you think this Trade too base,
(Which seldom is the Dunces Case)
Put on the Critick's Brow, and sit
At Will's, the puny Judge of Wit.
A Nod, a Shrug, a scornful Smile,
With Caution us'd, may serve a while.
Proceed no further in your Part,
Before you learn the Terms of Art :
(For you can never be too far gone
In all our modern Criticks Jargon :)
Then talk with more authentick Face,
Of Unities, in Time and Place.
Get Scraps of Horace from your Friends,
And have them at your Fingers Ends.

Learn Aristotle's Rules by Rote,
 And at all Hazards boldly quote.
 Judicious Rymer oft review;
 Wise Dennis, and profound Bossu.
 Read all the Prefaces of Dryden,
 For these our Criticks much confide in,
 (Tho' meerly writ at first for filling;
 To raise the Volume's Price a Shilling.)

A forward Critick often dupes us
 With sham Quotations † Peri Hupsous:
 And if we have not read Longinus
 Will magisterially out-shine us.
 Then, lest with Greek he over-run ye,
 Procure the Book for Love or Money,
 Translated from Boileau's Translation ||,
 And quote Quotation on Quotation.

At Will's you hear a Poem read,
 Where Battus from the Table-head,
 Reclining on his Elbow-chair,
 Gives Judgment with decisive Air.
 To whom the Tribe of circling Wits,
 As to an Oracle submits.
 He gives Directions to the Town
 To cry it up, or run it down.
 (Like Courtiers, when they send a Note, Instructing Members how to vote.)

† A famous Treatise of Longinus.
 || By Mr. Welfled.

He sets the Stamp of Bad and Good,
Tho' not a Word be understood.
Your Lesson learnt, you'll be secure
To get the Name of Connoisseur.
And when your Merits once are known,
Procure Disciples of your own.

For Poets (you can never want 'em,
Spread thro' || Augusta Trinobantum)
Computing by their Pecks of Coals,
Amount to just nine thousand Souls.
These o'er their proper Districts govern,
Of Wit and Humour, Judges sov'reign.
In ev'ry Street a City Bard
Rules, like an Alderman, his Ward;
His indisputed Rights extend
Through all the Lane, from End to End;
The Neighbours round admire his Shrewdness,
For Songs of Loyalty and Lewdness;
Out-done by none in Rhyming well,
Altho' he never learnt to spell.

Two bordering Wits contend for Glory,
And one is Whig, and one is Tory.
And this for Epics claims the Bays,
And that for Elegiac Leys.
Some fam'd for Numbers soft and smooth,
By Lovers spoke in Punch's Booth,
And some as justly Fame extols,
For lofty Lines in Smithfield Drolls.

Bavius in Wapping gains Renown,
 And Mævius reigns o'er Kentish-Town.
Tigellius plac'd in Phæbus' Car
 From Ludgate shines to Temple-Bar.
Harmonious Cibber entertains
 The Court with annual Birth-day Strains,
 Whence Gay was banish'd in Disgrace,
 Where Pope will never show his Face;
 Where Y---g must torture his Invention,
 To flatter Knaves, or lose his Pension.

But these are not a thousandth Part
 Of Jobbers in the Poet's Art,
 Attending each his proper Station,
 And all in due Subordination;
 Thro' every Alley to be found,
 In Garrets high, or under Ground:
 And when they join their Pericranies,
 Out skips a Book of Miscellanies.
Hobbes clearly proves that ev'ry Creature
 Lives in a State of War by Nature.
 The Greater for the Smallest watch,
 But meddle seldom with their Match.
 A Whale of moderate Size will draw
 A Shoal of Herrings down his Maw.
 A Fox with Geese his Belly crams,
 A Wolf destroys a thousand Lambs.
 But search among the rhyming Race,
 The Brave are worried by the Base.
 If, on Parnassus' Top you sit,
 You rarely bite, are always bit.

Each

Each Poet of inferior Size
On you shall rail and criticise ;
And strive to tear you Limb from Limb,
While others do as much for him.

The Vermin only tease and pinch
Their Foes superior by an Inch.
So, Nat'ralists observe, a Flea
Hath smaller Fleas that on him prey,
And these have smaller still to bite 'em,
And so proceed ad infinitum.
Thus every Poet in his Kind,
Is bit by him that comes behind :
Who, tho' too little to be seen,
Can tease, and gall, and give the Spleen ;
Call Dunces, Fools, and Sons of Whores,
Lay Grubstreet at each others Doors ;
Extol the Greek and Roman Masters,
And curse our modern Poetasters.
Complain, as many an ancient Bard did,
How Genius is no more rewarded ;
How wrong a Taste prevails among us ;
How much our Ancestors out-sung us ;
Can personate an awkward Scorn,
For those who are not Poets born ;
And all their Brother Dunces lash,
Who croud the Press with hourly Trash.

O Grubstreet ! how do I bemoan thee,
Whose graceless Children scorn to own thee !
Their filial Piety forgot,
Deny their Country like a Scot :

Tho

Tho' by their Idiom and Grimace
 They soon betray their native Place :
 Yet thou hast greater Cause to be
 Asham'd of them, than they of thee,
 Degenerate from their ancient Brood,
 Since first the Court allow'd them Food.

Remains a Difficulty still,
 To purchase Fame by writing ill,
 From Flecknoe down to Howard's Time,
 How few have reach'd the low Sublime ?
 For when our high-born Howard died,
Blackmore alone his Place supplied :
 And, lest a Chasm should intervene,
 When Death had finish'd Blackmore's Reign,
 The leaden Crown devolv'd to thee,
 Great † Poet of the Hollow-Tree.
 But, ah ! how unsecure thy Throne !
 A thousand Bards thy Right disown :
 They plot to turn, in factious Zeal,
Duncenia to a Common-weal ;
 And with rebellious Arms pretend
 An equal Priv'lege to descend.

In Bulk there are not more Degrees,
 From Elephants to Mites in Cheese,
 Than what a curious Eye may trace
 In Creatures of the rhyming Race.

From

† Lord Grimston.

From bad to worse, and worse they fall,
But, who can reach the worst of all ?
For tho' in Nature Depth and Height
Are equally held infinite,
In Poetry the Height we know ;
'Tis only infinite below.
For Instance : When you rashly think,
No Rhymers can like Welfed * sink,
His Merits ballanc'd, you shall find,
The Laureat † leaves him far behind.
Concannon, more aspiring Bard,
Soars downwards deeper by a Yard.
Smart Jemmy Moor with Vigour drops,
The rest pursue as thick as Hops.
With Heads to Points the Gulph they enter,
Link'd perpendicular to the Center ;
And as their Heels elated rise,
Their Heads attempt the nether Skies.

Oh, what Indignity and Shame,
To prostitute the Muse's Name !

By

* Vide The Treatise on the Profound, and Mr. Pope's Dunciad.

† In some Editions, instead of the Laureat, was maliciously inserted Mr. Fielding ; for whose ingenious Writings the supposed Author hath manifested a great Esteem.

By flatt'ring-----whom Heav'n design'd
 The Plagues and Scourges of Mankind;
 Bred up in Ignorance and Sloth,
 And ev'ry Vice that nurses both.

Fair Britain in thy Monarch blest,
 Whose *Vi*tues bear the strictest Test;
 Whom never Faction cou'd bespatter,
 Nor Minister, nor Poet flatter.
 What Justice in rewarding Merit?
 What Magnanimity of Spirit?
 What Lineaments divine we trace
 Thro' all his Figure, Mien, and Face?
 Tho' Peace with Olive bind his Hands,
 Confest the conqu'ring Hero stands.
 * Hydaspes, Indus, and the Ganges,
 Dread from his Hand impending Changes.
 From him the Tartar. and Chinese,
 † Short by the Knees intreat for Peace.
 The Consort of his Throne and Bed
 A perfect Goddess born and bred.
 Appointed sovereign Judge to sit
 On Learning, Eloquence, and Wit.
 Our eldest Hope, divine Iulus,
 (Late, very late, O, may he rule us!)

What

- * ----Super & Garamantas & Indos
Proferet imperium, &c.
- Jam nunc* & Caspia regna
Responsis horrent Divum, &c.
- † ----Genibus minor, &c.

What early Manhood has he shown,
Before his downy Beard was grown !
Then think, what Wonders will be done
By going on as he begun ;
An Heir for Britain to secure
As long as Sun and Moon endure.

The Remnant of the Royal Blood,
Comes pouring on me like a Flood.
Bright Goddesses, in Number five ;
Duke William, sweetest Prince alive.

Now sing the Minister of State,
Who shines alone without a Mate.
Observe with what Majestick Port
This Atlas stands to prop the Court :
Intent the Publick Debts to pay
Like prudent † Fabius by Delay.
Thou great Vicegerent of the King,
Thy Praises ev'ry Muse shall sing.
In all Affairs thou sole Director,
Of Wit and Learning chief Protector ;
Tho' small the Time thou hast to spare,
The Church is thy peculiar Care.
Of pious Prelates what a Stock ?
You chuse to rule the Sable Flock.
You raise the Honour of the Peerage
Proud to attend you at the Steerage.
You dignify the noble Race,
Content yourself with humbler Place.

Now

† Unus Homo nobis Cunctando restituit rem.

Now Learning, Valour, Virtue, Sense,
 To Titles give the sole Pretence.
 St. George beheld thee with Delight,
 Vouchsafe to be an azure Knight,
 When on thy Breast and Sides Herculean
 He fixt the Star and String Cerulean.

Say, Poet, in what other Nation
 Shone ever such a Constellation.
 Attend ye Popes, and Youngs, and Gays.
 And tune your Harps, and strow your Bays :
 Your Panegyricks here provide :
 You cannot err on Flatt'ry's Side.
 Above the Stars exalt your Style,
 You still are low ten thousand Mile.
 On Lewis all his Bards bestow'd
 Of Incense many a thousand Load ;
 But Europe mortified his Pride,
 And swore the fawning Rascals ly'd.
 Yet what the World refus'd to Lewis
 Applied to — exactly true is.
 Exactly true ! Invidious Poet !
 'Tis fifty thousand Times below it.

Translate me now some Lines, if you can,
 From Virgil, Martial, Ovid, Lucan.
 They could all Pow'r in Heav'n divide,
 And do no Wrong to either Side :
 They teach you how to split a Hair,
 † Give — and Jove an equal Share.

Yet,

† Divisum imperium cum Jove Cæsar habet.

Yet, why should we be lac'd so straight?
I'll give my—— Butter-weight.
And Reason good ; for many a Year
Jove never intermeddled here :
Nor tho' his Priests be duly paid,
Did ever we desire his Aid :
We now can better do without him,
Since Woolston gave us Arms to rout him.
* Cætera desiderantur. ****
